Kennedy Is Assailed For Tractor Support

WASHINGTON (AP) —Republican congressional leaders today called President Kennedy's support of the tractors-for-prisoners exchange "another blow to our fast-diminishing world leadership."

"The disastrous handling of the Cuban invasion has caused America to suffer an enormous loss in prestige abroad," the GOP leaders said in a statement.

Dirksen Gives Views

"But now President Kennedy has compounded that loss by disclosing his official sponsorship of a so-called citizens movement for the American people to make blackmail payments to Fidel Castro."

The statement, approved by a conference of Republican Senate and House leaders, was read to newsmen by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate GOP leader.

While a number of Republicans, notably Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, have kept up a constant attack on Kennedy's support for raising funds to buy 500 tractors to ransom upwards of 1,200 Castro-held invasion prisoners, today's action was the first official party attack on it.

Resolutions were introduced in both the House and Senate Thursday aimed at putting Congress on record against ransom for more than 1,200 rebels captured in the U.S.-supported invasion.

Fund Started by Three

In Detroit, the Tractors - for-Freedom Fund said it had received 200 to 250 letters this week at its United Auto Workers Union headquarters.

Brendan Sexton, UAW fund coordinator, said the letters included "a number of inquiries from fairly significant people and organizations in other cities to conduct fund-raising drives there."

The fund was organized by Eleanor Roosevelt, UAW President Walter P. Reuther and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In Miami, Fla., the 10 Cuban prisoners sent here to negotiate the deal were preparing to return to Cuba on Saturday. They had been given a 10-day parole by Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro to make the arrangements.

Hagerty Hits Plan

More opposition to the tractor exchange came Thursday from Gen. Eisenhower's former news secretary, James C. Hagerty.

In New Haven, Conn., Hagerty said, "I think we are setting by this a very dangerous precedent. I think we are going back to the Dark Ages when people were held for ransom, which this is.

"And I'm afraid it might be open season on free people around the world," if the program continues, Hagerty said.

Capehart introduced two resolutions against the tractor exchange in the Senate Thursday and Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., offered one in the House.

If passed, none of the resolutions would be binding on the Kennedy administration.

President Kennedy, who helped organize the fund drive, has said he feels contributions should be deductible from income taxes.

7,000 Will Take Exam on Saturday For Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 7,000 candidates will puzzle over a 5½-hour written examination Saturday for the privilege of working long hours at low pay among living conditions often far below U.S. standards.

These are the candidates for volunteer service overseas with America's Peace Corps. They will start taking the examination at 8:30 a.m., local time, in 340 centers across the nation.

Some Sample Questions

Although copies of the examination to be given are secret, the Peace Corps officials have made available sample questions. These afford other Americans an opportunity to match wits with Peace Corps candidates, if they desire.

The test is the initial step in screening out the human talent and skills which the United States will lend underdeveloped countries under a special program set up March 1 by President Kennedy.

The examination is basically of the multiple-choice variety. Seven sections are designed to determine the candidate's knowledge or aptitude in English, foreign language, U.S. history and institutions, farming, health sciences and mechanical skills.

Two other sections seek personal information on the candidate—family and education background, hobbies, and leadership experience, such as school team captain, army platoon sergeant, club presidencies, etc.

Copies Closely Guarded

Examination copies have been closely guarded but Dr. Nicholas Hobbs, director of personnel selection for the Peace Corps, said these are typical questions:

"A related pair of words or phrases is followed by five let-

Little Rock Is To Desegregate 5 Schools Next Fall

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock School Board, acting under the shadow of a federal court order to expand school integration, will desegregate four junior high schools and the city's last all-white high school next fall.

The board Thursday night assigned 25 Negroes to four of the city's five all-white junior high schools. At the same time, it upped from 11 to 24 the number of Negro students in once-white high schools and desegregated all-white Technical High School.

Action on the assignments under state pupil placement procedures was swift and appeared routine. There was no discussion, but board member J. H. Cottrell Jr. voted against the motion to approve assignments at all school levels.

Board action came only four days before a U.S. District Court hearing under a ruling by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals which suggested that Little Rock expand its desegregation efforts.

ROBERT C. SCHANTZ

Governor Names Schantz to Post Held by Plunket

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller today appointed Robert C. Schantz of Kingston to the State Advisory Council on Pensions.

Schantz, a production analyzer for International Business Machines Corp., succeeds Thomas J. Plunket of Kingston, whose term expired.

Council members are paid $90 a day while attending meetings. Schantz' appointment, subject to Senate confirmation, is for a term ending April 1, 1966.

Schantz resides at 145 Wrentham Street, Kingston, with his wife, Virginia and son, Garry, 9. He is the Republican Committeeman from the Second Ward and is employed by IBM.

Cause Is Sought Of Jet Crash in General's Death

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Investigators sought Thursday the cause of a jet-airplane crash that killed Brig. Gen. Barnie B. McEntire Jr., 43, chief of staff of the South Carolina Air National Guard.

The F104 jet fighter dived into an uninhabited island in the Susquehanna River Wednesday within sight of crowds on Harrisburg's South Bridge.

McEntire had just taken off to return to Congaree Air National Guard Base at East Over, S.C., when his plane plunged into the island.

Magruder Authority Returned

Junta, U. N. Head In Korean Accord

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korea's military rulers and U. S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder agreed today on a compromise restoring to Magruder most of the operational control he exercised over the 525,000 - man Korean armed forces before the coup last week.

Restored to Degree

Magruder said he was not completely satisfied, that he considered his authority as U.N. commander in Korea had been "restored to a considerable degree, rather than fully."

"Once authority has been flouted, it can only be re-established by its implicit observance over a long period," said Magruder, who had unsuccessfully called on the armed forces to withhold support from the rebels.

The junta headed by Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young agreed to return to the front 3,800 of the 7,000 troops who seized Seoul on May 16 and overthrew the elected government of Premier John M. Chang.

Magruder released to the control of the junta two understrength army reserve divisions totaling only a few thousand men, a paratroop combat team of 2,000 to 3,000 men and about 700 military policemen to garrison Seoul against any challenge to the military regime.

Loses Out On Changes

It was understood that Magruder failed to win out in his demand that he once more approve changes in Korean command appointments, an authority U.N. commanders exercised before the coup. The junta leaders have replaced — without Magruder's approval—several top commanders who refused to back their rebellion.

Four to Seek Release

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Four white college professors—including the Yale University chaplain—and a Negro student, among 11 integrationists jailed for challenging bus depot segregation, were expected to seek release on bond today.

Their attorney said $1,000 bond each would probably be posted by the Rev. William S. Coffin Jr., the Yale chaplain; the Rev. Gaylord B. Noyce, assistant professor at the Yale Divinity School; Dr. David E. Swift, professor of religion at Wesleyan in Middletown, Conn.; Dr. John B. Maguire, assistant Wesleyan professor of religion, and George B. Smith, Negro student at Yale.

Estimates Over 20 Will Die on State Highways

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — More than 20 persons likely will die on New York State highways over the four-day Memorial Day weekend that begins tonight, Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hults says.

Hults appealed to motorists Thursday to exercise caution. A similar appeal, for safety on the state's waterways, was issued by James J. O'Brien, director of the State Division of Motorboats.

Hults noted that 24 persons were killed in the state over the three-day Memorial Day weekend last year. During that same weekend, The Associated Press counted six deaths in boating accidents.

Civil War Story Of Local Units Told to Kiwanis

The activities of three local regiments in the Civil War and the innovations in warfare which came out of the conflict of 1861-1865 were the subject of a talk presented before the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by William Plank of Marlboro.

Introduced by the program chairman, Harry Rigby Jr., the speaker, a student of the trouble between the states, said more Americans were killed in the Civil War than in any other conflict in which the United States had fighting forces.

Plank referred to the Civil War as a "laboratory for all modern warfare," pointing out that this conflict saw the first use of armored vessels and railroad trains, the first employment of torpedoes and submarines, the use of wire entanglements, and the use of the telegraph system for war purposes. Communications and transportation played an important part for the first time in warfare, and the Civil War saw the growth of hospital and Red Cross services far beyond those which existed prior to the war.

Other innovations, according to the speaker, were the breech loading and repeating rifles, the rifled cannon, and the use of long projectiles replacing the cannon ball so familiar to soldiers prior to the Civil War.

Local Units in War

The activities of Kingston and Ulster County men in the Civil War were for the most part included in three regiments recruited from this section of the country.

The first contingent entering the Civil War from Ulster County was known as the 20th Regiment or the Ulster Guard. This outfit left Rondout on a steamer bound for New York, for three months service. They were employed in the defenses around Washington, did not see any action, and were discharged after the period of enlistment expired.

Some Joined 80th Volunteers

According to William Plank, many of the members of the 20th Regiment re-enlisted in the 80th New York Volunteers commanded by Colonel George W. Pratt of

Sweeping Overhaul Proposed

Some in Congress Are Cool to Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for a drastic overhaul of the foreign aid program, a $4.75 billion aid effort for next year and a multi-billion loan system for future years.

Kennedy said the proposed long-range program is of "paramount importance" for protection of the free world against the Communist threat.

The President made his proposal in a letter to Congress transmitting the legislation he wants enacted.

Proposes Single Office

A number of influential legislators have shown coolness to parts of the Kennedy package, however, and what type of bill Congress will finally approve remains uncertain.

In what would be the most drastic shakeup since the aid program got under way on a large scale after World War II, Kennedy proposed establishment of a single aid organization combining previously separate units.

The new master aid agency would be called A.I.D. (The Agency for International Development). Its head would have undersecretary of state rank and would report to the secretary of state and the President.

Under Kennedy's bill arms aid would be separated from economic aid in the future, and would be treated as part of the regular U.S. defense budget.

New Figures Given

Kennedy set out these figures for the program in the fiscal year starting July 1:

$1.69 billion for economic aid to countries around the world. The sum includes $500 million for a presidential contingency fund for flexible use in emergencies such as recent developments in Southeast Asia, twice the amount Kennedy estimated for that purpose earlier.

$1,885,000,000 for arms assistance. This is the amount Kennedy mentioned in Thursday's message which outlined much of the program presented today.

$900 million in borrowing authority for funds to make long-term loans for overseas economic development projects.

$300 million additional, to come from repayments by foreign countries on previous loan-aid programs and to be reused for new projects. Kennedy also asked for authority to use such funds for the same purpose in future years, estimating them at about $300 million annually.

$7.3 Billion for 5 Years

For the four years starting July 1, 1962 Kennedy requested $1.6 billion a year in further borrowing authority for long-term economic development loans.

This plus the $900 million for the coming year would bring the requested borrowing authority to $7.3 billion over the next five years.

Portrait Unveiled Of Judge Loughran

In the presence of members of the family, high judicial officers, members of the Ulster County Bar Association and friends, at a very dignified and simple ceremony this morning a life-size portrait of the late Judge John T. Loughran was unveiled.

The portrait, the work of Paul Wesley Arndt of Woodstock, a distinguished portrait painter, was unveiled by the artist himself who expressed his appreciation for the honor granted him in being commissioned by the Ulster County Bar Association to paint the portrait of one of New York State's most distinguished jurists. He paid a tribute to Hugh R. Elwyn, president of the Bar Association, and Mrs. Elwyn for the assistance and valuable suggestions given which permitted him to place on the canvas the likeness of Judge Loughran.

A True Likeness

Presentation of the painting was made in the presence of members of the Court of Appeals, Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Ulster County Bar members, members of the family of the late Judge Loughran, including his son, John, who expressed his thanks and of the members of the family to the bar association for the honor being shown his father. He also thanked the artist for the portrait which he said was a true likeness and was "just as we knew him."

Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals Charles S. Desmond of Buffalo, was presented by Judge Sydney F. Foster, who for many years was an associate of Judge Loughran on the Supreme Court bench of the Third Judicial District.

Proud Day for Bar

Members of the family of the late Judge Loughran were welcomed by Hugh R. Elwyn, president of the Ulster County Bar, as were the members of the judiciary. Mr. Elwyn said the day was a "proud" one for the Ulster County Bar Association and culminated a project which had been undertaken by the bar association to pay "lasting tribute to an illustrious man."

He reviewed the distinguished career of Judge Loughran, first

Hearings Slated On Zoning and Dog Ordinance

Two public hearings are slated for Thursday, June 1, City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew noted today.

One slated for 7:30 p. m., in the Common Council chamber, deals with requested zoning ordinance changes to prevent conflict in proceeding with the city's urban renewal and planning program, and the other to follow at 8 p. m., is aimed at determining the feasibility for adoption of a dog ordinance.

The first hearing is called by the council's laws and rules committee composed of aldermen Lawrence E. Woerner, (D) Fourth Ward, chairman; John P. Heitzman, (D) 12th Ward; Edward J. Schrowang (R) First Ward; Joseph F. Carroll Jr., (R) 11th Ward, and Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye.

Special Committee

The special committee on the dog ordinance proposal is composed of Alderman Heitzman, as chairman; Alderman Schrowang and Alderman Francis R. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward.

It was planned to hold the first hearing in the city court room, but because of the holiday, the regular Tuesday night session of court was adjourned to 8 p. m., Thursday.

Senate Votes School Aid, Heads for House Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's $2.55 billion public school aid bill, having vaulted the Senate handily, heads today into an expected bitter showdown in the House.

The Senate passed the measure Thursday night 49 to 34, climaxing eight days of debate. It is one of the "big five" bills in Kennedy's 1961 legislative program.

Its supporters said today they expect the school bill will clear the House by a slim margin, although it may be trimmed before it passes.

All in all, federal aid to education advocates believe this is the best chance they have ever had to get such legislation enacted.

The bill's Senate sponsors were a little disappointed in the final vote. It was lower than they had expected because of many absentees.

The tally would have been 59-41 if all 100 senators had been present to vote their announced positions. As it was 41 Democrats and 1 Republicans voted for it, 22 Republicans and 12 Democrats against it.

A similar bill has been approved by the House Education and Labor Committee. It may reach the floor in the week of June 4.

Even if the bill gets through the House, its sponsors concede that the funds for teacher salaries provision may be knocked out.

If this should happen, the basis for a possible compromise was laid in Senate debate. The bill, as it reached the Senate floor, made the grants available for teacher salaries or school construction.

A floor amendment, accepted by the administration, broadened this to include spending for such operating expenses as school buses, textbooks and libraries.

The bill passed by the Senate authorized $850 million a year in grants for the next three years to try to help states equalize educational opportunities.

It also extends for three more years the impacted area program of aid to school districts with enrollments swollen because of nearby federal installations. Payments under this program next year are estimated at $10 million.

The grants in the general school aid bill would be paid on a sliding scale, the poorest state getting three times as much as the richest.

Texas would get the largest amount of annual aid, $57,967,084, Nevada the smallest, $1,038,379. The largest per pupil allotment would be $27.74 for Arkansas, Mississippi and South Carolina, the smallest $9.25 for Connecticut.

Panel Discusses 3,000 Seasonal Farm Workers

Seasonal farm labor involving more than 3,000 workers expected to come into the area at harvest time was the topic of a panel discussion Wednesday night at Clintondale Grange Hall attended by Ulster County fruit and vegetable growers.

The seven members of the panel, who each made presentations on the topic, complimented Ulster County farmers for their fine cooperation with the various agencies involved in the use of seasonal help.

William Adriance, farm employment supervisor from Central Farm Labor Office, Rochester, thanked growers for their fine cooperation with that office regarding an employment estimating project over the past two years. Wage surveys, he stated, would be conducted again this year in sweet corn and apple harvest activities.

Mechanization in other agricultural activities along the eastern seaboard and Western New York has cut the demand for migrant workers. On a recruitment itinerary in Florida during April, some 10,000 workers were committed to New York State, a drop of about 8,000 from four years ago. Total seasonal workers, he said, at peak of employment, between September 15 and 30, last year in the state were about 37,000 workers.

Charles Shultis, senior sanitary inspector from Ulster County Department of Health, reported that there were no new changes in Chapter XV of the Sanitary Code this year. He complimented the growers for submitting applications earlier this year than in the past.

Warren Lawrence, sanitary inspector in charge of migrant labor

Milton Boy Critical, Is Hit Leaving Bus

A 6-year-old Milton boy was severely injured Thursday afternoon when a Newburgh motorist failed to stop for a school bus from which the boy had just alighted.

As Mrs. Edwin Jennison of Milton stood across the highway waiting for her son, Edward Jennison, Jennie May Turner, 55, of 195 Prospect Street, Newburgh, drove past the stopped school bus and struck the little boy as he came around the front of the school bus to join his mother.

Driver Fined $45

State police arrested the operator of the offending car and she was fined $45 before Justice of the Peace Fred Fowler. The charge was passing a stopped school bus.

Taken to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, suffering from lacerations, abrasions and internal injuries, the condition of the boy today was reported as "critical." He spent a "good" night, a report said.

Mother Waiting

The accident happened at about 3:45 p. m. Thursday a mile south of Milton on Route 9W, which is a four lane highway at that point. The driver of the school bus had stopped, the boy had alighted and was in the process of passing ahead of the school bus to join his mother when struck by the Turner car which was also traveling south behind the bus.

Trooper William Brennan of the Highland substation and Chief of Police Joseph Esposito of Milton investigated and arrested the operator of the offending vehicle.

Troopers Hunt 2 In Assault on Ancram Resident

State Police in Columbia County are looking for two men, one of whom may have a facial cut as a result of being struck in the face with a flashlight. The men, both stocky, are being sought for an assault upon Donald Day, 34, Ancram service station operator.

Day was slashed with a knife and beaten by two men when he attempted to stop them from breaking into the home of William Sheppard on Slater Road, Ancram, at 2 a. m. Thursday. He was cut about the face and arms.

When Day observed the men attempting to enter the Sheppard home, which he watches during the week when the owners are away, he accosted them. One started to punch him and when Day fought back he struck one man in the face with a flashlight. The other man pulled a knife and slashed Day. The men then sped away in a black sedan. Other than that the men were white and "stocky," Day was unable to give any description.

Kennedy Sets Up Commission for Missile Disputes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today set up a commission to handle labor disputes at space and missile sites.

The purpose is to avoid strikes and slowdowns which witnesses recently told a Senate subcommittee have delayed missile projects.

Kennedy issued an executive order setting up the commission and charged it with the task of anticipating labor problems before they become acute.

The order does not call for compulsory arbitration, but does provide that the commission may seek agreement for binding arbitration.

Kennedy named Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg chairman of the commission and William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation Service, vice chairman.

Nine other members are equally divided among representatives of the public, labor and management.

The public members are David L. Cole, former president of the National Council of Arbitrators; John T. Dunlop, professor of economics at Harvard University, and David Stowe, an arbitrator of labor-management disputes.

Labor members are George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO; Cornelius J. Haggerty, president of the Building and Construction Trades Department, AFL-CIO, and Walter P. Reuther, president of the Union Department, AFL-CIO and also president of the United Auto Workers.

Management representatives are James D. Marshall, executive director of Associated General Contractors; Edgar F. Kaiser, president of Kaiser Industries, Inc., and Douglas V. Dorman, vice president and director of labor relations of the Martin Co.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy drafted the executive order in consultation with Goldberg. The commission is given authority to lay down policies and procedures for adjusting disputes which threaten to delay space and missile programs.

Panels will be set up at each space and missile site and a mediator from the federal mediation and conciliation service will be assigned to each panel.

Freedom Riders On Trial Today

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Segregation-defying "Freedom Riders" were scheduled to go on trial in Jackson City Court today as integrationists continued their massive assault on "Jim Crow" barriers throughout the Deep South.

Trial of the 27 Freedom Riders —25 Negroes and two whites—is set for 5 p.m. in the same courtroom where earlier this year other Negroes were convicted for attempts to integrate Jackson's main public library and city bus system.

At the trial of the library integrationists, club-swinging policemen using trained dogs dispatched a large crowd of hymn-singing Negroes outside the court building.

Face Jail, Fines

The 27 Freedom Riders were arrested Wednesday after their arrival on two separate buses from Montgomery.

They were charged under the same breach of peace statute used in the previous integration attempts here. They also face an additional charge of disobeying an officer. If convicted of both charges, they face a maximum six-month jail term and $500 fines.

In New Orleans—the announced destination of all previous "Freedom Rides" — the City Council adopted a resolution urging police to escort the integrationists and other "agitators" nonstop through the city. Dist. Atty. Richard Dowling said he would charge any such traveling groups with violation of a state law similar to the Mississippi anti-integration breach of peace law.

J-A Editor Retiring

Nehru His Next Target

DURGAPUR, India (AP) —A young Bengali tried to stab the president of India's ruling Congress party today and said his next target would have been Prime Minister Nehru.

Brandishing a dagger and shouting "I must kill him," the youth, Dulal Pal, rushed at Sanjeeva Reddy as he alighted from a railroad train to attend a conference of party leaders. Pal was overpowered before he reached Reddy. Nehru was due later in the day.

Texas to Paris Hop Done in 6 Hours Plus

PARIS (AP)—An Air Force B58 Convair Hustler shattered transatlantic records today with a flight across at speeds sometimes twice the speed of sound.

The plane flashed over famed Le Bourget Field—where Charles A. Lindbergh landed 34 years ago —and set down 6 hours 15 minutes after taking off from Carswell Air Force Base in Texas.

The plane made the New York-Paris leg of the trip in 3 hours and 20 minutes. The average speed for the trip was 1,105 m.p.h.

The flight was planned in connection with the Paris Aviation Exposition, now under way, to mark the anniversary of Lindbergh's New York-Paris flight in 1927. Lindbergh's time for the journey in the single-engine prop plane "Spirit of St. Louis" was 33½ hours.

A three-man crew from the U.S. Strategic Air Command piloted the bomber to the transatlantic record. The bomber took off from Carswell at 4:10 a.m. and reached Paris at 10:25 a.m. It flew nonstop to Paris north over Washington and then over New York where it headed out to sea.

The bomber was refueled from KC135 jet tankers en route.

A U.S. Air Force announcement said that in addition to a New York-Paris record, the bomber set a record from Carswell to Washington of 2 hours 16 minutes, and a record from Washington to New York of 19 minutes.

Civil War Story

Kingston. This outfit saw action at the second Battle of Bull Run where Colonel Pratt was killed. As a part of the Army of The Potomac, the 80th Regiment, commanded by another local man, Theodore Gates, and later by Colonel Jacob Hardenburgh, fought until 1864 when the members were discharged from the army. During this time the local men saw service at Gettysburg where they suffered heavy losses but "covered themselves with glory" according to the speaker. Citizens of Ulster County had a monument erected at this site of battle.

Later the 80th Regiment moved south and participated in the battles of the Wilderness and Petersburg which brought an end to the Civil War. The local group suffered casualties of 81 men and five officers, besides 280 wounded during the war.

The second group of local volunteers, according to Plank, was the 120th Volunteers under the command of Colonel George Scharpe. This outfit comprised upwards of a thousand men and saw action at the Battle of Chancellorsville where it was "cut to pieces." Later, with the necessary replacements, the 120th Regiment engaged in the Battle of Gettysburg, suffering losses of 203 men, and then was in action at Mine Run, the Wilderness, and Petersburg.

The 120th Volunteers were active in the demolition of the railroad from the south which carried supplies to General Lee's Confederate forces defending Richmond, and took part in the surrender of General Lee.

The old 156th Regiment was the third force of local men to leave Kingston for the battlegrounds, according to the speaker. This group was known as the Mountain Legion under the command of Erastus Cook. It entered the war in 1862 and was sent to New Orleans and "upcountry in Louisiana" where it participated in several sharp skirmishes. Later it was transferred to the Shennandoah Valley under General Philip Sheridan, and was finally discharged at Augusta, Georgia in 1865.

Plank concluded by pointing out that other local men were in service in various other outfits, mostly as replacements, including the 7th Regiment known as the Silk Stocking Regiment and the 25th Cavalry — the latter also serving in the army commanded by General Philip Sheridan.

Divided on Laos

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union and the West were divided today on whether to send the truce commission in Laos new instructions to help it stop the continuing clashes between forces of the pro-Western royal government and the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels.

The Indian - Canadian - Polish commission, which certified two weeks ago that a cease-fire existed and thus got the Geneva conference started, sent word from Laos that fighting was still going on and asked for fresh orders. The commission said both sides have complained of violations and added that the tangled jungles in Laos make policing of the truce difficult.

Agree on School Fund

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Thirty-four African countries have agreed on a $4-billion program to add five million children to their schools in the next five years.

The plans were worked out at a 10-day educational conference which ended here Thursday. European powers with territorial responsibilities in Africa also attended.

$4.5 Billion . . .

new long-range program, Kennedy said:

"Real progress in economic development cannot be achieved by annual, short-term dispensations of aid and uncertainty as to future intentions. These (long-term) methods are essential to our new approach to development assistance to the effectiveness of that approach."

Asks Early Passage

"The long-term borrowing authority could be used to make loans repayable in up to 50 years, at low rates or no interest charge.

Kennedy asked for early passage of his proposal "in the earnest hope and expectation that the United States will meet its challenges and responsibilities in this decade of development in a forthright, affirmative manner which can engender the respect and cooperation of the community of free nations."

Even some of the program's strongest supporters said it would encounter "great difficulty" in escaping drastic cuts by Congress.

In his message to Congress Thursday, Kennedy upped his foreign aid proposals by $535 million—$250 million for flexible economic aid and $285 million for arms to countries facing growing Red guerrilla threats.

The President said this increased sacrifice by the American people would be "minimal and crucial" for "the single most important program available for building the frontiers of freedom."

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., told reporters the foreign aid program always encounters rough going in Congress and "it may encounter even greater difficulties this year."

Fulbright said the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has set next Wednesday as the tentative date for starting hearings on the measure with Secretary of State Dean Rusk as the administration's first spokesman. Fulbright is committee chairman.

County Alerted For Hail and Damaging Winds

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The U. S. Weather Bureau said at 12:30 p. m. today severe thunderstorms that would produce hail and locally damaging winds could be expected in the Lower Hudson Valley until about 4 p. m.

The storm was expected to be most severe in Ulster, Dutchess, Orange and Putnam counties, the bureau said.

Potrait Unveiled

as a lawyer practicing law, as a professor of law at Fordham Law School, then as a member of the Supreme Court bench to which he was elected in 1930 and as an associate judge of the Court of Appeals on which he served from 1945, prior to his elevation to chief judge of the Court of Appeals on April 25, 1946 when he was named to that post by Thomas E. Dewey, then governor of the State of New York. In Nov., 1946, he was elected for a full 14-year term under bi-partisan endorsement and was serving as chief judge at the time of his death, March 31, 1953.

One of Keenest Legal Minds

President Elwyn referred to Judge Loughran as one of the state's great jurists and said his was "one of the keenest legal minds in the country." He spoke of him as a kind and gentle man and said the memorial was being presented in honor of one of Ulster County's most illustrious sons. Elwyn said it was fitting that the painting should be hung in the courtroom where Judge Loughran had presided as a supreme court justice and in a room "he knew and loved so well."

Elywn paid tribute to Harry E. Schirick, who retired this year from the supreme court bench and is now an official referee, for the assistance he had given as chairman of the committee which early this winter commissioned Artist Arnst to paint the portrait.

Judge Foster Speaks

Judge Foster spoke briefly of the career of Judge Loughran with whom he had served several years as a trial justice of the supreme court on the Third Judicial District circuit. Judge Foster spoke of the appointment of Judge Loughran as chief judge of the Court of Appeals directly from the appellate court bench. He referred to him as a "great lawyer and jurist" and then introduced Judge Charles F. Desmond, chief judge of the Court of Appeals.

To tell of the accomplishments of Judge Loughran in detail, Judge Desmond said, would take much time and to "tell all that is in my heart would make for a long discourse." He referred to Judge Loughran as a "great jurist" and a "much loved man" citing numerous personal incidents in the life of Judge Loughran. "He loved lawyers and lawyers loved him," Judge Desmond said. It was appropriate that the portrait is hung in "this historic Hudson River town where he lived and was loved by all the people" and he said it was equally appropriate that Judge Loughran's death had come as he was "on his way to an act of worship" in his church.

Speaking of the judicial career of Judge Loughran, Judge Desmond said he had taken office "not to preside over others but to provide for them." He closed his remarks by paying a tribute to the great career of Judge Loughran as a jurist.

The unveiling ceremonies at the courthouse were followed by a reception given by the bar association at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Negro President Within 40 Years Is Possible: JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in a broadcast beamed overseas today that racial prejudices are being broken down in this country and a Negro could be president within the next 30 to 40 years.

The attorney general made a Voice of America broadcast from his office to tell the world what the federal government has been doing about recent racial violence in Alabama.

His words were carried to more than 60 countries around the globe through the facilities of 39 radio transmitters in 13 locations in this country and elsewhere.

Translations were superimposed over his voice in delivery of the talk to 37 different language areas.

Speaking extemporaneously, the 35-year-old attorney general told his vast audience that prejudice exists in all areas of the world and probably will continue to exist.

"But we are trying to make progress," he said. "We do not accept the status quo."

Kennedy recalled that his grandfather arrived in Boston only 50 years ago as an Irish immigrant at a time when "the Irish were not wanted there."

Referring to his brother, President John F. Kennedy, the attorney general said: "Now an Irish Catholic is president of the United States. There is no question that in the next 30 to 40 years a Negro can be president, also."

Kingston Honor Patrolman Almost Gets State Post

MEYER LEVY

Kingston gained singular honor at the 36th annual meeting of the New York State Police Conference in the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake, this week, with the nomination of Officer Meyer Levy, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, for the post of the conference's recording secretary.

Since it came, however, unexpectedly, and without sufficient advance notice, the local patrolman had little time for campaigning, and lost by only 12 votes to Philip Accuri, of Utica. The latter heads the PBA in that city.

It was the first time in the history of the conference that a candidate has been named from one of the state's smaller cities to run for a conference office.

Al Sgaglione, of the Port of New York Authority Police, New York, was elected conference president. He succeeds John R. Martin, of New York's Transit Police. The election was held Thursday morning.

Officer Levy's nomination was sponsored by members of the Western New York State Police Conference. It was noted that even though the Kingston patrolman lost, and undoubtedly because of the closeness of the election, he had boosted his popularity among conference members. An attendance of some 1,000 policemen was reported.

Lt. Gov Malcolm Wilson delivered the principal address at the conference, and he remained there for several sessions.

Officer Levy won a Kiwanis Club citation in 1959 as local patrolman of the year. It came because of his action in line of duty in saving the life of Officer John Crespino, who had fallen into an excavation inside a cave, where the officers had been falsely told that children were in trouble.

$3.5 Billion U. S. Deficit Seen in Kennedy Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal budget will be more than $3.5 billion in the red next fiscal year if Congress approves President Kennedy's plan to spend more on space research, defense, foreign aid and other programs.

Kennedy two months ago forecast a deficit of $2.8 billion, assuming action by Congress to boost postal rates.

The programs advocated by Kennedy Thursday in a special message to Congress would add $724 million to spending in the 1962 fiscal year which begins July 1. There would be a coresponding increase in the deficit.

In addition, Kennedy said a later message will call for more funds for civil defense. Officials estimated this might add another $70 million or so to next year's spending total.

Treasury experts haven't made any significant changes in their March prediction that fiscal 1962 revenues will total $81.4 billion. However, the Kennedy programs so far announced would boost spending to a peacetime high of more than $85 billion.

Spending also would be increased in future years. While outlays in fiscal 1962 would be hiked by $724 million under the recommendations made Thursday, nearly $1.6 billion would be appropriated with the difference being spent in later years.

Kennedy told Congress his recommendation would not require any increase in taxes.

Kennedy forecast the economy would reach new highs in the coming months and said, "The recession has been halted, recovery is under way."

However, he said solution of the unemployment problem will continue to present a serious challenge.

Challenge Goes To Laymen to Heal Sick Souls

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A Methodist bishop has challenged laymen of the church to heal the "grievously sick" soul of America through Christian endeavors.

Bishop Everett W. Palmer of Seattle, Wash., said Thursday laymen had more access to their communities than ministers, who, he said, spend 95 per cent of their time working with their own church people.

Bishop Palmer addressed the 94th annual meeting of the Central New York Conference of the Methodist Church. About 600 delegates are attending.

166 Lose Lives In April Traffic, 15 Above 1960

ALBANY—Auto accidents on New York State streets and highways during April brought death to 166 persons in 151 accidents, the Department of Motor Vehicles reported today. This was 15 more than the number killed in April of last year.

Fifty-nine of those killed were pedestrians, 11 of them when they were struck while crossing the highway between intersections. Ten others died when struck by vehicles whose drivers did not have the right of way.

Reports of the accidents filed with the Department indicate that in 78 per cent, some violation of the Vehicle and Traffic Law was committed, either by the drivers or by the pedestrians.

Excessive speed was a factor in 54 accidents and 66 deaths; 20 reckless driving violations figured in 21 deaths; 12 drivers on the wrong side of the road were involved in crashes in which 15 were killed; and 24 deaths occurred because drivers did not have the right of way.

Nine pedestrians suffered fatal injuries when crossing against traffic signals, seven when coming out from behind parked cars, five when standing or playing in the street, three while walking with traffic, one while hitching on a vehicle and one while crossing the street diagonally.

Twelve intoxicated drivers were implicated in as many fatalities.

The fatality score for the first four months of 1961 has now reached 537, seven below that for the similar period of 1960.

As Spray Manager, Mr. Beak is responsible for the protection and quality of 100,000 bushels of apples grown annually at the Beak and Skiff Apple Farm. Guthion provides the broad protection he wants, and reduces his costs appreciably.

"Guthion cuts our spraying costs by $10,000, gives us superior control of codling moths and leaf rollers"

Says Mr. C. Ronald Beak, Spray Manager, Beak & Skiff Apple Farm, Lafayette, N.Y.

"No more 'crash programs' for each insect... Guthion alone does the whole job"

"Guthion has enabled us to not only reduce our insect control costs from $36,000 to $26,000 annually," reports Mr. Beak, "but we now get sure, constant control with periodic Guthion applications, by commencing our program promptly at petal fall. Before using Guthion, we were spending more and more each year for constant inspections and for special crash sprayings for individual insects, using high concentrates of phosphates and miticides. Guthion has eliminated these worries.

"The all-season dependability of Guthion has saved us both time and money. We have been able to eliminate two or three spray applications each season. It used to require three sprayers to treat our orchard at 10 day intervals. We now do the same job with Guthion with two sprayers and apply at 10 to 15 day intervals.

Guthion controls major pests

"But perhaps the most important consideration of all is the superior, long-lasting effectiveness of Guthion," Mr. Beak says. "For example, we made our last application of Guthion on the equivalent of 2,000 bushels of early McIntosh and Dutchess apples last July 11. Without further protection, they were picked August 15th.

"We did not find a single instance of codling moth or red-banded leaf roller. Aphids were kept at a minimum and mites were reduced to an acceptable incidence level. This same degree of control held true throughout the remainder of the orchard."

Higher grade fruit assured

"The amount of seconds in our crop is lower than at any time in recent years," Mr. Beak reports. "And Guthion gives our trees a better appearance, too. The leaves are greener and healthier . . . and since they supply nutrients to the growing apples, this better appearance is reflected in the quality of the apples themselves."

Higher profits from Guthion

Here's why Guthion means more fruit profits for you. It is the only single insecticide that controls all major fruit pests, all season long. Guthion alone equals or surpasses the control of any complicated combination of chemicals.

Guthion lasts longer, too . . . eliminates worry about special insect build-ups, specific spray timing, and even eliminates between cover sprays. To reduce your spray costs and get better insect control this season, use Guthion. It works!

Economy

Ownership of a Cadillac brings enduring economy many a lesser car is striving for. First of all, a Cadillac can be yours at a price actually less than many models of other cars. Its economy continues through every mile you drive—for Cadillac is surprisingly frugal in fuel and maintenance needs. And it is especially rewarding in its resale value—historically returning more of its original cost than any other car in the land. Indeed, a Cadillac might wisely be your next motor car investment.

DURABLE SURPLUSES

Nearly every political leader on the national scene evidently wants to offer some plan of attack on the country's farm surpluses, with their staggering cost.

Yet, as these plans have unfolded through the years, farm economics researchers have been piling up data suggesting that surpluses may be with us at least a generation.

It is almost as if the politicians and the researchers were operating in different worlds.

Since World War II, successive administrations have tried flexible as against high, rigid price supports; the soil bank and conservation reserve; a new plan to boost feed grain supports in exchange for acreage cuts.

This last is still untried, since farmers are just now signing up. The other plans are conceded to have had no more than limited effect.

Only the somewhat controversial general Kennedy farm bill, not yet out of the hearing stage, seems to acknowledge the sort of impasse the researchers indicate. For, in what looks to be an act of some desperation, the President proposes that farmers themselves, consulting with Agriculture Department experts, draft individual programs for all farm commodities.

The researchers are not backing down from earlier sober forecasts of continuing surpluses.

A big key to the problem is the sizable reservoir of untapped technology available to farmers. Many do not use known aids—better fertilizers and pesticides, more efficient ways of converting feed into livestock weight, improved machinery and machine techniques.

The new analysis, by Agriculture Department specialists, says that if farmers tapped the technical reservoir fully and thus produced maximum yields, we could in 1975 support 230 million people (against today's 183 million), and maintain relatively high exports from virtually the same crop and pasture acreage we have now.

Actually they don't expect so complete a use of available technology. But even when they scale their projection down to fit a lower use of technical aids, they figure U.S. farmers can fill all 1975 needs for 230 millions — including exports — by adding only 20 million acres to present over-all totals.

Those 20 million acres are less than the projected net additional acreage expected by 1975 from irrigation, drainage, land clearing and other conversions.

Beyond the 20 million acres, any new land brought into use is seen as a potential producer of surpluses.

So, too, would be any brand new gains in technology. And few experts imagine farmers in the next 14 years will be limited to "presently available technology."

Only a population climb exceeding markedly today's estimates might soak up this extra farm potential and wipe out surpluses.

CASTRO VS. BASEBALL

Baseball being a decadent, imperialistic game, Fidel Castro has launched a program aimed at making soccer Cuba's major sport. He might succeed, too. Soccer is rugged and exciting, with great spectator appeal.

But baseball, if it yields at all, will yield grudgingly. For years the Cubans, including the bearded dictator, have been wild about the game and many Cubans are major league stars in the United States. Even though Castro wills it, this enthusiasm won't suddenly die merely because the government plans to sponsor 250 soccer teams for boys throughout the island.

The shift, if it comes, will take years. And should soccer eventually become Cuba's big game we shall not grieve too much. They can have it, just as they can have the goat's milk Castro is urging them to drink.

CRIME INCREASES

The annual report of J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, provided a sociological review of the United States. This report comes in the form of testimony before the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives. The FBI pays for itself in the dollar value of fines, savings and recoveries and therefore really costs the American people nothing.

As one reads the testimony, the question must arise as to why crimes continue to increase in this country. What is wrong with our people? Is crime due to the shift from rural to urban life? Is it due to lack of parental influence? Is it due to broken homes? For instance, the FBI reports that in 1960, 17,430 stolen automobiles were located. This represented $26,500,000. Most automobile thieves are teen-agers. What causes a teen-ager to steal an automobile?

Hoover told the congressional committee:

"Preliminary figures for the last calendar year, 1960, reflected a twelve per cent increase in crime over 1959. This is a shocking situation when we realize that the year 1959 registered a record-high volume. Each major crime classification showed an increase in 1960. . . . Auto thefts surged upward 7 per cent, forcible rapes and murders increased 4 per cent.

"While the population increase is one of the factors to be considered in the rising tide of crimes, in reality we can trace our increasing crime rates today primarily to two malignant conditions—public apathy and moral deterioration or decay of our population."

Public apathy is a frightful condition. Recently, sometime after midnight, I heard a woman shriek, "Help!" I looked out of my window and saw a tall, dark man seize the woman's purse. Considering that I live on the eighth floor of a tenement and that I can not run much, I tried to call the police on the telephone but could not reach the operator. It used to be so easy to dial "O," get an operator, say that you want the police and be put right through. But not these days. "O" comes on slowly and by the time she arrives, she is not needed.

So, I put on a coat and went downstairs, six or seven minutes later. The superintendent of our building had tried to capture the purse-snatcher and failed. The fellow was too fast, but he was finally caught in a subway station and identified, The police, on this occasion, did very good work.

But there were men on the street when the purse-snatching occurred. They minded their own business. The woman screamed. There were plenty of taxi-cabs moving back and forth but none stopped. A driver once told me that to interfere might cost him a day or two of earnings while he sat around being questioned by time-wasting police and then he would have to testify in court. He is no hero. He moves on. Some cab-drivers like to be heroes, but not this one who was talking to me, So the woman might have been mugged.

Near where I live is a beautiful park, which cost the city millions of dollars to create and care for. But the children will not play there and adults are afraid to go there. It is absurd that parks should be occupied by drunks and homosexuals who frighten children and who abuse women. And there are packs of hoodlums who move about the parks, molesting girls, seizing clothes and committing mayhem and in the darker hours rape. Central Park in New York City is one of the most beautiful parks in all the world, but no one enters it after dark, except in a few protected spots.

Does the public complain? Do they make crime a campaign issue? J. Edgar Hoover says of this:

"The rising crime rate is ample evidence of the unfortunate spread of moral deterioration among the growing segments of our population. This condition not only exists within the criminal element itself, but has also corrupted millions of our Nation's citizens who are willing to compromise their ideals if an easy dollar can be made."

This is a frightful indictment of our civilization. Essentially it means that morality and decency are not being impressed upon young people as vividly as vice, immorality, the fast buck are impressed upon them. The movies and television show, in the end, that crime does not pay, but it is amusing and exciting before the punishment comes. That can have something to do with what is wrong.

Paranoia Marks Persons With Persecution Complex

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is paranoia a very dangerous disease? Is it safe for a person with paranoia to live outside a mental hospital?

A—Paranoia is a symptom, not a disease. Quite literally, it means unsoundness of mind. Actually it is usually used in the sense of feelings or delusions of persecution. Now these feelings or delusions of persecution are of variable importance.

For example, there's the schoolchild who complains that "his teacher has it in for him." A younger daughter complains that her older brother is "always picking on her." A worker says his foreman "hounds him." Until finally you come to the chronic alcoholic or the truly psychotic patient who fancies himself beset by imaginary attackers and assailants, both human and otherwise.

Now, quite obviously, the mildly paranoid person is hardly a candidate for a mental hospital. But when the paranoid symptom is a manifestation of a disease that may result in actions harmful to the person, the family or the community, drastic steps may have to be taken in the common interest. And the nature of that action is a matter for experts to decide.

Q—Is it possible to straighten curvature of a spine in a young child? Does this always require surgery?

A—If the spinal curvature is not too extreme and it is due to a correctible cause such as muscle weakness or a shortened leg, it may be overcome by exercises, the use of braces and adjustments of the shoes.

However, if the cause is not correctible, such as a congenital deformity of the vertebrae or their destruction by a disease like tuberculosis, operative treatment may merit consideration by an experienced orthopedic surgeon.

Q—Each year I have about eight attacks of what the doctors call "paroxysmal auricular tachycardia." I have been taught to press against a blood vessel in my throat until the attack stops, usually in 15 minutes to an hour. Isn't it possible to prevent these attacks from coming? Will they ever prove fatal?

A—Paroxysmal irregularities of the heart, such as the one you describe, are very frequent and very, very rarely the cause for more than passing discomfort.

If the cause can be discovered and corrected or eliminated, the attacks may be prevented. Such causes include over-activity of the thyroid gland, overdoses of drugs such as digitalis, excessive smoking and overloading of the stomach with food and drink.

The method for controlling the attack, by pressing on the carotid sinus in the neck, is approved and usually effective. But some patients discover other methods of stopping the attack like doubling over the back of a chair or standing on the head.

The important thing to remember during the attack is the avoidance of panic. Of the thousands of paroxysmal heart irregularities that occur each day, perhaps 99 per cent-plus are over and done with in a very few moments.

BY JERRY BENNETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON, (NEA) — Beleagered officials of the Central Intelligence Agency can take satisfaction from an incident at National Areonautics and Space Administration when Astronaut Alan Shepard came to town for his hero's welcome. Turns out that the CIAers are not the only experts who slip occasionally.

That morning, NASA scientists flocked into their auditorium to watch the event on TV. The sound konked out, and no amount of frantic tinkering could fix it.

Finally a secretary brought in a small transistor radio.

Gadgeteer Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) is suffering similar embarrassment. He has invented an electronic flagpole and installed it at his Phoenix, Ariz., home.

The sun triggers an electronic eye, which starts a motor that raises the pole, with flag attached, out of a large canister. At dark, the pole lowers.

Goldwater reluctantlly admits that the gadget still has a few bugs. The flag has been seen flying at night.

Still another gadget victim is Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health.

After being introduced at a convention by LeRoy Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters and former Governor of Florida, Ribicoff recalled the last time Collins presented him.

"It was a national convention and television was involved," Ribicoff explained. "Governor Collins had arranged for my speech to be carried on a teleprompter. The only trouble was that in front of 180 million people the teleprompter broke down.

"So today, I brought my own speech—minus teleprompter."

Najeeb E. Halaby, director of the Federal Aviation Agency, deplored at a press conference working conditions of some FAA personnel. As an example, he pointed to a medical project being conducted in an old Navy locker room. Explained Halaby:

"And from the fragrance of the laboratory, I'll bet there are still some old sweat socks lying around."

Don McBride, assistant to Sen. Bob Kerr (D-Okla.) is widely known for his roses. Other day a friend asked him the secret of his success.

"Why it's simple," Don replied. "My wife has a green thumb, I have a strong back."

Three former New York street gang members arrived here to plug a movie called "The Young Savages," in which they have roles. After a Motion Picture Assn. party, they were taken on a tour.

Upon seeing the 555-foot-high Washington Monument, Richard Velez, 19, exclaimed:

"Man, what a groovey scene. Like a nail pushing out of the ground."

Kennedy Before Congress Tried to Cover Too Much

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 25 — There was an impression of confusion and disorder in the way President Kennedy's address to Congress was prepared for delivery and in the actual delivery.

The joint session of the Senate and House didn't hear verbatim the speech which was distributed by the White House to the press about three hours earlier.

Whole sections—approximately 1,500 words—were deleted or changed as the President spoke. The reason given is that this was necessary so as not to use up too much television time. Mr. Kennedy spoke for 44 minutes.

Full Text in "Record"

After it was over, the announcement was made by the White House that the "Congressional Record" would publish the full text of the speech, including not only the brief passages which the President added extemporaneously but also the sections which were eliminated as he spoke.

What then becomes the official text of the President's speech? What was transmitted to the Congress of the United States as the official recommendation of the Chief Executive? Does the "interpolated" version constitute an official expression?

Often in the past a President has made slight changes as he spoke or has added a sentence or two here and there, but the "Congressional Record" would usually print the stenographic report of what was actually said.

Puzzling Item Dropped

Perhaps it was a good thing Mr. Kennedy did some editing. For in the prepared copy given to the press there occurs this puzzling statement:

"Too often we have accepted a merely defensive role. Too often we have let ourselves appear as friends of the status quo—and the status quo may be $50 a year. Meanwhile the pressure of the totalitarian conspiracy mount higher every day, as one nation after another, by internal more often than external means, finds its freedom under attack."

What does the "$50 a year" have to do with it?

Coolly Received

As delivered, the address was more than 6,000 words in length. Anything that runs forty-four minutes tends to tire the audience, and it was apparent that many members of Congress received the speech in a rather indifferent mood—judging by the relatively few manifestations of applause in comparison with the numerous outbursts when Mr. Kennedy appeared last time before a joint session.

It was most unfortunate that the President decided to cover so much ground in a single message. For it would have been far more effective if he had devoted a separate message or communication on different days to each of the important topics that he discussed. Thus, the problem of outer space and the importance of research, including the prospective trip to the moon by some American astronaut, would have made more of an impression on Congress if it had been the subject of a single message.

Before Going Away

As it was, Mr. Kennedy tried to cover too much ground, and perhaps the reason was that he is going to Europe soon and sought to get off his mind and into the minds of members of Congress the point of view of the Administration on many things. Or perhaps it was the desire for publicity through television that caused the President's advisers to persuade him to deliver an omnibus message. The orderly conduct of the government's business and the need for a thorough presentation of current issues to the Congress should, it would seem, outweigh the passion for television exposures.

There is really little new in the President's address. He asks for more Federal appropriations. He hopes that the budget will not be too far out of balance. He is pleased that economic recovery is on the way. He is right also in asking for the small amount of money needed for the United States Information Agency broadcasts to other countries.

General Terms

As for the major recommendations about military reorganization and defense programs, these were presented by Mr. Kennedy in very general terms. The program he recommends for man-power development and training, to give several hundred thousands of workers new occupational skills, is a step in the right direction.

With respect to the coming meetings with Premier Khrushchev, Mr. Kennedy insisted in his message that "no formal agenda is planned and no negotiations will be undertaken" but that there is to be a "personal exchange of views." He added:

"Yet it is important to know that our patience at the bargaining table is nearly inexhaustible, though our credulity is limited—that our hopes for peace are unfailing, while our determination to protect our security is resolute."

These are generalities—more words added to the thousands that have been uttered in recent weeks in the hope of impressing Khrushchev.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Jimmy Reston, the statesman-reporter of the New York Times Washington office, writes that reporters ought to be "discreet" when President Kennedy is engaged in an underground war all over the world.

What is the guy talking about, anyway?

This is a whiff of the same gas that his boss, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, used to bloviate in orations at Columbia University advocating "objective" journalism out of one ear and "interpretive" stuff from the other. When you tell the truth you are objective. When you slant it according to your bigotries or politics, you are interpreting.

But a reporter always should just get the facts, write them and let the publishers decide how much the public intelligence can cope with. We should not concern ourselves, we inkstained wretches, whether something we write will be news to Moscow, or something the Kremlin got from the State Department weeks ago. I feel justified in assuming that with all the spies there have been in our government since Roosevelt moved in in 1933, the odds are that Moscow had it long before I got it. This is intended to seem a little flippant and worldly, but I hope you will detect a faint note of sorrow. Because it is no laughing matter that Kennedy is doing buck-jumps over leakage of information to Cuba and that the chief Times fellow in the Washington Bureau is perhaps giving us the nix out of the same office which drenched us with all that Matthews copy about the noble, democratic nature of Fidel Castro.

On Aug. 30, 1960, Earl E. T. Smith, who had lately been our ambassador in Havana, testified before a subcommittee of the judiciary that when he was appointed in 1957 he went to the State Department and got his "briefing" from Herbert Matthews of the New York Times, who eulogized Castro as a Robin Hood. Smith agreed that Batista ran a crooked government but remarked that 1957,, under Batista, was the best economic year in Cuba's history, yet "various agencies" of the United States directly and indirectly helped to overthrow Batista and raise Castro to power. Smith said the State Department obviously would like to have the support of the New York Times."

Here is a praphrase of a portion of Smith's testimony:

"Three front page articles in the New York Times in early 1957 by Herbert Matthews served to inflate Castro to world stature and recognition. Until then, Castro had been just another bandit in the mountains with a handful of followers who terrorized the peasants. After the Matthews articles which likened Castro to Lincoln he was able to get followers and funds in Cuba and the United States and much of the American press pictured him as Robin Hood."

After all that, last November, Lester Markel, the Sunday editor of the Times, wrote a circular letter to a lot of newspaper publishers on behalf of a committee of editors trying to raise a kitty to bring about "better relations in the world" by improving the flow of news between nations. Currently, Markel wrote, there were distortions and the United States was badly represented in the Comunist areas, in the uncommitted areas and "even among our allies."

As lately as last December, Matthews, in a lecture at Yale, abused the United States for an unfriendly attitude toward Castro and insisted still that Castro was not a Communist.

Well, the place to look for danger is not in the hearts of great heroic patriots like Major General Edwin A. Walker, who was relieved of his command of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany for approving some principles of the John Birch Society. The place to look is in the Pentagon where Major Peress was promoted notwithstanding Senator Joe McCarthy's expose and the general who promoted him was himself promoted by Ike's connivance after Ike had joined a whole pack of broadcasters, journalists and miscellany in abusing Joe.

President Kennedy was no novice when, to propitiate Eleanor Roosevelt in his 1960 campaign, he repudiated McCarthy, long in his grave, who had been good enough to help elect him to the Senate in 1952.

Would Kennedy be better off, or worse, if he had disowned Mrs. Roosevelt instead?

To me, the Birch Society is a pro-American league of angry individuals who well may be compared to the early Fascisti. One of these days a club of patriots may at last lay it down and make it stick that a patriot is not a scoundrel for parading his hatred of those who exert themselves as much to abuse Robert Stripling as to excuse Alger Hiss.

A 55-year-old Kerhonkson man is in Veterans Memorial Hospital suffering from injuries sustained when his car overturned at 1:50 a. m. today on Route 52 about 2½ miles east of Ellenville.

Fay George Rowlee, Kerhonkson, was traveling east upgrade on Route 52 and while making a left curve his car went off the road on the right, ran up a rock bank and overturned. The car came to rest on its left side.

Trooper William Shurter of the Ellenville substation investigated. At the hospital Rowlee's condition was reported fair. He is suffering from a laceration over the right eye and possible internal injuries. Under sedation at the hospital it was impossible to interview him to ascertain the cause of the accident.

West Gets Bombarded With Damaging Hail

By CHARLES R. DOUGLAS
(Freeman Staff Writer)

This is the third in a series of articles on Weather Modification experiments as conducted in the Hudson Valley and elsewhere in the nation.

Northeastern Colorado, say the experts, experiences the heaviest bombardments of damaging hail, but as we all probably know, they happen about everywhere and mostly without the slightest warning except that given by storms which set out with ordinary portent.

Scientists have been keeping trained eyes on Colorado where it has been reported that 94 per cent of some "600 individual thunderstorm cells" have been known to contain hail.

Research there, headed by Dr. Schleusener, therefore, is important, as are the 1959 findings of the Weather Modification Company.

Optimist About Hail

Dr. Schleusener, in a recent letter to this writer, said, "The data available on the effects of hail suppression efforts do not permit one to draw definite conclusions . . . While it is evident that at the present time a cure for the problem of hail has not been found, I am nevertheless inclined to be an optimist in believing that in the long run it will be possible to modify, at least to some effect, the damaging effects from these storms."

Dr. Schleusener, in a report to the National Science Foundation, said that after a detailed study of the 1959 operation, his attitude had changed from that of "a complete skeptic to that of a cautious optimist." He believed, he said, that the operation "did provide some evidence that cloud seeding can modify favorably—at least on some occasions — hailstorms and rainstorms in a beneficial manner."

A phase of his report, he noted, indicates "that only a small hail suppression effect and/or a precipitation increase is required to give a net economic benefit equal to or greater than the cost of the weather modification program."

Points to Wheat Loss

In citing figures intended only to show "the potential value of success in attempts at weather modification," the report notes a winter wheat loss "in excess of $2,600,000" over a period of 1948 through 1957 in three counties of the western state.

The Weather Modification Company, in its report on the 1959 project conducted for the Northeast Colorado Hail Suppression Association, notes that the latter was "fortunate to have a research group under the able leadership" of Dr. Schlesener to undertake "certain evaluation work completely independent of the cloud-seeding group."

This would be the type study provided for the Hudson Valley Area if Dr. Schaefer's plans develop at the State University College at Albany. Phases of a report by Dr. Schaefer on hailstorms and hailstones on the western great plains will be dealt with here later.

Project Lasts 124 Days

In citing the report by the Colorado State University Research group, the Weather Modification Company, in its conclusion, notes that "Of particular implication are the remarks concerning the possible economic benefit that would be associated with a possible hail suppression effect or precipitation increase. Here it is indicated that benefits derived from 2.5 per cent increase in precipitation over the target would equal the cost of the weather modification program undertaken in 1959."

The Colorado project lasted 124 days, of which 52 were listed as "seeding days." Five airplanes were used on the project and they completed 219 flights. Used also for seeding were 135 ground generators.

The full report on the Colorado project is an extensive one and another of much detail covers the Blue Ridge Hail Supression Project conducted in 1959 for the Blue Ridge Weather Modification Association, Martinsburg, West Virginia, phases of which will be given in this series.

Man Accidentally Shot in Car Dies

Charles Becker, 22, Central Islip, L. I., died at Greene County Memorial Hospital Thursday from wounds he suffered on Sunday, May 21, when he was accidentally shot.

Becker was a rear seat passenger in a car operated by Francis McCarthy, 37, of Central Islip. As the car rounded a curve on Route 26, Town of Greenville, a loaded rifle in the front seat shifted toward the driver.

John Dederick, 16, Oak Hill, Greene County, reached for the gun. It fired and the bullet passed through the car seat and struck Becker.

A $10 fine was imposed for carrying a loaded gun in a car.

Attempted Burglary Reported at Saugerties

The second attempt to burglarize the Empire Super Market, West Bridge Street, Saugerties early this morning was apparently thwarted by Saugerties Village police. Entry was not gained and nothing was reported missing by the store manager.

Village Patrolman Gordon Keeley on car patrol noticed a wooden ladder standing against the back wall of the market which was burglarized early in December. He radioed to Sgt. J. Keely at headquarters and both checked the premises.

Patrolman Keeley said the door showed evidence of tampering.

Richard McNulty, the store manager was called and after a thorough check said nothing was missing. The manager said he did not recognize the ladder and that it did not belong to the store.

On December 2, the Empire market was forcibly entered, the safe damaged and only cigarettes, candy and food taken. At that time the dial was knocked off the safe and the burglars made their exit through the back door.

50 Filipinos Die

MANILA (AP)—At least 50 people have died of gastroentertis since Tuesday in a village in the mountain province of Luzon, the Philippine News Service said today.

About 100 others were reported ill. No other details were given.

Panel Discusses

camp inspections, was also present.

Glen W. Bennett, Albany District supervisor for Division of Industrial Relations of New York State Department of Labor, explained the necessity of labor camps and crew leader registrations.

New legislation requires either the grower or the crew leader, whichever is responsible for the payroll, to keep records instead of both as was formerly requested.

Work done on piece-rate basis is shown on payroll as total number pieces and rate per piece, hours spent on this basis are not required. Of course, any work paid for on hourly basis is so reported.

Cite New Regulations

After January 1, 1962, he stated, all growers who recruit and employ five or more workers will be required to apply for a Migrant Labor Camp registration. At present the law reads "recruit and house 10 or more workers." He, too, commented that applications from this area were more complete and easier to process than most areas.

George Johnson, director of the local office of Social Security, called attention to new regulation of crew leader registration with Social Security Administration. He cautioned growers to ask crew leaders for their identification cards and to record their numbers on reports to that office. Reports from this county, he said, although not complete were much better than on a national level.

Manuel Collazo, field representative of Migration Division of Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, explained the advantages of hiring workers from the island under contract. This contract requires worker to carry an insurance and employer to carry Workmen's Compensation to cover medical and hospital expenses in case of injury or death while in the states. This fact also relieves the burden of the local Welfare Department which is often called when the worker is not under contract.

William N. Palmer, Ulster County agricultural agent, stated the services of his office were available for providing any information concerning new orders and regulations.

The good relationship of the growers and the representatives of the various agencies is proven by the cooperative spirit shown by both, in meeting the problems involved in the use of seasonal farm help.

Others from the New York State Employment Service attending were Anthony C. Hart, manager of Kingston Local Office, and Harrison B. Slocum, Farm Employment representative, Newburgh Local Office.

Served as Moderator

Henry Smith, farm employment representative for New York State Employment Service in Kingston, who served as moderator for the panel pointed out that the function of his office is to supply information to employers on availability of domestic labor.

There are four sources of such labor including the local supply. Other sources are the employment offices in nearby counties and New York City, Southern migrants, and contract workers from Puerto Rico.

In 1960, he said, an estimated peak of 3,200 workers were in the county about September 15 during apple harvest. He further stated that the employment service was instrumental in recruiting some 1,500 workers for the area during that year. Nearly half of these workers were southern migrants.

Treasury Notes Available In Very Wide Assortment

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "A friend suggested that I look into Treasury bonds or notes. I lean toward the latter because I don't want to tie up my funds for more than a few years. What are they yielding now, and can I redeem them before maturity without loss of accumulated interest?"—J. C.

A) In some types of securities, your choice is pretty limited. However, Treasury notes are a different story.

They come in almost every coupon imaginable, from 1½ per cent notes due in October, 1961, to 5 per cent notes due in August, 1964. They mature on various dates, ranging from one issue coming due this August to another maturing in April, 1966.

The Government sells Treasury notes with maturities and coupons which are set to take advantage of the money situation existing at the time of the offering. Some of the lower coupons, such as the 1½'s of April, 1965, sell at a substantial discount to yield around 2.9 per cent. The 5's of 1964 have been trading at a premium, yielding about 3.1 per cent.

Treasury notes cannot be redeemed prior to maturity, but you can sell them in the open market. They are sold "plus accrued interest," which means that the buyer pays you the interest which has accumulated since the last coupon was paid.

Q) "I am interested in a stock called Macke Vending. Can you tell me about the company, its location and your rating of the stock for growth?" — K. L.

A) Macke Vending (ASE) is the largest vending machine operator in the Washington, D. C. area and also operates along the Middle Atlantic seaboard. Growth has been quite rapid. You must understand that in buying this stock, you are paying a high premium for growth and that there is an element of market risk which you must assume. If you can afford to do this, I think Macke is a good choice in its field.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Frost said Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson of New York, in a telephone conversation, "offered complete cooperation on the law-enforcement front, and I promised the same on behalf of Ontario."

The conference will try to establish the extent of crime connection between Ontario and neighboring New York, probe for weaknesses in law - enforcement measures and study ways of correcting them.

Frost said the arrest in Ontario this week of three men indicted in New York in connection with a large heroin smuggling operation indicates the clos ecooperation prevailing among Canadian, Ontario and New York police.

Hungarian Bares Eichmann's Role In Boy's Killing

By THOMAS A. REEDY

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — A Hungarian Jew pressed into slave labor testified today that he saw Adolf Eichmann take part in the murder of a Jewish boy accused of stealing cherries from the Gestapo chief's garden.

The eyewitness account had the impact of a thunderclap on the packed courtroom, where in the six weeks since the trial started Eichmann has been accused mainly of high-level direction of the Nazi slaughter of six million Jews.

Avraham Gordon, 35, now a guard at a copper processing plant in Israel, was a boy of 16 to 17 when he worked on tank traps and gun emplacements in the gardens of the villa Eichmann conscripted for his Budapest headquarters in 1944.

"It was the first murder I ever saw," Gordon said. "Later I saw many."

The witness said Eichmann and his bodyguard, Slavek, beat a Jewish boy of 16 or 17, named Shalomon, to death for stealing cherries from the orchard nearby.

"We never believed he did steal any," Gordon said.

Cross-examined by defense counsel Robert Servatius, Gordon refused to budge from his story.

Gordon's story drew the prosecution case against Eichmann in Hungary near a close—the climax point for both the state and the defense—because it was in Hungary that the Gestapo bureaucrat took personal command in the field of "Jewish affairs". While Eichmann was there in the summer of 1944, Hungary's 600,000 Jews, the last big group left in Europe, were deported to the death camps.

1960 Term Was Most Active of Unit's History

Robert J. Heaney of 5 Guyton Street, retiring commandant of Ulster Detachment Marine Corps League, was honored at a recent dinner a Hoppey's Restaurant as the leader "for what turned out to be the most active year of the detachment's history."

The largest single project of the year and also of the entire 15-year activity of the organization was the 1960 Marine Corps League state convention which was held in Kingston.

Commandant Heaney had the responsibility of coordinating and planning the entire sessions with help from his convention committee.

He also conducted the annual Marine League ball which also went down into annals of the organization as an outstanding success.

In addition to these activities, Ulster Detachment during 1960 engaged in many public functions and increased its Marine scholarship program.

Heaney, who served in the Korean conflict, expressed his appreciation for the testimonial when he said "This honor is appreciated more than mere words can state." He added that he would continue his efforts and dedication to the organization to help it prosper and grow.

Heaney, who is employed by the Kingston IBM plant, is married to the former Miss Florence DeCicco. They are the parents of a daughter, Linda, age 5.

Abducted and Killed

Socialites Found Slain in Jersey; Police Hold Pair

By ALAN LEVIN

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP)—The partly disrobed bodies of two socialites were found early today with the white Cadillac in which they had been abducted. One woman was strangled and the second was run over by the big car as she apparently tried to flee.

Several hours later police arrested two young Negroes and held them on suspicion of murder. Detective Daniel Hennessy said both denied any part in the crime but the officer said "They've both implicated themselves so far that they can't get out of it."

The dead were identified as Mrs. Elliot C. Ewell, 49, Westfield, the wife of the executive vice president of the Mack Truck Co. here, and Mrs. Robert Tyson, 50, Plainfield, whose husband is a New York stockbroker and also an executive with Mack.

The suspects are Lorelle Parks, 22 Plainfield, and Joseph Maxey, 23, Dunellen. Both are employes of Dom's Auto Sales in Plainfield.

Hennessy said the keys to the Cadillac as well as a wallet belonging to one of the woman were found in Parks' pocket. He said both men came here recently from the South.

Capt. Arthur Phillips tabbed the two as "definitely the men" sought in the double slaying.

Mrs. Ewell was found crumpled under the right front wheel of the car. Detectives said she must have been run down several times. Mrs. Tyson's body was on the floor in the back seat of the car. Articles of clothing were found in a field nearby.

Dr. Bernard Ehrenberg, Union County physician, called it "the most vicious crime I have ever seen." He said the women will be examined to determine if they had been assaulted sexually.

Two patrolmen discovered the car with the bodies in a small wooded lane in a Negro neighborhood. The lane deadends into a creek. Police were called by a cab driver, Wilbur Morris, who witnessed the abduction shortly after 1 a.m.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABONS PARK, Mass., May 26. Properly located acreage should be the best hedge against inflation, owing to its limited amount and the growth in population. I spent two months last fall studying land in Europe (I am making no report now on the Latin and South American countries or Canada.) As there was little interest in tourist travel in Europe during the winter. I have held these notes until now.

Owing to Great Britain's desire to break up all unproductive estates of available acreage, I know of no bargains in acreage in England—although raw acreage can be purchased in Scotland and Wales. However, I have traveled 900 miles by automobile in Ireland. There are few industries in Ireland due to the lack of natural resources. The people are healthy, happy, and willing to work. The youth of Ireland—outside of the few large cities—are happy living on farms which they expect to inherit from their parents. As a result, very little of the good farming land is for sale in Ireland, even at high prices. Land which sells in Kansas for $100 per acre cannot be bought in Ireland for less than $400 per acre.

The mountain land in the western portion, which is good only for grazing sheep, can be bought $10 or so per acre, depending upon its accessibility. Lakes and rivers abound in Ireland, which makes it good for pasturing. In fact, the acreage in Ireland may be divided into three groups. (1) Good farm land in the Golden Midlands;" (2) pasture land with good green grass but with not much depth of soil, which sells for about $150 per acre; and (3) rocky mountain land only for sure-footed sheep and cattle, but preferably in the southern part near the ocean.

France, Italy, and Other Countries

The above comments as to prices regarding Ireland apply also to France, Switzerland and Italy. No good acreage is available in Belgium, Holland or West Germany. Not only is the fertile land there in production, but the farmers control the politics, tariffs, and even prices. Italy, however, is fast becoming an industrial nation with waterpower and other natural resources. U. S. manufacturers should watch Italy and Switzerland (and also Japan), although these countries now have much unemployment.

Europe has natural resources, including navigable rivers, iron, coal, chemicals and waterpower. It also has a climate which encourages people to work. Wages are fairly low and there is no scarcity of labor in most localities. This explains why so many American manufacturers are buying or building plants in Europe. Labor unions exist, but with the exception of those in France, are not now much of a handicap.

My comments regarding the three classes of land in Ireland also apply to Spain. Spain has waterpower, both developed and undeveloped. It has coal, oil, and chemicals. Wages are low and the cost of living is reasonable. Industries are springing up in Spain and the climate is fair, for both workers and tourists. Perhaps as a foreign hedge against inflation I would advise the purchase of well-located land in Spain, especially in the suburbs of Madrid, Toledo, Barcelona, and Valencia. The big real estate profits in Spain will take place in "Suburbia" — which is now just starting.

Of course, no one should invest in any foreign country without spending a month therein and seeing the land personally. Spain has several different kinds of terrain and climate — dry and wet, mountainous and fertile, cold and warm. Most of what I say about Spain also applies to Portugal. I advise the southern coastal portion of Spain. The west coastal country is warm in winter and may be compared to our Florida. Southwest of Barcelona toward Gibraltar there are several very attractive places. Given the same altitude, the temperature should grow warmer as one travels southwest from Barcelona or Madrid. Malaga is supposed to have the best all-round climate of any city in Spain.

Let me describe in some detail the area from Barcelona eastward to the French border where one approaches the French Riviera. One can reach Barcelona by steamship, or plane, or railroad train. From Barcelona to the French border is about 75 miles. One can make the trip in 3 hours by automobile or in one hour by electric train. The first town which interested me was San Pedro. This is about 20 miles east of Barcelona and has a good beach with medium-priced hotels. The next was Plana on the Sea, which is rapidly developing somewhat like our New York Coney Island. The next point of interest is Lloret de Mar. These places are old towns with very narrow streets, while the sandy beaches for sunning and bathing are superb. All these places have numerous hotels at all prices.

A fourth place of interest is Tossa by the Sea. This place is more expensive than the others and now appeals only to gay young people who want to bathe or lie in the sun all day and dance all night! Furthermore, the highway between Lloret and Tossa is very winding, with over 20 dangerous hairpin turns. Those going from Barecelona to Tossa or beyond should take the electric railway and avoid these hairpin curves with great high cliffs on one side and 1000-foot drops on the other.

What Land to Buy

Now for the final and most important reason why I think good money could be made east of Barcelona by those who are willing to go there and live for a month and look carefully about. Here are three simple rules to follows: (1) Buy well-drained farm land between the highway and the ocean even if it is bisected by the electric railway. Insist that your land go down to the ocean. (2) Buy land now cultivated so that the rent which some reliable farmer will pay you will take care of the taxes. (3) Be sure your title is good, which means buy it through some reliable local banker or real estate agent. These rules apply to buying land for speculation in all of the above countries.

You will soon realize that situations exist for profit which I have not found in the suburbs of any large city in the world. From the time you leave San Pedro you will find small farms located all along the line adjoining good residences. I cannot give you prices per acre because equally good producing soil appears to sell at entirely different prices. You must check up on a large number of such farm plots and then buy the cheapest; but insist on the above three conditions and, of course, get your land in a good neighborhood with good neighbors. This you can do only by living for one month between San Pedro and Lloret by the Sea.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

NEW YORK (AP) — "Close-Up," the ABC public affairs program, has concentrated largely on the big, international picture to date—communism in Cuba, nationalism among new nations. Next week, however, its sights will focus on something close to home: our citizens who are physically soft.

The program, next Tuesday night (10-10:30 Eastern Daylight Time) is called "The Flabby American," and the principal viewer-with-alarm will be a small brunette woman of 47 with a stunning figure which is decidedly unflabby. Her name is Bonnie Prudden and her profession is physical fitness.

"The problem," said Miss Prudden, mother of two, "is largely caused today by women with children. They protect their young so carefully that children today never really get a chance to develop their muscles.

Miss Prudden says today's crop of youngsters is in much worse physical shape than their parents and grand parents.

"People who are 40 or older once were active. And muscles, even when long out of use, have memories. Right now I can get a man or woman over 40 back into good physical shape in six weeks: and it takes me two years to do the same thing for children 14 to 16."

Modern conveniences, she says, help produce flabby muscles.

"House work today is from the elbow—unfortunately there is no longer much need for bending and reaching," she said. "Aging, after all, is merely moving in a narrower circumference and that is what these aids are permitting us to do."

Former presidential press secretary James Hagerty will turn newscaster—temporarily — as a member of the ABC team covering President Kennedy's European trip. Polly Bergen is so busy with motion picture and night-club engagements she won't be back on the "To Tell the Truth" panel until fall.

Recommended tonight: "Way Out," CBS, 9:30-10:30 (Eastern Daylight Time) — "False Face," with Alfred Ryder, a chiller evoking the ghost of the Hunchback of Notre Dame.

No Clinic Monday

The routine chest X-ray clinic regularly scheduled at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital will not be held Monday morning, May 29, due to the holiday. The next regular clinic will be held on Wednesday, May 31.

Leaders Prepare To Curb Public Hearings on CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders today were poised for quick action to curb plans for public hearings on U.S. intelligence activities.

The leaders were taken by surprise Thursday when the House Rules Committee named a five-man subcommittee to determine if a full scale investigation should be made of the Central Intelligence Agency and similar top secret agencies in the Defense and State departments.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., Rules Committee chairman, gave the subcommittee authority to conduct public hearings and summon witnesses.

The action came without fanfare and was approved without objection by any Rules Committee member.

House leaders said they would try to persuade Rep. Ray J. Madden, D-Ind., the subcommittee chairman, not to conduct public hearings with non-congressional witnesses.

A few hours before the committee action, President Kennedy, in a special address to a joint session of Congress, had said, "Our whole intelligence effort must be reviewed, and its coordination with other elements of policy assured. This is not a matter on which public discussion is useful."

Shortly after the Cuban invasion fiasco last month, the President named a special task force headed by retired Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former Army chief of staff, to study possible changes in the U.S. intelligence program.

OUR ANCESTORS by Quincy

"What—sell on the installment plan? Are you trying to ruin this establishment?"

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

This is the first time I ever owned or handled a "stampless cover." These are sheets of paper, which are folded like envelopes, and stamped by hand before stamps were used in this country. During the Civil War, when paper was scarce anything which could be folded flat and written on and sent was used. Often wallpaper was used. This one I just acquired for 10 cents at the Stamp Exhibition at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Saturday and Sunday, May 13 and 14, by the Stamptrotter's Society and Upstate New York Precancel Society.

This is a Mobile shipping and commercial list, dated "Mobile, Saturday morning, Nov. 21, 1835." It has two pages, eight and a half by 11, like a typewriting sheet, first sheet printed, second a handwritten business letter. Here are some news in 1835 from Mobile: "During the past week, business has improved. The rivers have risen some, and in consequence boats arrive more frequently, and more activity prevails in the market. . . . Cotton: Out accounts last week, closed with the anticipation that in consequence of the very unfavorable advice from England, no extensive operations would take place in the cotton market without considerable reduction in price. . . . They were then selling some 2,000 bales going for around 15 cents for "middling to good qualities." If England cried then, when in the midst of our Civil War, cotton went nearly double that, and threw many Britishers out of work, then they realized how important this little new country of United States was, to their well being and commerce. Cotton was really king during the Civil War years.

According to this very careful report our United States was selling cotton back in 1835 to Britain, of course, also to France, to northern Europe, to many other countries and of course to our own northern states, all are listed here, too numerous to mention.

In case anyone would like a list of "Vessels in the Port of Mobile," dated Nov. 21, 1835, it is all here. There are some 22 ships, giving their destination, if any, some printed "uncertain" and the consignees. Four are listed as "Barques" and I think the name of the captain, like "Ceylon, Hamilton, tons, 281, Uncertain, Toulmin H & Co." There are 24 listed under "Brigs." There are also some 20 schooners. If anyone thinks that perhaps his relatives sailed any of these I will gladly try and find the name.

Here are some of the "imports" Mobile, our southern port was receiving. From Havana on the Brig Neptune, there was 50 boxes of sugar; 181 bags of coffee, 63 M segars; 65 bunches bananas. From Cincinnati on the steamboat Ophelia came 251 pieces baggings; 203 coils rope; 44 bbls. whiskey; 358 do apples. Here are some of the items from the wholesale prices current, Nov. 21, 1835: Bale rope, bacon, butter, coffee, candles, flour, hay, lumber, lard, mackerel, potatoes, pork, rice, raisins, sugar, salt and whiskey. For instance under salt: No "sale by the quantity. It is selling from the stores at $1.62 up to $1.75 per sack. Received this week 1200 sacks." They received 1200 boxes of fresh bloom raisins direct from Malaga, selling for 95 cents for quarter boxes. That was some 25 years before the Civil War, enough of everything for everyone, who desired to work for it.

Jury Indicts 3 NYC Men in Scrap Theft

The men are William J. Doran, 65, of Cheektowaga; George W. Lain, 60, Amherst; and Reginald H. Eyre, 55, of Buffalo.

FBI agents charged the men with the theft of at least 10 tons of brass from the car May 12. The car had been switched onto a siding at a salvage yard, where approximately $8,000 worth of brass was removed, the agents said.

JFK Not Too Specific on His Bold Dash Plea

Many Questions Left Unanswered By President's Talk to Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy — while walking a cautious military path — acknowledged in his talk to Congress the need for a bold dash down the social and economic road around the world.

But he still has to show by performance how far and how fast he intends to go.

His caution on the military side shows up in instances such as these: When Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson returned from Southeast Asia he said, in Kennedy's name, he had promised the backward nations there this country would make "any sacrifices" in the fight against communism.

No Plan for Troops

But—he said there are no plans to send U.S. troops.

Kennedy could have sent troops into Laos to try to stop the Communist push there, but he didn't. If he had, the Red Chinese undoubtedly would have moved in, thus creating another Korea.

American-backed South Viet Nam is plagued by Communist guerrillas. The United States will help the Vietnamese with military supplies and training and with economic aid. But there has been no public promise American troops will be sent in.

In short: Although Kennedy talked Thursday of increasing and streamlining America's non-nuclear fighting forces, he mentioned no specific place where he intended using them.

His whole talk was anti-Communist. It was also non-belligerent, which is perhaps a requirement if his meeting with Premier Khrushchev in Vienna in June is to have any success.

But Kennedy sounded more active, imaginative and determined when he spoke of filling the needs of the masses in the backward countries in order to make communism unnecessary or unattractive.

There has been—so far as this writer knows—no concentrated effort, as a policy, to compel the leaders of the backward nations receiving American help to make sure the masses receive the benefits.

In a number of places receiving such help there has been corruption while the gap between the very rich and the very poor was intense and deep.

Effort to Help Masses

You might read into Kennedy's words that a continuing effort will be made in the future to see that the needs of the masses are filled. But he didn't say that in so many words.

He did express awareness of the need for such a policy by saying of the worldwide revolution by people seeking independence and a good life:

"They seek an end to injustice, tyranny and exploitation. They seek a beginning—a jungle road to bring a doctor when a child is ill—a schoolhouse to unlock the mysteries of knowledge—seed and fertilizer, jobs and food, a chance to live and be more than just alive. Those are the aims of their revolution."

Then the President did a remarkable thing when it is remembered the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sought to make the expense of foreign aid palatable to Americans by saying it was being given in "enlightened self-interest."

Kennedy — at least verbally — cast out that philosophy by saying:

The revolutions of the backward peoples in search of a fuller life is one "which we would support regardless of the cold war, and regardless of which political or economic route they choose to freedom."

Since he considers communism the negation of freedom, it can be assumed he meant a country choosing communism would be excluded from his wide-ranging promise of help.

But he left the door open for American aid to a variety of social and political systems: democratic, socialistic, capitalistic, or even strong-man governments.

He added: "Too often we have let ourselves appear as friends of the status quo — and the status quo may be $50 a year."

But what is he going to do so that America will no longer be the friend of such a status quo?

For instance: Will he insist the rich in a Latin-American country getting U.S. aid must divest themselves of enormous land holdings so more of the poor people can own their own land? He didn't say.

This new program of Kennedy's —if he tries to make it a reality in the years ahead—will have to take many forms and need a lot of explaining. He didn't explain it in his talk to Congress.

We The Women

Woman's Handbag Totes Her Beauty and Business

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Now that some man has come out boldly in defense of the cluttered desk, perhaps a woman can get by with a defense of the feminine equivalent, the cluttered handbag.

In answer to any man who has ever tried to be funny at the expense of what goes into a woman's handbag — here's our defense:

A handbag is a combination portable desk and dressing table. Its contents can be roughly divided into two categories: beauty and business.

On the business side the essentials are something like this: A billfold and coin purse, a checkbook and fountain pen, bills to be paid and sales slips for articles to be returned, a driver's license, an address book and keys.

On the beauty side are compact, lipstick, rouge, nail file, comb, and maybe a small jar of cleansing cream and a few tissues for a quick facial. Also, if it's a rainy day, there may even be a change of nylons in case those worn get splashed or watermarked. Of course, there may also be some extra bobby pins and a bottle of nail polish for touch-up work.

Dump all that into even the roomiest handbag, and it's bound to look cluttered to anybody except another woman.

And that cluttered bag is as comforting to her as a cluttered desk is to a man. Both figure that if they look long enough they're sure to find anything they want or need.

Installation Meeting Held by Hadassah; Reports, Agenda Told

Mrs. Arthur H. London, 300 Pearl Street, was installed Monday night as president of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah.

Members of the local group, which numbers more than 350 area women, held their final meeting of the year at the Governor Clinton Hotel to install new officers, hear reports of the year's projects and view a musical comedy skit on Hadassah's program. Mrs. Jay Melton, retiring president, presided.

The new president, long active in the Kingston chapter, has served for the past two years as vice president in charge of program.

David Kline, president of the local B'nai B'rith chapter, installed the new slate, including Mrs. Arthur Landesman, first vice president; Mrs. Sidney Treinkman, second vice president; Mrs. Jay Melton, treasurer; Mrs. Philip Rosdol, financial secretary; Mrs. William Buchbinder, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Paul Johnson, secretary to the board; Mrs. Arthur Kaufman, recording secretary; and Mrs. Jerome Strugatz, secretary to the president.

In accepting the presidency, Mrs. London described Hadassah's function as "hoping, helping and healing" and asked members' support in the year ahead. A life membership in Hadassah was presented to the new president by Mrs. Oscar London, her mother-in-law and a former president of the local group.

Mrs. Melton, outgoing president, spoke of her pride in Hadassah's outstanding program of service and thanked the board and members for their assistance over the past two years.

Good Taste Today

May Girl Refuse to Dance?

Q: When at a dance, and a man comes over and asks a girl to dance with him, is it bad manners to refuse? I have heard that it is very rude to turn down anyone who asks you to dance. Also, if one does refuse, must she then sit that dance out or may she dance with someone else? I would appreciate your answering these questions for me.

A: If the man is someone she knows, or the dance a private one where the roof of one's host or hostess is considered an introduction, it would be very rude to refuse to dance except for a very serious reason, such as his being intoxicated. To refuse to dance with one man and then dance immediately with another would be the ultimate in rudeness. At a public dance, she would be right to refuse to dance with a stranger.

Gifts of Money

Q: I was invited to a wedding anniversary reception last week. After all the guests were received, the wife opened the presents and announced the name of each giver. Several of the guests brought money instead of presents and when she opened these envelopes she announced the name of the giver and also the amount each gave. I thought this was in very bad taste. Will you please give me your opinion?

A: I agree with you. She should have said, "A very generous sum of money (or check) from Uncle John."

Ordering Cocktail for Himself

Q: If I should invite a friend, who does not drink alcoholic beverages, to lunch, or dine with me, would it be proper for me to order a cocktail for myself, or would it be rude to have my guest sit with nothing before him (or her) while I have a cocktail?

A: It is quite proper for you to order a cocktail for yourself if when doing so you ask your friend if he (or she) would like a tomato juice or any other non-alcoholic cocktail.

Miss Loren, who arrived here by plane from Rome Thursday, took issue with Italian couturier Emilio Schuberth's contention that Mrs. Kennedy "should wear longer skirts."

Said Miss Loren: "She has a wonderful posture and she is so beautiful and wears her clothes so modestly. I can't see how you can say her dresses are too short."

Bank Porter Gives Away $164 of Cash Box Funds

NEW YORK (AP) — It came from a bank's petty cash box, but it was big money to the bums on the Bowery and Tappan Park, Staten Island.

Staten Island police first got word of what was going on when someone called the St. George station house Wednesday night and said:

"There is a jerk handing out money in Tappan Park. Thought you'd like to know."

Officers found nobody playing Good Samaritan at the park. But across the street from the park is the Staten Island Savings Bank.

The bank's doors were wide open. Guns in hand, detectives entered. All they found was a pail, a mop, and a forced-open cash box.

The last known occupant of the bank had been John A. Johnson, 46, the porter. Police called on Johnson at his Staten Island home.

He still had $362 of $526.50 which had been in the cash box.

Here's Johnson's story, as related by police:

Before going to work he "had a few." At the bank, he found the cash box, forced it open, pocketed the money, and took a ferryboat to Manhattan.

He headed for the Bowery and entered several taverns. In each place he ordered "drinks for the house." Then he meandered along skid row handing out money.

Why did he do it? Because, mumbled Johnny, "I felt sorry for the poor people."

Johnny found out Thursday it isn't always "better to give than receive."

Walker Eclipses X-15 Speed Mark

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Technical delays had begun to bother test pilot Joe Walker. Then finally, on his seventh flight in the X15, he flew the rocket ship to a winged record of 3,370 miles per hour.

"I almost had a phobia about it," Walker, 40, told his wife later.

Grace Walker said her husband was referring to long periods of waiting in the cockpit of the stubby-winged craft, sometimes only to have the flight called off at the last moment.

But the test came off as planned Thursday. Walker's new mark is 296 m.p.h. faster than an X15 flight last April 2 1by Air Force Maj. Bob White.

Only space men Yuri Gagarin and Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. have traveled at greater speeds.

Walker, veteran of fighter pilot service with the 15th Air Force in World War II, was dropped from a B52 mother ship at 45,000 feet Thursday. For 73 seconds he held the X15's throttle wide open.

His peak speed—nearly a mile a second—came during a steep climb at 90,000 feet. Then he switched off the powerful engine and coasted to 110,000 feet before nosing over and gliding back to base.

By comparison, Gagarin hit 17,000 m.p.h. during his orbit around the earth April 12 and Shepard sped 5,100 m.p.h. during his 115-mile rocket climb May 5.

Walker, who earned the Distinguished Flying Cross during his wartime service in Europe, now works for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He's a native of Washington.

Crash Kills Seven In Arizona, Six On Way to Dance

SAFFORD, Ariz (AP)—A splintering two-car crash on a desert highway killed seven persons and injured one Thursday night—including six teen-agers going to a high school graduation dance.

The tragedy stunned this southeastern Arizona town of about 4,500.

A crowd of about 200 gathered at the Safford Hospital—where the injured and dying were brought—and later at funeral homes.

The Arizona Highway Patrol said the youngsters—seven in a car—pulled out from a dirt road onto U.S. Highway 666 about 10:30 p.m., and were hit by Wayne Wamsley, 33, Pima, Ariz. Wamsley, a farm equipment operator, was killed.

Highway patrolman Everett Hall estimated Wamsley's car was traveling at about 70 m.p.h., the other car was going at low speed. He said he could not determine whether the youngsters' car had stopped before turning onto the highway.

The youngsters had just attended the Safford High School graduation of schoolmate Jerry Goodman, 17, son of Graham County assessor Bob Goodman.

They were driving to an Elks' Club dance in Jerry's sedan when they collided with Wamsley's car.

The other dead were Wade West, Ivan Bryce Allen, Joan Robinson, Berta Bigler and Kay Fyffe. All were 17—but Jerry Goodman was the only graduate in the group.

The only survivor in the teenagers' car, Johnny Johns, 17, was hospitalized with minor injuries.

Women of Hurley Grange Lauded For Cancer Work

Mrs. Arthur Freeman, volunteer county director of the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society, was guest speaker at the annual spring luncheon sponsored by the Hurley Grange, Tuesday at the Hurley Firehouse, where they meet every week to make cancer dressings, working from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Mrs. Frank Kruetzfeldt, chairman, reported that 1,020 dozen dressings, 35 bed pads, 189 johnny coats, 166 comfort pillows, 32 bibs and four laundry bags had been made during the past year for the American Cancer Society. She said that 2,637 hours had been donated for this service. These women are not only active with their hands but have also participated in the Cancer Prevention Study, have assisted with transporting patients to the Tumor Clinic, and canvassed for white goods so that this worthwhile project could be carried on.

Mrs. Freeman, in thanking them on behalf of the American Cancer Society, said that they are not only the backbone of their community in giving of their time and service to this vital cause, but also are part of the vast army of volunteers that make up the American Cancer Society. She commended the ladies for their symbol of the American way of life by working together in harmony for the benefit of their fellow-man.

Navy Tries to Find Why Missile Fails

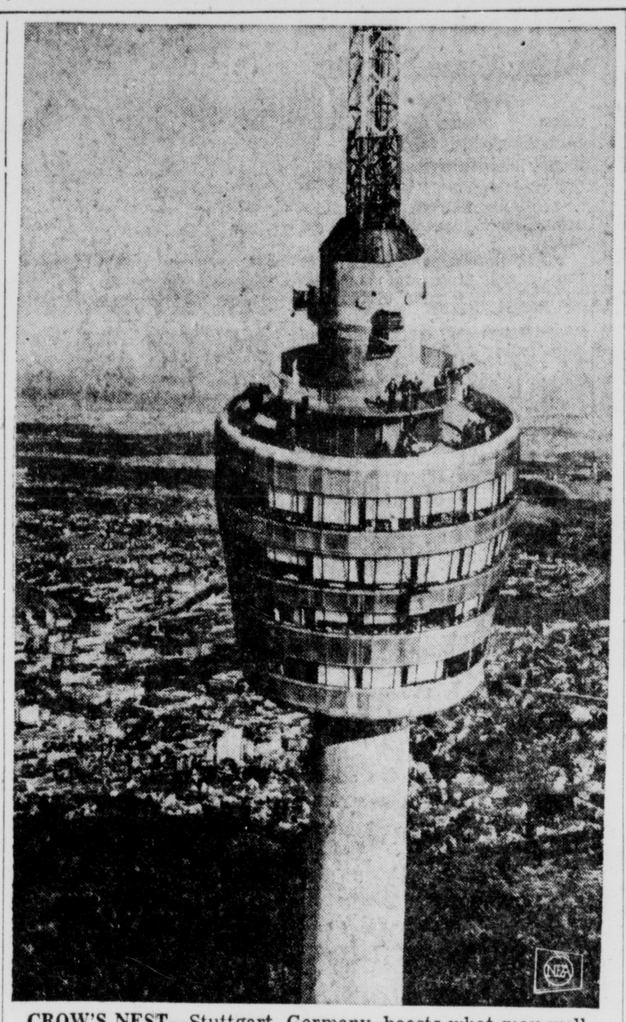
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy today sought to learn why a Polaris missile failed to follow its intended path, causing its deliberate destruction 10 seconds after it was launched from a ship.

The missile was blown apart by the range safety officer Thursday after it had been successfully ejected from the USS Observation Island.

The rocket, a longer-range A2 model, was programmed for a more than 1,600-mile test flight. It was only the third failure in 11 launchings of the A2.



CROW'S NEST—Stuttgart, Germany, boasts what may well be the world's most unique restaurant. It's a three-floor affair located in a television tower high above the city. Breath-taking is the view from the 492-foot high restaurant, reached by elevator. Above it are transmitting room and observation balcony. Antenna mast itself is 692 feet tall.

Don't Pay 'High Dollar' On Your Vacation Jaunt

You'll get the most mileage out of your vacation dollar if you plan early. Seek to cut costs in two areas: transportation and accommodations.

If you are off to your vacation spot by air, explore the chances of joining a charter flight. Subject to Civil Aeronautics Board approval and rate setting, these flights are sponsored by a host of organizations. In most cases you will not be eligible, however, unless you have belonged to the sponsoring group for a specified period.

Before you decide on such a trip you should know that generally older, slower equipment is used and that what you plan to save in fare could be cut if any in your group cancel out. The cost is prorated among the number of passengers on each flight.

You can save money on air travel too, if you book your trip from start to farthest point. You are then allowed stop-overs free of charge.

If you plan to travel by rail, check into the discounts offered to those willing to travel midweek. There also are concessions made for round-trip travel, couples and families.

If you are traveling abroad with a certain amount of leisure, investigate the "Eurailpass" which provides a month of unlimited travel on the European continent for $110. You pay only $23 for 1,000 miles of travel on British and Irish railroads. These passes must be bought before you leave the U.S., are available at no extra cost from travel agencies.

New on the job with only a few days off? Or are you really budget-minded? If you have a yen to sightsee, bus companies offer some exciting trips in the U. S. at around $50 for a four-day jaunt.

Eager to take to the seas? If time is no problem, the tramp steamer can really cut costs. For those who yearn for sea breezes on their two-weeks-with-pay, look into inland waterway trips. It is estimated (by the American Express Company) that 100,000 people will choose this type of vacation this year.

Cheapest transportation of all might be your own car. Here is how you might budget for a family of four:

Expect to spend 21 cents out of each dollar on operating your car; 28 cents for food (which could total $20 a day at restaurants), 23 cents for lodging. This leaves 28 cents for tips, tolls, sightseeing expenses, souvenirs and sodas.

How you can save on accommodations?

Hit resorts in off seasons. At Palm Springs, Calif., a $24-a-day room for two is $12 in summer; in Miami Beach a $22-a-day double room can be had for $9 during July and August. Similar reductions are available in the Caribbean and elsewhere. In early spring and late fall, summer resorts cut their rates and so do European hotels.

Settle for the less fancy. You can see as much, have as much fun if you stay at guest houses, lodges and motels. Many of the new travel books offer fine descriptions of these.

Give camping a whirl. Check the U. S. Forest Service in your area for up-to-the-minute information on campsites. Your biggest expense here could be camping equipment. Perhaps you could rent or borrow this. The William Frederick Press at 55 East 86th St., New York 28, N. Y., has a booklet available (for 25 cents) called "Try Camping This Summer." It is filled with details on needed equipment and costs. Rand McNally has just published "Campground Guide" ($1.95), a family camping directory which lists private and public camp sites in all states but Hawaii.

Say Cooley Sane When Wife Was Murdered

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Three psychiatrists who examined Spade Cooley told a Superior Court judge the ex-bandleader was sane when his wife was murdered.

Cooley, 50, has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to charges he beat Ella Mae Cooley, 37, to death at their ranch home in nearby Willow Springs last April 3.

Judge William Bradshaw announced the findings of the psychiatrists Thursday. A sanity hearing is scheduled Wednesday.

Suzi Jurgensen, Larson Twins Score in Show

Suzi Jurgensen of Woodstock captured the Reserve Western Stock Horse championship and the Larson twins — Kathy and Karen—also scored notable successes in the recent Pleasant Valley horse show.

Miss Jurgensen, a recent finalist in the Page One Queen contest in Kingston, captured the Reserve Western Stock Horse championship. Riding on Little Girl, she took first in the Junior Western Horesmanship, first in the Senior Clover Leaf barrel race; second in West Pleasure horse for enough points to take home the reserve championship.

Twelve year old Kathy Larson on Spider, in the first class in which she ever rode him, took second in the Maiden Hunt Seat Equitation.

The significance of Miss Larson's victory is appreciated when it is considered that this was a class of 17 or 18 entries in the heart of the hunt country and that most entries were riding thoroughbreds. To show that her victory was no fluke, she followed this up with a fifth in the Open Hunt Seat Equitation.

Sister Also Scores

Meanwhile, her twin sister Karen, on Sister Quickly, took fourth in the Maiden Hunt Seat over fences and fourth in English Trail Horse. In English Pleasure, Karen took fifth and Kathy sixth.

These were the only Woodstock riders that showed at Pleasant Valley. Although, many Woodstock riders travel far afield, seldom do many of them appear at the same show in foreign territory, Donald Twine, public relations director of the Woodstock Riding Club, announces.

The Woodstock Riding Club, meanwhile, is readying for first big show of the season—known as the Woodstock Dollar Championship — on Sunday at the Ohayo Mountain ring.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Defense

The Ulster County Civilian Defense Director, Major Edgar Timmerman, in an informative talk this week acquainted members of the Rotary Club with the mechanics of civil defense.

The members were impressed by the tremendous amount of work which has already been accomplishd by the Civilian Defense Command. Rotarians got the comforting assurance that the military is well established throughout the world and is ever on the alert in the event of a nuclear war attempt by the enemy.

Major Timmerman told Rotarians that in an atomic fallout, in all probability, there would be a warning period of an hour or two. The cellar would be the safest area, he said, and persons should be very deliberate in taking all necessities that might be needed in the following 96 hours.

The speaker emphasized the point that it would be most prudent for the Board of Education to appropriate money for shelters when any new schools are built.

Since the subject is so timely, Major Timmerman expressed the hope that people will show greater interest in Civil Defense and make every effort to aid the command.

Planning Topic Of New Column

The Planning Board of Woodstock is today inaugurating a weekly question and answer column on planning and zoning. So many questions have been raised on these subjects that it is felt the residents of Woodstock will welcome this opportunity for discussion on the printed page.

Many questions are similar in nature so the Planning Board feels that this method of answering them will be of real service in informing the residents on matters affecting their welfare.

The column is headed PB-AQ, which stands for Planning Board —Questions and Answers.

Question Box On Planning

In this column the Planning Board (PB) of Woodstock will answer questions (QA) on planning and zoning in the Town of Woodstock. All Woodstockers are invited to send their questions to the Planning Board, P. O. Box 42, Woodstock.

The first in a series of questions and answers follows:

Q—What is a "Growth Plan"?

A—A Growth Plan is a program for guiding the growth of a community in a direction which will be of the greatest benefit to the present and future residents. Such a plan involves the preparation of maps. These maps are referred to in the Town Law as a Master Plan. (Art. 16, Para. 272-a). Such a Master Plan provides "for the improvement of the town and its future growth, protection, and development, and will afford adequate facilities for the public housing, transportation, distributon, comfort, convenience, public health, safety and general welfare of its population."

Such a plan is prepared by a professional planning expert under the direction of the Planning Board. Such plans, when completed, are filed with the Town Clerk, the Town Highway Superintendent, and are open to public inspecton. Such a master plan has no legal status but contains recommendations of the Planning Board. To give it, or any part of it, legal status requires action by the Town Board.

The Master Plan will be used as a guide by the Planning Board when considering the approval of plats (subdivisions).

Q—What is Zoning?

A—Zoning is a method of controlling the use of land. The town is laid out in various districts for various uses, such as residential, commercial, industrial and a proposed zoning ordinance is prepared by a Zoning Commission (not the Planning Board, although the planning board is frequently appointed as a zoning commission). During the preparation, public hearings are held. The Town Board, after a further public hearing, then adopts a zoning ordinance which becomes law.

Q—Does zoning affect existing land uses?

A—No. In general. Ordinarily Zoning regulations are not retroactive. A business located in a residential zone continues undisturbed. It is called a "non conforming use." If you own or operate a store in a residential zone, you may continue to do so. You can sell it to another, provided he continues the same type of business you have been conducting.

Q—Why does the Planning Board need to employ a professional planning expert?

A—Planning and Zoning are highly technical matters requiring the services of a well-trained and experienced expert. His relationship to the Planning Board is similar to that of architect to home builder. The Planning Board outlines what the town wants. The planning expert shows how to get it. We would not build a bridge without having an engineer design it. We would not promulgate a growth plan that was not designed by a town planner.

Collection Center Open on Saturday

The collection center for the Woodstock Democratic Club's annual rummage sale will be open at the Simpkins Building on Saturday from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.

That will be the last day the center will be opened. After Wednesday, May 31, the articles may be left at the Woodstock Palyhouse where the sale will be held on Saturday, June 3, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

This popular sale, always one of the highlights of the season is expected to attract a large gathering of smart buy shoppers. The principal award will be a beautiful stone cocktail table designed by Tomas Penning, prominent Woodstock sculptor.

East Springs Spade Trap

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

With 12 high card points and strength in all suits East could well have afforded to redouble North's take out double.

Acting on the principle that all trappers don't wear fur hats. East passed to see if something pleasant would not materialize for him.

It sure did. South responded in his four card spade suit and West passed. At this point North made a bad bid. He did have a 15 point double, but he had two diamonds and only three spades and had no reason to invite game by raising his partner. However, North went to two spades and East sprung his trap.

West opened the six of spades. He knew that East could stand a trump lead. South struggled away manfully, but the best he could do was to salvage North's ace-king of spades and ace of hearts from the wreckage. Down five tricks for a loss of 900 points.

Let's see what would have happened if East had redoubled. South would pass and leave it to North to get out of his own mess. North would have done so by bidding one heart.

East would probably have doubled that bid, but playing at one heart North would not be hurt too badly. The most he could be set would be three tricks and any slip by the defense would give him a chance to escape with a mere 300 point loss.

State's Highest Court Rules That Book Not Obscene

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Pictures of nude women and account of "sexual arousal" were not obscene in the magazine "Gent" and the publication therefore may be sold legally in New York, the state's highest court holds.

The Court of Appeals split 4-3 in the major decision Thursday.

Dissenting judges said sale of the magazine was "nothing more than a distribution of smut—dirt for dirt's sake..."

They said that, as a result of the decision, distributors would be "at liberty to flood the newsstands and candy stores in every ... community with material the average person would condemn as obscene and lewd."

"Gent," the court said, was one of several publications on newsstands whose cover photographs "loudly proclaim their dedication to coarse, sexual titillation."

Lower courts dismissed an obscene literature charge on the basis of a newly evolved legal principle that a dealer may not be held liable for selling obscene literature if he did not know its contents.

The Court of Appeals said it acted for a different reason — it said outright that the magazine was not obscene under state law.

In one of two majority opinions, Associate Judge Stanley Fuld said magazine could be barred only if they offered "hard-core pornography."

The judge said obscenity "is to be differentiated from the bawdy and the ribald.

He acknowledged that "Gent" featured "numerous pictures and cartoons of nude or semi-nude women and numerous descriptions and depictions of sexual arousal and satisfaction" but the publication contained nothing "which smacks of sick and blatantly perverse sexuality."

Associate Judge Charles W. Froessel, in the dissenting opinion, said sale of the magazine was "nothing more than a distribution of smut—dirt for dirt's sake—by a wholesale distributor to local stores and stands for the sole purpose of selfish commercial exploitation."

In the other majority opinion, Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond said of the magazine:

"Virtuous adults will reject it... Adolescents may be hurt by it. But our prepossessions are not the law and the reactions of children are not valid tastes."

Says New Roads Bring Business At Dedication

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — "New highways attract new industry," Gov. Rockefeller said today in marking the opening of a 10-mile section of the Alany-Canada Northway.

These new industries, he said, create new job opportunities in the areas served by the roads.

The governor's comments were in a speech prepared for delivery today at the dedication of the section, which bypasses Glens Falls.

The $9.5-million section brings to 34 the total mileage completed on the Northway, which will stretch 175 miles through the Adirondacks when completed.

Rockefeller said that cities once viewed bypasses with alarm, fearing they would drain off business. Experience, he said, had shown that bypasses facilitate local business by relieving traffic congestion.

Rockefeller noted in a speech prepared for delivery later today in Plattsburgh at a dedication of the first state-aided, low-rent housing for the aged:

"This project, symbolizes a concern shared by family and by government that our steadily growing population of senior citizens shall enjoy the opportunities, the dignity and the comfort to which their contributions to society, and honor and respect, entitle them."

State Word Is Awaited on Milk Price for Area

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dairymen and milk dealers in the Buffalo-Rochester areas today awaited the state agriculture commissioner's decision on whether the milk price paid to producers there should be $6.40 or $6 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts).

Commissioner Don J. Wickham had proposed a 40-cent cut from the present $6.40 for Class I fluid milk but producers at a hearing Thursday asked him to reconsider.

Milk dealers backed the reduction. They said there was a milk surplus in the Buffalo and Rochester markets, which are regulated by state marketing orders.

Producer representatives said the 4,083 dairymen affected by the orders would lose $2.16 million a year in income if the price were reduced.

St. Lawrence Plans Larger Enrollment

CANTON, N.Y. (AP)—St. Lawrence University plans to increase its enrollment from 1,300 to 1,500 by 1970 largely through an $11.5-million development program.

Also included in the program are plans for new buildings and increased faculty and scholarship endowments.

Guiding the program will be the university's Second Century Council, headed by Barry T. Leithead, president of Cluett, Peabody Inc., New York City.

Work is expected to begin this summer on the $1.25-million Edward John Noble University Center, a gift of the Noble Foundation of New York City. Plans also call for raising $5.2 million for new buildings, for science, humanities and social sciences, administration and gymnasium facilities including a swimming pool, and renovation of existing buildings.

Another $5 million will go toward endowments for increased faculty salaries and scholarships for exceptional students. The program is expected to be financed partly through additional tuition from increased enrollment and increased alumni contributions.

The university expects its budget to rise from a present $2.7 million to $4 million by 1970.

Central Is Still For Three Roads In Rail Merger

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The president of the New York Central Railroad says a "friendly gesture on our part has been used to minimize our opposition" to piecemeal railroad mergers.

President Alfred E. Perlman made it clear Thursday that the Central continued to oppose a merger of the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroads.

The Central wants to be included in a merger, but the C&O has resisted Perlman's bid for a three-way affair.

The "friendly gesture," Perlman told the annual meeting of Central stockholders, stemmed from an invitation to meet with the president of the C & O May 12.

He said he agreed, at the request of C & O President Walter J. Tuohy, to three-way, limited studies of areas in which the roads might cooperate to save expenses.

The agreement, Perlman claimed, was "used to minimize our opposition and to confuse our friends and the Interstate Commerce Commission."

In fighting what Perlman called piecemeal mergers, the Central has gathered support from state and local governments and the Justice Department in its bid for consolidated hearings on pending merger plans of Eastern railroads. The C&O's efforts to unite with the B&O is among these.

Perlman said he knew of no change in the Central's stand in the merger situation as a result of Allan P. Kirby's overthrow Tuesday as chairman of the Alleghany Corp., the Central's parent. Forces led by Texas millionaire John D. Murchison wrested control from Kirby in a proxy fight.

The C&O has acquired about 61 per cent of the outstanding B&O stock.

The Central and Alleghany together have built up a 20 per cent stock interest in the B&O through direct purchases.

Federal Intervention Debated

Stock Exchanges Guard Integrity With Government SEC as Watchdog

EDITOR'S NOTE — Many laws and regulations were adopted after the 1929 stock market crash to ensure honesty in Wall Street. This is the last of four articles on a federal investigation aimed at determining whether added safeguards are needed. Frank Cormier, Associated Press financial reporter in Washington and author of the series, explored that ground in a study of the stock manipulation case that set off the inquiry.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 13 stock exchanges have the primary responsibility for keeping themselves honest. Uncle Sam usually stays on the sidelines, keeping his shotgun in the closet.

Whether the closet door might best be opened wide is a question now being debated in the light of the activities of Jerry and Gerard Re, two members of the American Stock Exchange expelled May 4 by order of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Rigged Market

The SEC ruled that the Res, father and son, rigged market prices, sold huge blocks of stock illegally and otherwise flouted the rules of the game between 1954 and 1960.

In the sake of this, the agency announced last week it will make a separate investigation of the American Exchange, the second largest in the land. It wants to find out if the exchange is doing a proper police job, and if investors need added protection.

The exchange says it has adopted substantial reforms which will effectively prevent another case of the Re type, billed as the largest market manipulation since the depression.

SEC officials got a hint of wrongdoing in 1957 and obtained a federal injunction prohibiting the Res from making illegal stock sales. This stricture was ignored by the Res, who were market specialists for the exchange conducting daily trading in about 20 stocks.

SEC Collects Evidence

The SEC collected further evidence of misdeeds by the Res in a 1958 case. Still, it did not take direct action against them.

It was the exchange which had first responsibility for keeping the Res in line. While the SEC has authority to make rules governing market specialists, the power has not been used. Rather, the agency has accepted assurances from the exchanges that they can do the job themselves.

This SEC policy will be reviewed in the course of the current inquiry.

Admittedly, it isn't always easy to track down stock market wrongdoing. The Res—who did not contest the SEC charges—seem to have proved this. Still, the record of the Re case has raised some questions about the American Exchange's regulatory mechanisms.

Ignored Requirements

For instance:

For many years the Res ignored requirements that they file a number of different reports with the exchange.

The Res at one time had no brokerage license and notified the exchange that they did no business with the general public. Even so, they conducted an active public business during this period and even executed two transactions, late in 1954, for Edward T. McCormick, the president of the exchange.

Julius R. Van Raalte, board chairman of Thompson-Starrett Co. Inc., said he once wanted the exchange to drop Jerry Re as the specialist for the company's stock. He testified: "I inquired from friends of mine that were on the floor, and they said, 'lay off. That guy owns this joint.'"

Samuel Edelman, a real estate investor, testified he got advance word that Jerry Re was going to push up the price of Thompson-Starrett stock in January 1959 and decided to capitalize on the situation by unloading his shares. When his broker tried to sell at successively lower prices, however, he was told by Jerry Re that another order had priority.

Price Dropped

By lunchtime, the price had dropped from $2.75 a share to $2.12 and Edelman had managed to sell only 1,500 of 10,000 shares he offered.

The SEC brief in the case said it simply was a case of Re refusing to let an outsider take advantage of a rigged market.

One policy of the exchange allows a specialist to handle a company's stock if he can induce the company to list its shares for trading. The Res continually added to their stable of stocks in this fashion and developed close ties with corporation managements as a result. The SEC believes these ties were altogether too close in many cases.

Census Figures, Not Hearings, to Tell Districts

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Census figures, rather than individual wishes, will guide the Legislature in realigning the state's congressional districts, Sen. Robert C. McEwen, R-Ogdensburg, maintains.

McEwen, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Reapportionment, Thursday ruled out public hearings on the matter. He said hearings would be of no value.

Democratic Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady, whose seat is threatened by the realignment, has made the only demand for hearings, McEwen said.

The Republican senator said merging Stratton's district and that of Democratic Rep. Leo O'Brien of Albany "is not the most outlandish plan of all."

Republicans reportedly favor merging the districts of the two Upstate Democrats. This would force Stratton and O'Brien into a primary fight .

The Republican-controlled Legislature faces the task, in a special session this fall, of reducing from 43 to 41 the number of seats New Yorkers hold in the House. The change is required because the state's population growth lagged behind that of some others. The determination is based on 1960 Census figures.

NEW YORK (AP)—Inflation has as many lives as a cat. And although it was officially buried some time back, this perennial threat to the purchasing power of your dollar is today once more in the news.

Item. The deficit in the federal budget for the fiscal year starting five weeks from now may go to $5 billion instead of $4 billion as formerly predicted. Treasury deficits are the traditional breeding ground of monetary inflation.

Steel Prices May Rise

Item. Steel executives are warning that their prices may rise by fall when new wage scales go into effect. Steel prices are a basic cost in countless goods and services you buy and use.

Item. Congress is setting up or expanding many government services that will cost more year by year. If tax revenues don't rise to cover this, future federal deficits are in the making.

Item. The fear of inflation isn't without practical effects right now. Look at the stock market. Prices have risen for a number of reasons. But one is a wide spread belief that further inflation —that is, a decline in the value of the dollar—is shaping up. In such cases common stocks tend to rise in price, along with everything else you may want to, or have to, buy.

Inflation Overplayed

But a number of economists think the new talk of further inflation is overplayed. They cite these reasons:

1. In many industries overcapacity to produce and keen competition will limit or bar price rises. They note that these factors helped prevent any general steel price hike when wages went up late last year. They question whether the recently increased steel demand is vigorous enough yet to support a price rise.

2. Administration spokesmen insist the federal deficits are temporary, that new spending plans will foster an economic growth, bringing with it increased tax revenues.

3. Gold prices overseas have held close to par for some time after last fall's flurry, and apparently overseas confidence in the stability of the dollar has been restored.

And there is a school that holds that a little inflation—such as the slow rise of the cost of living in recent years—isn't really a bad thing after all, but is inevitable in any economy that is growing, however slowly.

Maroon Rally Nips Port Jervis, 12-8, in Eight Innings

Sickler Paces Attack With Four Safeties Including a Homer

Slugging the horsehide for a total of 17 hits, Kingston High School's baseball team bounced back from an 8-4 fourth frame deficit and toppled Port Jervis, 12-8, in an eight inning thriller at Glennette Field in Port Jervis yesterday.

Though it appeared as if pitching had very little to do with the final decision, it was a nifty relief job by Bob Dunn of the locals which aided the triumph. Dunn came in to hurl in the fourth frame and he set down the home side for the next five innings, permitting only two batters to reach base and they were both on walks.

Early Slugging

The Raiders had teed off on starter Terry Confer and reliever Jerry Howard and had accumulated eight markers by the end of the fourth inning. The locals had pecked away at Don Hinkley and trailed, 8-4, with three frames left.

Richie Sickler led off the fifth with a home run over the left field fence. He had four hits for the afternoon and this was the longest. Ronnie Secreto followed with a double and John Hetsco singled in the third baseman. This trimmed the margin to 8-6.

There were two outs in the sixth frame when Mike Ferraro stroked a single and Sickler followed with a booming double to slice another run off the Port bulge.

Frank Allen led off the seventh with a double and Coach Al Gruner sent in Jerry Hawkins to run. After Hetsco had hit into a force out, Dunn and Smedes walked and then Paul Natale singled home the tying run.

The Winning Rally

Gibby Romaine came in to hurl the eighth inning for the Porters but he was creamed. Ferraro and Sickler stroked singles to start the winning rally. After Secreto fanned, Hawkins drew a walk to clog the sacks. A fielders choice netted one run and Dunn singled for two more. A double by Smedes fetched home the last tally.

Hawkins made a spectacular catch against the left field fence in the last of the eighth for the final out of the game.

The Maroon players have a 6-4 mark to date and are 3-3 in the DUSO circuit. They play at Saugerties on Monday, at Lourdes on Thursday, at Poughkeepsie on Friday and at Middletown on Monday, June 5.

Stock Cars and Midget Stars Slated at Onteora Speedway

Midget Champion Dick Brown in Field

It will be a weekend of spectacular auto racing and midget racing at Onteora Speedway Park in Olive Bridge.

The regular Sunday auto racing is expected to bring the strongest field of the season to the beautiful Catskill Mountain oval.

On Memorial Day (Tuesday), Dick Brown, the 1960 champion, leads a troupe of crack Northeastern Midget Association drivers to Onteora for the first midget spectacular of the season.

Brown is also a former Australian champion, having swept all honors Down Under a few years ago. Hank Williams, a four-time winner of the NEMA honors, is another standout as some 40 Offys and Non-Offys vie in the holiday program.

Onteora patrons will see some of the very finest drivers in the midget ranks. Besides Brown and Williams, there will be Al Givens of Poughkeepsie; Bob Harkey, Joe Csikis, Gibby Parmenti, Len Thrall and Ronnie Evans, who will drive a speedy Mordenti V-8.

Racing directors Larry Shurter and Ed Ryan also expect to have a couple of powerful Falcon-motored jobs that recently turned in sensational performances at the Langhorne Speedway.

Three Stars Return

Following last Sunday's sensational feature, the auto racing fans are looking forward to another slashing duel in the 25-lap feature.

Three feature winners — Don Avery, Johnny Flaach and Rebel Harris — will return along with a star studded field.

Flaach, the South Westerlo veteran, was the first day winner and Harris, of Poughkeepsie, took second day honors. After finishing second two times running, Avery, the 1960 points champion, slammed through to his first victory last week. All three are expected to wind up in the finals and their personal duel is worth the admission price alone.

The Sunday auto racing and Memorial Day midget programs will have three heats, a consolation and 25-lap feature.

Sunday's racing, as usual, starts, at 2:30 p. m., with the midgets going on at 3 p. m.

Trips Skidding In Eastern Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnstown and Lancaster suddenly have snapped their losing streaks but Williamsport is skidding fast in the Eastern League.

The Red Sox broke a three-game losing streak Thursday night by dumping Binghamton 10-4 with a 15-hit attack.

Lancaster, which had dropped four in a row, defeated league-leading Springfield 10-6.

Skip Fenn after allowing Binghamton three runs in the second and another in the fourth, settled down to check the Trips the rest of the way. He pitched a five-hitter and allowed only two hits from the fourth until the ninth inning. Bill Moniak, with a two-run homer and sacrifice fly, and Archie Skeen, with two singles, each drove in three runs for Johnstown. Larry De' Margo (3-3) was the loser.

League Opener Slated Tonight At Riverview

Al Corwin, a former New York Giant pitcher, goes for the Kingston Braves in their 1961 New York-New Jersey League opener against the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls tonight at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie.

The Hoe-Bowls are expected to counter with an ex-major league hurler of their own—Tom Acker, who had a brief fling with fame as a Cincinnati Redleg relief specialist.

Game time is 8 p. m. and there is no admission charge at the Poughkeepsie ball park. The Pacers Drum and Bugle Corps will entertain the fans starting at 7:30 p. m.

Field manager John Pullie of the Braves will have three other front line flingers backing up Corwin if he falters. They are Larry De Vita, a ranking southpaw in the league for several years; Frank Horan, veteran West Haverstraw pitcher and reliefer Norm Fahey.

Kingston's 1961 lineup will feature several former minor league and college stars, according to General Manager Fred Davi.

The tentative infield quartet includes Ron Parente at first base; Hal Lewis, second; Dave Musco at third and John Giampolo, a flashy fielder, at shortstop.

The outfield trio includes Richie Demuro of the University of Bridgeport, Bill Ouaska in right and Ray Carligelo in left. Doug Holmquist will catch in the absence of Wally Widholme, the hard hitting receiver who will miss the opener.

Committee Meets

Demuro, Holmquist and Giampola are former University of Bridgeport stars, while Carligelo and Musco hail from the University of Connecticut. Lewis, Parante and Ousaka are former minor league stars.

Meanwhile, the Braves Booster committee headed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Addison Jones are making elaborate plans for the home opener on June 10 against Poughkeepsie.

A large turnout of enthusiastic Braves supporters attended Tuesday night's meeting in the mayor's office. Plans were formed for the parade on opening night. A Miss Baseball of 1961 will be chosen and other events will be announced. Alderman-at-Large Harold Kaye presided at the meeting.

The Kingston lineup tonight:
Hal Lewis, second base
Ron Parante, first base
Bill Ousaka, right field
Doug Holmquist, catcher
John Giampola, shortstop
Dave Musco, third base

Lavorante Earns Fighter of Month Award From Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Alejandro Lavorante, the promising Argentine heavyweight, had two more reasons to celebrate his recent knockout of Zora Folley today.

The decisive victory over the former top contender from Chandler, Ariz., earned Lavorante Ring Magazine's "fighter of the month" award and a place among ring's top 10 in the heavyweight class.

New monthly ratings released today put Lavorante in sixth place in a shake-up that also jumped Cleveland Williams of Houston to eight after his knockout of the veteran Alex Miteff of Argentina.

Folley dropped from third to seventh and Miteff fell out of the top 10. So did Mike Dejohn of Syracuse, in a revised listing that now has Sonny Liston, Eddie Machen, Henry Cooper, Ingemar Johansson, George Chuvalo, Lavorante, Folley, Williams, Tom McNeeley and Canada's Bob Cleroux listed in order behind champion Floyd Patterson.

Adios Butler Heavy Favorite In Debut at Roosevelt Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Adios Butler makes his seasonal debut tonight at Roosevelt Raceway amid two big questions.

Can the mile champion start the season off in top form? Just how good is New Zealand's False Step at the standard American distance?

Butler holds the world mile record of 1:54 3-5 set last October in a time trial over the Lexington, Ky., mile oval. False Step is the Down Under champion of the 1½-mile route and victor in the Championship Pace at 1½ miles at Yonkers a week ago.

Roosevelt has a half-mile track. Bye Bye Byrd set the mile record for a double-oval of 1:57 4-5 in a race here in 1959. Bye Bye also will be in tonight's feature—the $25,000 New Frontier Pace.

False Step drew the pole position and Adios Butler is right alongside. Bye Bye starts from the No. 4 spot.

At Vernon Downs last night, Scotch Abbe won the $3,000 Inaugural Pace as the Central New York track opened its 1961 season. He toured the mile in 2:01 and paid $8.50. Roselawn Boy was second and Royal Deluxe third.

The night's handle of $297,799 set an opening night record.

One of the largest daily doubles of the season—$463.90—was paid at Roosevelt last night.

Also at Roosevelt Milford Hanover easily won the featured Class AA Handicap Pace in 2:02 4-5 and returned $5.30. Silyer's Dream was second and Forrester was third.

At Buffalo Raceway, Niagara Rhythm returned $3.90 in taking the $1,100 feature in 2:08 4-5. Take Command finished second and David Pride was third.

Koufax And Davis Nip Cards

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The three-hit pitching of Sandy Koufax and a seventh-inning home run by Tommy Davis gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 1-0 victory over St. Louis Thursday night in the only National League game played. Cleveland trimmed Detroit's American League lead to 3½ games by beating the Los Angeles Angels 13-5 while Minnesota dropped the Tigers 7-6 in 11 innings.

Southpaw Whitey Ford won his sixth in a row as third place New York beat Boston 6-4, Baltimore rapped the Chicago White Sox 6-4 and Kansas City defeated Washington 4-3, for winless Dick Donovan's fifth one-run defeat, in the other AL games.

Only two other games were scheduled in the National—Pittsburgh at Chicago and Philadelphia at Milwauke—and both were rained out.

Koufax, now 5-2, struck out eight, walked but three and allowed nothing but singles. Bob Gibson (2-1) was the loser.

The Yankees took a 5-0 lead in two innings against Billy Muffett as Johnny Blanchard and Tony Kubek belted two-run homers. Whitey Ford gave up only five hits, but needed relief help from Luis Arroyo.

Orioles Score Early

The Orioles got all six runs in the first two innings off loser Herb Score (1-2) and relievers Juan Pizarro and Frank Bauman. Steve Barber (6-2) was the winner, but needed reliever Hoyt Wilhelm to nail it.

Johnny Romano, Woody Held, Willie Kirkland and Bubba Phillips rapped homers for the Indians, who had 17 hits against loser Ron Moeller (0-4) and five relievers. Mudcat Grant (4-0) won it with relief from Barry Latman.

A double by Lennie Green and a single by Jim Lemon won it for the Twins and beat Tiger reliever Jim Donohue (1-1). Detroit scored five in the first on homers by Al Kaline and Norm Cash and got the other run in the 10th on Billy Bruton's homer. Reliever Paul Giel won his first for the Twins.

Al Pilarcik's two-run single sewed it up for the A's in a three-run fifth off Donovan. Willie Tasby and Gene Green homered for the Senators' runs off Joe Nuxhall (2-1). Leo Posada of the A's was struck in the face by a Donovan pitch and was taken to a hospital for examination.

The Nimrod's Corner

By Old Doc

From time to time, this column intends to wander from the field of outdoor recreation and dwell on some of the phenomena of nature that present themselves during the changing seasons.

Early in the week when eagerly heading toward a hoped for good evening rise of trout, (it didn't materialize), my attention was attracted to the large number of tent caterpillars that had almost completely defoliated the trees along the highway. There are two species of this crawling insect, the eastern tent caterpillar and his cousin, the forest tent variety. What was witnessed from my car window, was the eastern type since they had spun their distinctive silky home in the crotches of wild cherry trees. It is in such trees and other fruit bearers, that they raise havoc by eating the leaves of their host. Only when there is a shortage of preferred foods, will they establish themselves in forest and shade trees.

GREATER THAN NORMAL:

Judging by the denuded trees, it seems that the eastern tent caterpillar is with us in greater than normal profusion this year. The New York State Conservation Department does not have a project for the control of this pest because most of the damage is to trees other than the forest type. On the encouraging side however, the insect has many natural enemies including parasitic insects, birds and toads, a bacterial disease known as "wilt," at times destroys enormous numbers of caterpillars; in some years, adverse weather conditions aid in the control of these pests; and finally heavy infestations are known to be of short duration in terms of years.

The forest tent caterpillar like its close relative, is a native of these United States. Unlike the conspicuous tent of the eastern species, the forest variety constructs only a small inconspicuous mat-like tent on the trunk or the branch of the tree. Its preference for the foliage of poplar, sugar maple, birch, oak and ash, make it the more feared of the caterpillar and the Bureau of Forest Pest Control in Albany is constantly on the lookout for unusually large concentrations. To date, there have been no such reports this year in the Catskills.

Many will remember back in 1937 or 1938 when the "up train" on the Ulster and Delaware couldn't make the grade at Pine Hill and was stalled for a considerable period of time while the caterpillar greased rails were sanded to secure traction.

In 1953, approximately seven and one-half million acres of our northern and eastern forested lands were partially or wholly defoliated by the caterpillars.

NO CYCLE SIGNIFICANCE:

Records show that the periodic outbreaks do not develop in any definite cycle as many erroneously believe. Usually, the denuding of trees does little permanent damage although repeated years of attack by these pests, may cause extensive damage to sugar bush by checking tree growth, limiting sap production and if continued, may result in death of trees. The effect upon recreation is more immediate; people just don't like to go into an infested area.

For those considering ways of destroying the caterpillar, spraying now with two per cent DDT will accomplish the purpose. Most successful campaigns have been accomplished through collection of egg masses and their destruction. This is usually done during winter months when the destruction of ten egg masses means 1,500-2,000 caterpillars less the next spring.

California Relays Start Saturday Night

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

MODESTO, Calif. (AP)—World records ranging from the 100-yard dash to the four-mile relay go under fire Saturday night in the California Relays.

Dennis Johnson of San Jose State and Stone Johnson of Grambling hold the top hopes of lowering the 100-yard dash record shared by many at 9.3 seconds. Both have run wind-aided 9.2's already this year.

The hard clay track at the Modesto Junior College stadium, site of the relays, is rated one of the fastest in the nation, and it was here two years ago that Oregon's Rescoe Cook ran his 9.3.

Cook and his teammate, Canadian Harry Jerome, are expected to challenge the Johnsons in the century run.

Oregon's mile quartet of Dyrol Burleson, Keith Forman, Vice Reeve and George Larson goes after the world record in the four-mile relay.

Western Michigan furnishes competition along with the Southern California Striders.

America's track queen, Wilma Rudolph, makes her first Northern California appearance. The triple Olympic gold medal winner from Tennessee A&I competes in two special races, women's 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Her classmate, Ralph Boston, the world broad jump record holder, will compete both in that event and the low hurdles.

The pole vault field includes both Olympic champion Don Bragg and Oklahoma State sophomore George Davies who last week cleared 15-10¼ to break Bragg's world record.

Several Innovations Set Before Saratoga Opening

SARATOGA SPRINGS — Installation of a 5,000 square foot awning above ramp level at Saratoga Raceway, one of several grandstand innovations slated for completion prior to opening night on June 8, has created a double-deck appearance to the harness raceway grandstand.

This addition brings the total area covered by canvas to more than 37,000 square feet, and according to officials of the Gloversville firm which is responsible for manufacturing and installing the awnings, "the raceway presents the largest awning covered area in the world."

The ramp level deck is expected to relieve congestion under the grandstand during inclement weather, and will also enable fans to follow the progress of races on such evenings from a point much closer to action than was formerly possible.

Strips of fire resistant duck, which if placed end to end would stretch nearly four miles, are used to create the bright tangerine and green awnings for which Saratoga Raceway has become famous. More than six miles of braided rope, fifteen miles of heavy duty nylon thread, and one hundred pounds of brass grommets also go into creating the canvas tops.

Other improvements to Saratoga Raceway grandstand facilities include installation of overhead heaters, and additions to the mainline wagering facilities.

Yastrzemski and Schilling Brighten Picture for Boston

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — For a decade or more it appeared as though the Red Sox were suffering from blind scouts.

Although Thomas Austin Yawkey tossed bonuses around as though money was going out of style only one youngster worth much more than his car-fare showed up at Fenway Park. He is Frank Malzone and ironically the bowlegged third baseman was plucked out of the Bronx for the equivalent of green trading stamps.

But there was a wider smile than usual on Mike Higgins' expansive Irish pan as the Boston club checked in for its first 1961 series at Yankee Stadium.

"Things are much brighter," testified Manager Mike, holding pre-game court in the Bosox dugout. "The pitching has been unexpectedly good.

"And the addition of youngsters like Carl Yastrzemski, Chuck Schilling and Jim Pagliaroni has to have a manager looking up."

Owner Yawkey's record bonuses finally paid off as his foxy foragers regained their sight rather belatedly. Yastrzemski collected $100,000 as a Notre Dame sophomore. Schilling and Pagliaroni also got premiums.

"Yastrzemski is going to be a tremendous hitter and already is an accomplished outfielder," said Michael Franklin Higgins. "Like all kids (21, 5-11, 175) who swing too hard, he went after bad pitches and was a left-hand hitter who had a little trouble with left-hand pitching.

"Yas was overswinging, but Ted Williams' advice was to leave him alone. 'He has a good swing,' said Ted, 'and will learn to cut it down.'

"This he is doing and he has belted left-hand pitchers of late. He has remarkable wrists. He has extraordinary speed. His swing and hustle are remindful of old Country Slaughter. His hitting is reminiscent of Charley Keller, also a line drive hitter who didn't pull the ball."

Like Yastrzemski, Schilling (23, 5-11, 170) is crashing the majors in his third year of professional ball. Both are Long Islanders. Yas, a handsome Polish lad, is from Bridgehampton. Schilling, who attended Manhattan College, is out of New Hyde Park.

Schilling thus far has filled the yawning chasm at second base that has plagued the Back Bay Millionaires for several campaigns, or since the redoubtable Bobby Doerr called it a career.

"Schilling is smart, has a wide range, is a wizard at completing the double play and gives us an exceptionally swift leadoff man who quickly learned the strike zone," Pinky Higgins went on. "He has Charley Gehringer's grace in the field.

"Pagliaroni gives us a right-hand hitting catcher to alternate with Russ Nixon."

Yastrzemski, Schilling and Pagliaroni.

Kennedy Is Assailed For Tractor Support

WASHINGTON (AP) —Republican congressional leaders today called President Kennedy's support of the tractors-for-prisoners exchange "another blow to our fast-diminishing world leadership."

"The disastrous handling of the Cuban invasion has caused America to suffer an enormous loss in prestige abroad," the GOP leaders said in a statement.

Dirksen Gives Views

"But now President Kennedy has compounded that loss by disclosing his official sponsorship of a so-called citizens movement for the American people to make blackmail payments to Fidel Castro."

The statement, approved by a conference of Republican Senate and House leaders, was read to newsmen by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate GOP leader.

While a number of Republicans, notably Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, have kept up a constant attack on Kennedy's support for raising funds to buy 500 tractors to ransom upwards of 1,200 Castro-held invasion prisoners, today's action was the first official party attack on it.

Resolutions were introduced in both the House and Senate Thursday aimed at putting Congress on record against ransom for more than 1,200 rebels captured in the U.S.-supported invasion.

Fund Started by Three

In Detroit, the Tractors - for-Freedom Fund said it had received 200 to 250 letters this week at its United Auto Workers Union headquarters.

Brendan Sexton, UAW fund coordinator, said the letters included "a number of inquiries from fairly significant people and organizations in other cities to conduct fund-raising drives there."

The fund was organized by Eleanor Roosevelt, UAW President Walter P. Reuther and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In Miami, Fla., the 10 Cuban prisoners sent here to negotiate the deal were preparing to return to Cuba on Saturday. They had been given a 10-day parole by Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro to make the arrangements.

Hagerty Hits Plan

More opposition to the tractor exchange came Thursday from Gen. Eisenhower's former news secretary, James C. Hagerty.

In New Haven, Conn., Hagerty said, "I think we are setting by this a very dangerous precedent. I think we are going back beyond the Dark Ages when people were held for ransom, which this is.

"And I'm afraid it might be open season on free people around the world," if the program continues, Hagerty said.

Capehart introduced two resolutions against the tractor exchange in the Senate Thursday and Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., offered one in the House.

If passed, none of the resolutions would be binding on the Kennedy administration.

President Kennedy, who helped organize the fund drive, has said he feels contributions should be deductible from income taxes.

7,000 Will Take Exam on Saturday For Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 7,000 candidates will puzzle over a 5½-hour written examination Saturday for the privilege of working long hours at low pay among living conditions often far below U.S. standards.

These are the candidates for volunteer service overseas with America's Peace Corps. They will start taking the examination at 8:30 a.m., local time, in 340 centers across the nation.

Some Sample Questions

Although copies of the examination to be given are secret, the Peace Corps officials have made available sample questions. These afford other Americans an opportunity to match wits with Peace Corps candidates, if they desire.

The test is the initial step in screening out the human talent and skills which the United States will lend underdeveloped countries under a special program set up March 1 by President Kennedy.

The examination is basically of the multiple-choice variety. Seven sections are designed to determine the candidate's knowledge or aptitude in English, foreign language, U.S. history and institutions, farming, health sciences and mechanical skills.

Two other sections seek personal information on the candidate—family and education background, hobbies, and leadership experience, such as school team captain, army platoon sergeant, club presidencies, etc.

Copies Closely Guarded

Examination copies have been closely guarded but Dr. Nicholas Hobbs, director of personnel selection for the Peace Corps, said these are typical questions:

"A related pair of words or phrases is followed by five let-

Little Rock Is To Desegregate 5 Schools Next Fall

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock School Board, acting under the shadow of a federal court order to expand school integration, will desegregate four junior high schools and the city's last all-white high school next fall.

The board Thursday night assigned 25 Negroes to four of the city's five all-white junior high schools. At the same time, it upped from 11 to 24 the number of Negro students in once-white high schools and desegregated all-white Technical High School.

Action on the assignments under state pupil placement procedures was swift and appeared routine. There was no discussion, but board member J. H. Cottrell Jr. voted against the motion to approve assignments at all school levels.

Board action came only four days before a U.S. District Court hearing under a ruling by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals which suggested that Little Rock expand its desegregation efforts.

ROBERT C. SCHANTZ

Governor Names Schantz to Post Held by Plunket

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller today appointed Robert C. Schantz of Kingston to the State Advisory Council on Pensions.

Schantz, a production analyzer for International Business Machines Corp., succeeds Thomas J. Plunket of Kingston, whose term expired.

Council members are paid $90 a day while attending meetings. Schantz' appointment, subject to Senate confirmation, is for a term ending April 1, 1966.

Schantz resides at 145 Wrentham Street, Kingston, with his wife, Virginia and son, Garry, 9. He is the Republican Committeeman from the Second Ward and is employed by IBM.

Schantz is a prominent member of the Ulster County Young Republican Club and has served as membership campaign chairman for the club.

Cause Is Sought Of Jet Crash in General's Death

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Investigators sought Thursday the cause of a jet-airplane crash that killed Brig. Gen. Barnie B. McEntire Jr., 43, chief of staff of the South Carolina Air National Guard.

The F104 jet fighter dived into an uninhabited island in the Susquehanna River Wednesday within sight of crowds on Harrisburg's South Bridge.

Panel Discusses 3,000 Seasonal Farm Workers

Seasonal farm labor involving more than 3,000 workers expected to come into the area at harvest time was the topic of a panel discussion Wednesday night at Clintondale Grange Hall attended by Ulster County fruit and vegetable growers.

The seven members of the panel, who each made presentations on the topic, complimented Ulster County farmers for their fine cooperation with the various agencies involved in the use of seasonal help.

William Adriance, farm employment supervisor from Central Farm Labor Office, Rochester, thanked growers for their fine cooperation with that office regarding an employment estimating project over the past two years. Wage surveys, he stated, would be conducted again this year in sweet corn and apple harvest activities.

Mechanization in other agricultural activities along the eastern seaboard and Western New York has cut the demand for migrant workers. On a recruitment itinerary in Florida during April, some 10,000 workers were committed to New York State, a drop of about 8,000 from four years ago. Total seasonal workers, he said, at peak of employment, between September 15 and 30, last year in the state were about 37,000 workers.

Charles Shultis, senior sanitary inspector from Ulster County Department of Health, reported that there were no new changes in Chapter XV of the Sanitary Code this year. He complimented the growers for submitting applications earlier this year than in the past.

Magruder Authority Returned

Junta, U. N. Head In Korean Accord

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korea's military rulers and U. S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder agreed today on a compromise restoring to Magruder most of the operational control he exercised over the 325,000-man Korean armed forces before the coup last week.

Restored to Degree

Magruder said he was not completely satisfied, that he considered his authority as U.N. commander in Korea had been "restored to a considerable degree, rather than fully."

"Once authority has been flouted, it can only be re-established by its implicit observance over a long period," said Magruder, who had unsuccessfully called on the armed forces to withhold support from the rebels.

The junta headed by Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young agreed to return to the front 3,800 of the 7,000 troops who seized Seoul on May 16 and overthrew the elected government of Premier John M. Chang.

Magruder released to the control of the junta two understrength army reserve divisions totaling only a few thousand men, a paratroop combat team of 2,000 to 3,000 men and about 700 military policemen to garrison Seoul against any challenge to the military regime.

Loses Out On Changes

It was understood that Magruder failed to win out in his demand that he once more approve changes in Korean command appointments, an authority U.N. commanders exercised before the coup. The junta leaders have replaced — without Magruder's approval—several top commanders who refused to back their rebellion.

Four to Seek Release

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Four white college professors—including the Yale University chaplain—and a Negro student, among 11 integrationists jailed for challenging bus depot segregation, were expected to seek release on bond today.

Their attorney said $1,000 bond each would probably be posted by the Rev. William S. Coffin Jr., the Yale chaplain; the Rev. Gaylord B. Noyce, assistant professor at the Yale Divinity School; Dr. David E. Swift, professor of religion at Wesleyan in Middletown, Conn.; Dr. John B. Maguire, assistant Wesleyan professor of religion, and George B. Smith, Negro student at Yale.

Estimates Over 20 Will Die on State Highways

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — More than 20 persons likely will die on New York State highways over the four-day Memorial Day weekend that begins tonight, Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hults says.

Hults appealed to motorists Thursday to exercise caution. A similar appeal, for safety on the state's waterways, was issued by James J. O'Brien, director of the State Division of Motorboats.

Hults noted that 24 persons were killed in the state over the three-day Memorial Day weekend last year. During that same weekend, The Associated Press counted six deaths in boating accidents.

Civil War Story Of Local Units Told to Kiwanis

The activities of three local regiments in the Civil War and the innovations in warfare which came out of the conflict of 1861-1865 were the subject of a talk presented before the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by William Plank of Marlboro.

Introduced by the program chairman, Harry Rigby Jr., the speaker, a student of the trouble between the states, said more Americans were killed in the Civil War than in any other conflict in which the United States had fighting forces.

Plank referred to the Civil War as a "laboratory for all modern warfare," pointing out that this conflict saw the first use of armored vessels and railroad trains, the first employment of torpedoes and submarines, the use of wire entanglements, and the use of the telegraph system for war purposes. Communications and transportation played an important part for the first time in warfare, and the Civil War saw the growth of hospital and Red Cross services far beyond those which existed prior to the war.

Other innovations, according to the speaker, were the breech loading and repeating rifles, the rifled cannon, and the use of long projectiles replacing the cannon ball so familiar to soldiers prior to the Civil War.

Local Units in War

The activities of Kingston and Ulster County men in the Civil War were for the most part included in three regiments recruited from this section of the country.

The first contingent entering the Civil War from Ulster County was known as the 20th Regiment or the Ulster Guard. This outfit left Rondout on a steamer bound for New York, for three months service. They were employed in the defenses around Washington, did not see any action, and were discharged after the period of enlistment expired.

Some Joined 80th Volunteers

Senate Votes School Aid, Heads for House Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's $2.55 billion public school aid bill, having vaulted the Senate handily, heads today into an expected bitter showdown in the House.

The Senate passed the measure Thursday night 49 to 34, climaxing eight days of debate. It is one of the "big five" bills in Kennedy's 1961 legislative program.

Its supporters said today they expect the school bill will clear the House by a slim margin, although it may be trimmed before it passes.

All in all, federal aid to education advocates believe this is the best chance they have ever had to get such legislation enacted.

The bill's Senate sponsors were a little disappointed in the final vote. It was lower than they had expected because of many absentees.

The tally would have been 59-41 if all 100 senators had been present to vote their announced positions. As it was 41 Democrats and 1 Republicans voted for it, 22 Republicans and 12 Democrats against it.

A similar bill has been approved by the House Education and Labor Committee. It may reach the floor in the week of June 4.

Even if the bill gets through the House, its sponsors concede that the funds for teacher salaries provision may be knocked out.

If this should happen, the basis for a possible compromise was laid in Senate debate. The bill, as it reached the Senate floor, made the grants available for teacher salaries or school construction.

A floor amendment, accepted by the administration, broadened this to include spending for such operating expenses as school buses, textbooks and libraries.

The bill passed by the Senate authorized $850 million a year in grants for the next three years to try to help states equalize educational opportunities.

It also extends for three more years the impacted area program of aid to school districts with enrollments swollen because of nearby federal installations. Payments under this program next year are estimated at $10 million.

The grants in the general school aid bill would be paid on a sliding scale, the poorest state getting three times as much as the richest.

Texas would get the largest amount of annual aid, $57,967,084, Nevada the smallest, $1,038,379. The largest per pupil allotment would be $27.74 for Arkansas, Mississippi and South Carolina, the smallest $9.25 for Connecticut.

Portrait Unveiled Of Judge Loughran

In the presence of members of the family, high judicial officers, members of the Ulster County Bar Association and friends, at a very dignified and simple ceremony this morning a life-size portrait of the late Judge John T. Loughran was unveiled.

The portrait, the work of Paul Wesley Arndt of Woodstock, a distinguished portrait painter, was unveiled by the artist himself who expressed his appreciation for the honor granted him in being commissioned by the Ulster County Bar Association to paint the portrait of one of New York State's most distinguished jurists. He paid a tribute to Hugh R. Elwyn, president of the Bar Association, and Mrs. Elwyn for the assistance and valuable suggestions given which permitted him to place on the canvas the likeness of Judge Loughran.

A True Likeness

Presentation of the painting was made in the presence of members of the Court of Appeals, Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Ulster County Bar members, members of the family of the late Judge Loughran, including his son, John, who expressed his thanks and of the members of the family to the bar association for the honor being shown his father. He also thanked the artist for the portrait which he said was a true likeness and was "just as we knew him."

Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals Charles S. Desmond of Buffalo, was presented by Judge Sydney F. Foster, who for many years was an associate of Judge Loughran on the Supreme Court bench of the Third Judicial District.

Proud Day for Bar

Members of the family of the late Judge Loughran were welcomed by Hugh R. Elwyn, president of the Ulster County Bar, as were the members of the judiciary. Mr. Elwyn said the day was a "proud" one for the Ulster County Bar Association and Alderman Francis R. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward.

It was planned to hold the first hearing in the city court room, but because of the holiday, the regular Tuesday night session of court was adjourned to 8 p. m., Thursday.

Hearings Slated On Zoning and Dog Ordinance

Two public hearings are slated for Thursday, June 1, City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew noted today.

One slated for 7:30 p. m., in the Common Council chamber, deals with requested zoning ordinance changes to prevent conflict in proceeding with the city's urban renewal and planning program, and the other to follow at 8 p. m., is aimed at determining the feasibility for adoption of a dog ordinance.

The first hearing is called by the council's laws and rules committee composed of aldermen Lawrence E. Woerner, (D) Fourth Ward, chairman; John P. Heitzman, (D) 12th Ward; Edward J. Schrowang (R) First Ward; Joseph F. Carroll Jr., (R) 11th Ward, and Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye.

Special Committee

Some in Congress Are Cool to Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for a drastic overhaul of the foreign aid program, a $4.75 billion aid effort for next year and a multi-billion loan system for future years.

Kennedy said the proposed long-range program is of "paramount importance" for protection of the free world against the Communist threat.

The President made his proposal in a letter to Congress transmitting the legislation he wants enacted.

Proposes Single Office

A number of influential legislators have shown coolness to parts of the Kennedy package, however, and what type of bill Congress will finally approve remains uncertain.

In what would be the most drastic shakeup since the aid program got under way on a large scale after World War II, Kennedy proposed establishment of a single aid organization combining previously separate units.

The new master aid agency would be called A.I.D. (The Agency for International Development). Its head would have undersecretary of state rank and would report to the secretary of state and the President.

Under Kennedy's bill arms aid would be separated from economic aid in the future, and would be treated as part of the regular U.S. defense budget.

New Figures Given

Kennedy set out these figures for the program in the fiscal year starting July 1:

$1.69 billion for economic aid to countries around the world. The sum includes $500 million for a presidential contingency fund for flexible use in emergencies such as recent developments in Southeast Asia, twice the amount Kennedy estimated for that purpose earlier.

$1,885,000,000 for arms assistance. This is the amount Kennedy mentioned in Thursday's message which outlined much of the program presented today.

$900 million in borrowing authority for funds to make long-term loans for overseas economic development projects.

$300 million additional, to come from repayments by foreign countries on previous loan-aid programs and to be reused for new projects. Kennedy also asked for authority to use such funds for the same purpose in future years, estimating them at about $300 million annually.

$7.3 Billion for 5 Years

For the four years starting July 1, 1962 Kennedy requested $1.6 billion a year in further borrowing authority for long-term economic development loans.

This plus the $900 million for the coming year would bring the requested borrowing authority to $7.3 billion over the next five years.

Troopers Hunt 2 In Assault on Ancram Resident

State Police in Columbia County are looking for two men, one of whom may have a facial cut as a result of being struck in the face with a flashlight. The men, both stocky, are being sought for an assault upon Donald Day, 34, Ancram service station operator.

Day was slashed with a knife and beaten by two men when he attempted to stop them from breaking into the home of William Sheppard on Slater Road, Ancram, at 2 a. m. Thursday. He was cut about the face and arms.

When Day observed the men attempting to enter the Sheppard home, which he watches during the week when the owners are away, he accosted them. One started to punch him and when Day fought back he struck one man in the face with a flashlight. The other man pulled a knife and slashed Day. The men then sped away in a black sedan. Other than that the men were white and "stocky." Day was unable to give any description.

Milton Boy Critical, Is Hit Leaving Bus

A 6-year-old Milton boy was severely injured Thursday afternoon when a Newburgh motorist failed to stop for a school bus from which the boy had just alighted.

As Mrs. Edwin Jennison of Milton stood across the highway waiting for her son, Edward Jennison, Jennie May Turner, 55, of 195 Prospect Street, Newburgh, drove past the stopped school bus and struck the little boy as he came around the front of the school bus to join his mother.

Driver Fined $45

State police arrested the operator of the offending car and she was fined $45 before Justice of the Peace Fred Fowler. The charge was passing a stopped school bus.

Taken to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, suffering from lacerations, abrasions and internal injuries, the condition of the boy today was reported as "critical." He spent a "good" night, a report said.

Mother Waiting

The accident happened at about 3:45 p. m. Thursday a mile south of Milton on Route 9W, which is a four lane highway at that point. The driver of the school bus had stopped, the boy had alighted and was in the process of passing ahead of the school bus to join his mother when struck by the Turner car which was also traveling south behind the bus.

Trooper William Brennan of the Highland substation and Chief of Police Joseph Esposito of Milton investigated and arrested the operator of the offending vehicle.

Kennedy Sets Up Commission for Missile Disputes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today set up a commission to handle labor disputes at space and missile sites.

The purpose is to avoid strikes and slowdowns which witnesses recently told a Senate subcommittee have delayed missile projects.

Kennedy issued an executive order setting up the commission and charged it with the task of anticipating labor problems before they become acute.

The order does not call for compulsory arbitration, but does provide that the commission may seek agreement for binding arbitration.

Kennedy named Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg chairman of the commission and William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation Service, vice chairman.

Nine other members are equally divided among representatives of the public, labor and management.

The public members are David L. Cole, former president of the National Council of Arbitrators; John T. Dunlop, professor of economics at Harvard University, and David Stowe, an arbitrator of labor-management disputes.

Labor members are George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO; Cornelius J. Haggerty, president of the Building and Construction Trades Department, AFL-CIO, and Walter P. Reuther, president of the Union Department, AFL-CIO and also president of the United Auto Workers.

Management representatives are James D. Marshall, executive director of Associated General Contractors; Edgar F. Kaiser, president of Kaiser Industries, Inc., and Douglas V. Dorman, vice president and director of labor relations of the Martin Co.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy drafted the executive order in consultation with Goldberg. The commission is given authority to lay down policies and procedures for adjusting disputes which threaten to delay space and missile programs.

Panels will be set up at each space and missile site and a mediator from the federal mediation and conciliation service will be assigned to each panel.

Freedom Riders On Trial Today

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Segregation-defying "Freedom Riders" were scheduled to go on trial in Jackson City Court today as integrationists continued their massive assault on "Jim Crow" barriers throughout the Deep South.

Trial of the 27 Freedom Riders—25 Negroes and two whites—is set for 5 p.m. in the same courtroom where earlier this year other Negroes were convicted for attempts to integrate Jackson's main public library and city bus system.

At the trial of the library integrationists, club-swinging policemen using trained dogs dispatched a large crowd of hymn-singing Negroes outside the court building.

Face Jail, Fines

The 27 Freedom Riders were arrested Wednesday after their arrival on two separate buses from Montgomery.

They were charged under the same breach of peace statute used in the previous integration attempts here. They also face an additional charge of disobeying an officer. If convicted of both charges, they face a maximum six-month jail term and $500 fines.

In New Orleans—the announced destination of all previous "Freedom Rides" — the City Council adopted a resolution urging police to escort the integrationists and other "agitators" nonstop through the city. Dist. Atty. Richard Dowling said he would charge any such traveling groups with violation of a state law similar to the Mississippi anti-integration breach of peace law.

Texas to Paris Hop Done in 6 Hours Plus

PARIS (AP)—An Air Force B58 Convair Hustler shattered transatlantic records today with a flight across at speeds sometimes twice the speed of sound.

The plane flashed over famed Le Bourget Field—where Charles A. Lindbergh landed 34 years ago—and set down 6 hours 15 minutes after taking off from Carswell Air Force Base in Texas.

The plane made the New York-Paris leg of the trip in 3 hours and 20 minutes. The average speed for the trip was 1,105 m.p.h.

The flight was planned in connection with the Paris Aviation Exposition now under way, to mark the anniversary of Lindbergh's New York-Paris flight in 1927. Lindbergh's time for the journey in the single-engine prop plane "Spirit of St. Louis" was 33½ hours.

A three-man crew from the U.S. Strategic Air Command piloted the bomber to the transatlantic record. The bomber took off from Carswell at 4:10 a.m. and reached Paris at 10:25 a.m. It flew nonstop to Paris north over Washington and then over New York where it headed out to sea.

The bomber was refueled from KC135 jet tankers en route.

A U.S. Air Force announcement said that in addition to a New York-Paris record, the bomber set a record from Carswell to Washington of 2 hours 16 minutes, and a record from Washington to New York of 19 minutes.

Civil War Story

Kingston. This outfit saw action at the second Battle of Bull Run where Colonel Pratt was killed. As a part of the Army of The Potomac, the 80th Regiment, commanded by another local man, Theodore Gates, and later by Colonel Jacob Hardenburgh, fought until 1864 when the members were discharged from the army. During this time the local men saw service at Gettysburg where they suffered heavy losses but "covered themselves with glory" according to the speaker. Citizens of Ulster County had a monument erected at this site of battle.

Later the 80th Regiment moved south and participated in the battles of the Wilderness and Petersburg which brought an end to the Civil War. The local group suffered casualties of 81 men and five officers, besides 280 wounded during the war.

The second group of local volunteers, according to Plank, was the 120th Volunteers under the command of Colonel George Scharpe. This outfit comprised upwards of a thousand men and saw action at the Battle of Chancellorsville where it was "cut to pieces." Later, with the necessary replacements, the 120th Regiment engaged in the Battle of Gettysburg, suffering losses of 203 men, and then was in action at Mine Run, the Wilderness, and Petersburg.

The 120th Volunteers were active in the demolition of the railroad from the south which carried supplies to General Lee's Confederate forces defending Richmond, and took part in the surrender of General Lee.

The old 156th Regiment was the third force of local men to leave Kingston for the battlegrounds, according to the speaker. This group was known as the Mountain Legion under the command of Erastus Cook. It entered the war in 1862 and was sent to New Orleans and "upcountry in Louisiana" where it participated in several sharp skirmishes. Later it was transferred to the Shennandoah Valley under General Philip Sheridan, and was finally discharged at Augusta, Georgia in 1865.

Plank concluded by pointing out that other local men were in service in various other outfits, mostly as replacements, including the 7th Regiment known as the Silk Stocking Regiment and the 25th Cavalry — the latter also serving in the army commanded by General Philip Sheridan.

Divided on Laos

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union and the West were divided today on whether to send the truce commission in Laos new instructions to help it stop the continuing clashes between forces of the pro-Western royal government and the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels.

The Indian - Canadian - Polish commission, which certified two weeks ago that a cease-fire existed and thus got the Geneva conference started, sent word from Laos that fighting was still going on and asked for fresh orders. The commission said both sides have complained of violations and added that the tangled jungles in Laos make policing of the truce difficult.

Agree on School Fund

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Thirty-four African countries have agreed on a $4-billion program to add five million children to their schools in the next five years.

The plans were worked out at a 10-day educational conference which ended here Thursday. European powers with territorial responsibilities in Africa also attended.

Legion Auxiliary Hears Reports at County Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Ulster County Committee American Legion Auxiliary was held Monday at Highland. President Mrs. Virginia Snyder presided. Committee reports were given and the county members were informed that the magazine campaign is in progress.

The Third District Conference will be held Saturday, June 12, at Sharon Springs, Schoharie County. All units were requested to send unit president and membership chairman. Reservations must be in by June 5 accompanied by remittance to Mrs. Evelyn Mae Hill, Richmondville. Conference will be held in the central school and will convene 10:30 a.m. Saturday, June 10. This year the annual department convention will be held at Albany, from July 27 through July 29.

Mrs. Snyder appointed Mrs. Betty Sanford, housing chairman, for this affair.

May 9, the Department of New York American Legion Auxiliary, entertained the national president, Mrs. Henry Ahnemiller at a dinner at Patricia Murphy's Restaurant. Twelve members attended from Ulster County including county chairman, Mrs. Virginia Snyder, who gave a report of the affair.

Department President Mrs. Mary Robbins introduced Past Department Commander Aldo Benedetto, who presented a scroll to the national president on behalf of the City of New York for outstanding service to the community, state and nation.

Mrs. Ahnemiller outlined the purposes and programs of the auxiliary.

Meeting adjourned with a Prayer for Peace by acting Chaplain Mrs. Ethel Howard.

Poppy posters were also judged at this meeting. Mrs. Edith Schaffer, county poppy poster chairman, announced the following winners:

First class in grades 4 to 6—Miss Patricia Rhode, Port Ewen School grade 6.

Second Class, 7-8-9th grades—Cheryl Churchwell, 7th grade, Rondout Valley Junior High School.

new long-range program. Kennedy said:

"Real progress in economic development cannot be achieved by annual, short-term dispensations of aid and uncertainty as to future intentions. These (long-term) methods are essential to our new approach to development assistance to the effectiveness of that approach."

Asks Early Passage

"The long-term borrowing authority could be used to make loans repayable in up to 50 years, at low rates or no interest charge.

Kennedy asked for early passage of his proposal "in the earnest hope and expectation that the United States will meet its challenges and responsibilities in this decade of development in a forthright, affirmative manner which can engender the respect and cooperation of the community of free nations."

Even some of the program's strongest supporters said it would encounter "great difficulty" in escaping drastic cuts by Congress.

In his message to Congress Thursday, Kennedy upped his foreign aid proposals by $535 million—$250 million for flexible economic aid and $285 million for arms to countries facing growing Red guerrilla threats.

The President said this increased sacrifice by the American people would be "minimal and crucial" for "the single most important program available for building the frontiers of freedom."

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., told reporters the foreign aid program always encounters rough going in Congress and "it may encounter even greater difficulties this year."

Fulbright said the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has set next Wednesday as the tentative date for starting hearings on the measure with Secretary of State Dean Rusk as the administration's first spokesman. Fulbright is committee chairman.

County Alerted For Hail and Damaging Winds

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The U. S. Weather Bureau said at 12:30 p.m. today severe thunderstorms that would produce hail and locally damaging winds could be expected in the Lower Hudson Valley until about 4 p.m.

The storm was expected to be most severe in Ulster, Dutchess, Orange and Putnam counties, the bureau said.

as a lawyer practicing law, as a professor of law at Fordham Law School, then as a member of the Supreme Court bench to which he was elected in 1930 and as an associate judge of the Court of Appeals on which he served from 1945, prior to his elevation to chief judge of the Court of Appeals on April 25, 1946 when he was named to that post by Thomas E. Dewey, then governor of the State of New York. In Nov., 1946, he was elected for a full 14-year term under bi-partisan endorsement and was serving as chief judge at the time of his death, March 31, 1953.

One of Keenest Legal Minds

President Elwyn referred to Judge Loughran as one of the state's great jurists and said his was "one of the keenest legal minds in the country." He spoke of him as a kind and gentle man and said the memorial was being presented in honor of one of Ulster County's most illustrious sons. Elwyn said it was fitting that the painting should be hung in the courtroom where Judge Loughran had presided as a supreme court justice and in a room "he knew and loved so well."

Elwyn paid tribute to Harry E. Schirick, who retired this year from the supreme court bench and is now an official referee, for the assistance he had given as chairman of the committee which early this winter commissioned Artist Arnst to paint the portrait.

Judge Foster Speaks

Judge Foster spoke briefly of the career of Judge Loughran with whom he had served several years as a trial justice of the supreme court on the Third Judicial District circuit. Judge Foster spoke of the appointment of Judge Loughran as chief judge of the Court of Appeals directly from the appellate court bench. He referred to him as a "great lawyer and jurist" and then introduced Judge Charles F. Desmond, chief judge of the Court of Appeals.

To tell of the accomplishments of Judge Loughran in detail, Judge Desmond said, would take much time and to "tell all that is in my heart would make for a long discourse." He referred to Judge Loughran as a "great jurist" and a "much loved man" citing numerous personal incidents in the life of Judge Loughran. "He loved lawyers and lawyers loved him," Judge Desmond said. It was appropriate that the portrait is hung in "this historic Hudson River town where he lived and was loved by all the people" and he said it was equally appropriate that Judge Loughran's death had come as he was "on his way to an act of worship" in his church.

Speaking of the judicial career of Judge Loughran, Judge Desmond said he had taken office "not to preside over others but to provide for them." He closed his remarks by paying a tribute to the great career of Judge Loughran as a jurist.

Negro President Within 40 Years Is Possible: JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in a broadcast beamed overseas today that racial prejudices are being broken down in this country and a Negro could be president within the next 30 to 40 years.

The attorney general made a Voice of America broadcast from his office to tell the world what the federal government has been doing about recent racial violence in Alabama.

His words were carried to more than 60 countries around the globe through the facilities of 39 radio transmitters in 13 locations in this country and elsewhere.

Translations were superimposed over his voice in delivery of the talk to 37 different language areas.

Speaking extemporaneously, the 35-year-old attorney general told his vast audience that prejudice exists in all areas of the world and probably will continue to exist.

"But we are trying to make progress," he said. "We do not accept the status quo."

Kennedy recalled that his grandfather arrived in Boston only 50 years ago as an Irish immigrant at a time when "the Irish were not wanted there."

Referring to his brother, President John F. Kennedy, the attorney general said: "Now an Irish Catholic is president of the United States. There is no question that in the next 30 to 40 years a Negro can be president, also."

Kingston Honor Patrolman Almost Gets State Post

MEYER LEVY

Kingston gained singular honor at the 36th annual meeting of the New York State Police Conference in the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake, this week, with the nomination of Officer Meyer Levy, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, for the post of the conference's recording secretary.

Since it came, however, unexpectedly, and without sufficient advance notice, the local patrolman had little time for campaigning, and lost by only 12 votes to Philip Accuri, of Utica. The latter heads the PBA in that city.

It was the first time in the history of the conference that a candidate has been named from one of the state's smaller cities to run for a conference office.

Al Sgaglione, of the Port of New York Authority Police, New York, was elected conference president. He succeeds John R. Martin, of New York's Transit Police. The election was held Thursday morning.

Officer Levy's nomination was sponsored by members of the Western New York State Police Conference. It was noted that even though the Kingston patrolman lost, and undoubtedly because of the closeness of the election, he had boosted his popularity among conference members. An attendance of some 1,000 policemen was reported.

Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson delivered the principal address at the conference, and he remained there for several sessions.

Officer Levy won a Kiwanis Club citation in 1959 as local patrolman of the year. It came because of his action in line of duty in saving the life of Officer John Crespino, who had fallen into an excavation inside a cave, where the officers had been falsely told that children were in trouble.

$3.5 Billion U. S. Deficit Seen in Kennedy Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal budget will be more than $2.5 billion in the red next fiscal year if Congress approves President Kennedy's plan to spend more on space research, defense, foreign aid and other programs.

Kennedy two months ago forecast a deficit of $2.8 billion, assuming action by Congress to boost postal rates.

The programs advocated by Kennedy Thursday in a special message to Congress would add $724 million to spending in the 1962 fiscal year which begins July 1. There would be a corresponding increase in the deficit.

In addition, Kennedy said a later message will call for more funds for civil defense. Officials estimated this might add another $70 million or so to next year's spending total.

Treasury experts haven't made any significant changes in their March prediction that fiscal 1962 revenues will total $81.4 billion. However, the Kennedy programs so far announced would boost spending to a peacetime high of more than $85 billion.

Spending also would be increased in future years. While outlays in fiscal 1962 would be hiked by $724 million under the recommendations made Thursday, nearly $1.6 billion would be appropriated with the difference being spent in later years.

Kennedy told Congress his recommendation would not require any increase in taxes.

Kennedy forecast the economy would reach new highs in the coming months and said, "The recession has been halted, recovery is under way."

However, he said solution of the unemployment problem will continue to present a serious challenge.

Challenge Goes To Laymen to Heal Sick Souls

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A Methodist bishop has challenged laymen of the church to heal the "grievously sick" soul of America through Christian endeavors.

Bishop Everett W. Palmer of Seattle, Wash., said Thursday laymen had more access to their communities than ministers, who, he said, spend 95 per cent of their time working with their own church people.

Bishop Palmer addressed the 94th annual meeting of the Central New York Conference of the Methodist Church. About 600 delegates are attending.

166 Lose Lives In April Traffic, 15 Above 1960

ALBANY—Auto accidents on New York State streets and highways during April brought death to 166 persons in 151 accidents, the Department of Motor Vehicles reported today. This was 15 more than the number killed in April of last year.

Fifty-nine of those killed were pedestrians, 11 of them when they were struck while crossing the highway between intersections. Ten others died when struck by vehicles whose drivers did not have the right of way.

Reports of the accidents filed with the Department indicate that in 78 per cent, some violation of the Vehicle and Traffic Law was committed, either by the drivers or by the pedestrians.

Excessive speed was a factor in 54 accidents and 66 deaths; 20 reckless driving violations figured in 21 deaths; 12 drivers on the wrong side of the road were involved in crashes in which 15 were killed; and 24 deaths occurred because drivers did not have the right of way.

Nine pedestrians suffered fatal injuries when crossing against traffic signals, seven when coming out from behind parked cars, five when standing or playing in the street, three while walking with traffic, one while hitching on a vehicle and one while crossing the street diagonally.

Twelve intoxicated drivers were implicated in as many fatalities.

The fatality score for the first four months of 1961 has now reached 537, seven below that for the similar period of 1960.

Bids Kennedy Hike Tariff on Jap Gloves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., has asked President Kennedy to raise the tariff on baseball and softball gloves imported mainly from Japan.

Stratton urged the President in a letter to adopt a recommendation of the Tariff Commission to raise the tariff from 15 per cent to 30 per cent of gloves' purchase prices.

The glove industry in his district, Stratton said, had been hard hit by unemployment, which he attributed to foreign competition.

As Spray Manager, Mr. Beak is responsible for the protection and quality of 100,000 bushels of apples grown annually at the Beak and Skiff Apple Farm. Guthion provides the broad protection he wants, and reduces his costs appreciably.

"Guthion cuts our spraying costs by $10,000, gives us superior control of codling moths and leaf rollers"

Says Mr. C. Ronald Beak, Spray Manager, Beak & Skiff Apple Farm, Lafayette, N.Y.

"No more 'crash programs' for each insect... Guthion alone does the whole job"

"Guthion has enabled us to not only reduce our insect control costs from $36,000 to $26,000 annually," reports Mr. Beak, "but we now get sure, constant control with periodic Guthion applications, by commencing our program promptly at petal fall. Before using Guthion, we were spending more and more each year for constant inspections and for special crash sprayings for individual insects, using high concentrates of phosphates and miticides. Guthion has eliminated these worries.

"The all-season dependability of Guthion has saved us both time and money. We have been able to eliminate two or three spray applications each season. It used to require three sprayers to treat our orchard at 10 day intervals. We now do the same job with Guthion with two sprayers and apply at 10 to 15 day intervals.

Guthion controls major pests

"But perhaps the most important consideration of all is the superior, long-lasting effectiveness of Guthion," Mr. Beak says. "For example, we made our last application of Guthion on the equivalent of 2,000 bushels of early McIntosh and Dutchess apples last July 11. Without further protection, they were picked August 15th.

"We did not find a single instance of codling moth or red-banded leaf roller. Aphids were kept at a minimum and mites were reduced to an acceptable incidence level. This same degree of control held true throughout the remainder of the orchard."

Higher grade fruit assured

"The amount of seconds in our crop is lower than at any time in recent years," Mr. Beak reports. "And Guthion gives our trees a better appearance, too. The leaves are greener and healthier . . . and since they supply nutrients to the growing apples, this better appearance is reflected in the quality of the apples themselves."

Higher profits from Guthion

Here's why Guthion means more fruit profits for you. It is the only single insecticide that controls all major fruit pests, all season long. Guthion alone equals or surpasses the control of any complicated combination of chemicals.

Guthion lasts longer, too . . . eliminates worry about special insect build-ups, specific spray timing, and even eliminates between cover sprays. To reduce your spray costs and get better insect control this season, use Guthion. It works!

DURABLE SURPLUSES

Nearly every political leader on the national scene evidently wants to offer some plan of attack on the country's farm surpluses, with their staggering cost.

Yet, as these plans have unfolded through the years, farm economics researchers have been piling up data suggesting that surpluses may be with us at least a generation.

It is almost as if the politicians and the researchers were operating in different worlds.

Since World War II, successive administrations have tried flexible as against high, rigid price supports; the soil bank and conservation reserve; a new plan to boost feed grain supports in exchange for acreage cuts.

This last is still untried, since farmers are just now signing up. The other plans are conceded to have had no more than limited effect.

Only the somewhat controversial general Kennedy farm bill, not yet out of the hearing stage, seems to acknowledge the sort of impasse the researchers indicate. For, in what looks to be an act of some desperation, the President proposes that farmers themselves, consulting with Agriculture Department experts, draft individual programs for all farm commodities.

The researchers are not backing down from earlier sober forecasts of continuing surpluses.

A big key to the problem is the sizable reservoir of untapped technology available to farmers. Many do not use known aids—better fertilizers and pesticides, more efficient ways of converting feed into livestock weight, improved machinery and machine techniques.

The new analysis, by Agriculture Department specialists, says that if farmers tapped the technical reservoir fully and thus produced maximum yields, we could in 1975 support 230 million people (against today's 183 million), and maintain relatively high exports from virtually the same crop and pasture acreage we have now.

Actually they don't expect so complete a use of available technology. But even when they scale their projection down to fit a lower use of technical aids, they figure U.S. farmers can fill all 1975 needs for 230 millions — including exports — by adding only 20 million acres to present over-all totals.

Those 20 million acres are less than the projected net additional acreage expected by 1975 from irrigation, drainage, land clearing and other conversions.

Beyond the 20 million acres, any new land brought into use is seen as a potential producer of surpluses.

So, too, would be any brand new gains in technology. And few experts imagine farmers in the next 14 years will be limited to "presently available technology."

Only a population climb exceeding markedly today's estimates might soak up this extra farm potential and wipe out surpluses.

CASTRO VS. BASEBALL

Baseball being a decadent, imperialistic game, Fidel Castro has launched a program aimed at making soccer Cuba's major sport. He might succeed, too. Soccer is rugged and exciting, with great spectator appeal.

But baseball, if it yields at all, will yield grudgingly. For years the Cubans, including the bearded dictator, have been wild about the game and many Cubans are major league stars in the United States. Even though Castro wills it, this enthusiasm won't suddenly die merely because the government plans to sponsor 250 soccer teams for boys throughout the island.

The shift, if it comes, will take years. And should soccer eventually become Cuba's big game we shall not grieve too much. They can have it, just as they can have the goat's milk Castro is urging them to drink.

CRIME INCREASES

The annual report of J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, provided a sociological review of the United States. This report comes in the form of testimony before the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives. The FBI pays for itself in the dollar value of fines, savings and recoveries and therefore really costs the American people nothing.

As one reads the testimony, the question must arise as to why crimes continue to increase in this country. What is wrong with our people? Is crime due to the shift from rural to urban life? Is it due to lack of parental influence? Is it due to broken homes? For instance, the FBI reports that in 1960, 17,430 stolen automobiles were located. This represented $26,500,000. Most automobile thieves are teen-agers. What causes a teen-ager to steal an automobile?

Hoover told the congressional committee:

"Preliminary figures for the last calendar year, 1960, reflected a twelve per cent increase in crime over 1959. This is a shocking situation when we realize that the year 1959 registered a record-high volume. Each major crime classification showed an increase in 1960. . . . Auto thefts surged upward 7 per cent, forcible rapes and murders increased 4 per cent.

"While the population increase is one of the factors to be considered in the rising tide of crimes, in reality we can trace our increasing crime rates today primarily to two malignant conditions—public apathy and moral deterioration or decay of our population."

Public apathy is a frightful condition. Recently, sometime after midnight, I heard a woman shriek, "Help!" I looked out of my window and saw a tall, dark man seize the woman's purse. Considering that I live on the eighth floor of a tenement and that I can not run much, I tried to call the police on the telephone but could not reach the operator. It used to be so easy to dial "O," get an operator, say that you want the police and be put right through. But not these days. "O" comes on slowly and by the time she arrives, she is not needed.

So, I put on a coat and went downstairs, six or seven minutes later. The superintendent of our building had tried to capture the purse-snatcher and failed. The fellow was too fast, but he was finally caught in a subway station and identified. The police, on this occasion, did very good work.

But there were men on the street when the purse-snatching occurred. They minded their own business. The woman screamed. There were plenty of taxi-cabs moving back and forth but none stopped. A driver once told me that to interfere might cost him a day or two of earnings while he sat around being questioned by time-wasting police and then he would have to testify in court. He is no hero. He moves on. Some cab-drivers like to be heroes, but not this one who was talking to me. So the woman might have been mugged.

Near where I live is a beautiful park, which cost the city millions of dollars to create and care for. But the children will not play there and adults are afraid to go there. It is absurd that parks should be occupied by drunks and homosexuals who frighten children and who abuse women. And there are packs of hoodlums who move about the parks, molesting girls, seizing clothes and committing mayhem and in the darker hours rape. Central Park in New York City is one of the most beautiful parks in all the world, but no one enters it after dark, except in a few protected spots.

Does the public complain? Do they make crime a campaign issue? J. Edgar Hoover says of this:

"The rising crime rate is ample evidence of the unfortunate spread of moral deterioration among the growing segments of our population. This condition not only exists within the criminal element itself, but has also corrupted millions of our Nation's citizens who are willing to compromise their ideals if an easy dollar can be made."

This is a frightful indictment of our civilization. Essentially it means that morality and decency are not being impressed upon young people as vividly as vice, immorality, the fast buck are impressed upon them. The movies and television show, in the end, that crime does not pay, but it is amusing and exciting before the punishment comes. That can have something to do with what is wrong.

Paranoia Marks Persons With Persecution Complex

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is paranoia a very dangerous disease? Is it safe for a person with paranoia to live outside a mental hospital?

A—Paranoia is a symptom, not a disease. Quite literally, it means unsoundness of mind. Actually it is usually used in the sense of feelings or delusions of persecution. Now these feelings or delusions of persecution are of variable importance.

For example, there's the schoolchild who complains that "his teacher has it in for him." A younger daughter complains that her older brother is "always picking on her." A worker says his foreman "hounds him." Until finally you come to the chronic alcoholic or the truly psychotic patient who fancies himself beset by imaginary attackers and assailants, both human and otherwise.

Now, quite obviously, the mildly paranoid person is hardly a candidate for a mental hospital. But when the paranoid symptom is a manifestation of a disease that may result in actions harmful to the person, the family or the community, drastic steps may have to be taken in the common interest. And the nature of that action is a matter for experts to decide.

Q—Is it possible to straighten curvature of a spine in a young child? Does this always require surgery?

A—If the spinal curvature is not too extreme and it is due to a correctible cause such as muscle weakness or a shortened leg, it may be overcome by exercises, the use of braces and adjustments of the shoes.

However, if the cause is not correctible, such as a congenital deformity of the vertebrae or their destruction by a disease like tuberculosis, operative treatment may merit consideration by an experienced orthopedic surgeon.

Q—Each year I have about eight attacks of what the doctors call "paroxysmal auricular tachycardia." I have been taught to press against a blood vessel in my throat until the attack stops, usually in 15 minutes to an hour. Isn't it possible to prevent these attacks from coming? Will they ever prove fatal?

A—Paroxysmal irregularities of the heart, such as the one you describe, are very frequent and very, very rarely the cause for more than passing discomfort.

If the cause can be discovered and corrected or eliminated, the attacks may be prevented. Such causes include over-activity of the thyroid gland, overdoses of drugs such as digitalis, excessive smoking and overloading of the stomach with food and drink.

The method for controlling the attack, by pressing on the carotid sinus in the neck, is approved and usually effective. But some patients discover other methods of stopping the attack like doubling over the back of a chair or standing on the head.

The important thing to remember during the attack is the avoidance of panic. Of the thousands of paroxysmal heart irregularities that occur each day, perhaps 99 per cent-plus are over and done with in a very few moments.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON, (NEA) — Beleagered officials of the Central Intelligence Agency can take satisfaction from an incident at National Areonautics and Space Administration when Astronaut Alan Shepard came to town for his hero's welcome. Turns out that the CIAers are not the only experts who slip occasionally.

That morning, NASA scientists flocked into their auditorium to watch the event on TV. The sound konked out, and no amount of frantic tinkering could fix it.

Finally a secretary brought in a small transistor radio.

Gadgeteer Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) is suffering similar embarrassment. He has invented an electronic flagpole and installed it at his Phoenix, Ariz., home.

The sun triggers an electronic eye, which starts a motor that raises the pole, with flag attached, out of a large canister. At dark, the pole lowers.

Goldwater reluctantly admits that the gadget still has a few bugs. The flag has been seen flying at night.

Still another gadget victim is Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health.

After being introduced at a convention by LeRoy Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters and former Governor of Florida, Ribicoff recalled the last time Collins presented him.

"It was a national convention and television was involved," Ribicoff explained. "Governor Collins had arranged for my speech to be carried on a teleprompter. The only trouble was that in front of 180 million people the teleprompter broke down.

"So today, I brought my own speech—minus teleprompter."

Najeeb E. Halaby, director of the Federal Aviation Agency, deplored at a press conference working conditions of some FAA personnel. As an example, he pointed to a medical project being conducted in an old Navy locker room. Explained Halaby:

"And from the fragrance of the laboratory, I'll bet there are still some old sweat socks lying around."

Don McBride, assistant to Sen. Bob Kerr (D-Okla.) is widely known for his roses. Other day a friend asked him the secret of his success.

"Why it's simple," Don replied. "My wife has a green thumb, I have a strong back."

Three former New York street gang members arrived here to plug a movie called "The Young Savages," in which they have roles. After a Motion Picture Assn. party, they were taken on a tour.

Upon seeing the 555-foot-high Washington Monument, Richard Velez, 19, exclaimed:

"Man, what a groovey scene. Like a nail pushing out of the ground."

Kennedy Before Congress Tried to Cover Too Much

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 25 — There was an impression of confusion and disorder in the way President Kennedy's address to Congress was prepared for delivery and in the actual delivery.

The joint session of the Senate and House didn't hear verbatim the speech which was distributed by the White House to the press about three hours earlier.

Whole sections—approximately 1,500 words—were deleted or changed as the President spoke. The reason given is that this was necessary so as not to use up too much television time. Mr. Kennedy spoke for 44 minutes.

Full Text in "Record"

After it was over, the announcement was made by the White House that the "Congressional Record" would publish the full text of the speech, including not only the brief passages which the President added extemporaneously but also the sections which were eliminated as he spoke.

What then becomes the official text of the President's speech? What was transmitted to the Congress of the United States as the official recommendation of the Chief Executive? Does the "interpolated" version constitute an official expression?

Often in the past a President has made slight changes as he spoke or has added a sentence or two here and there, but the "Congressional Record" would usually print the stenographic report of what was actually said.

Puzzling Item Dropped

Perhaps it was a good thing Mr. Kennedy did some editing. For in the prepared copy given to the press there occurs this puzzling statement:

"Too often we have accepted a merely defensive role. Too often we have let ourselves appear as friends of the status quo—and the status quo may be $50 a year. Meanwhile the pressure of the totalitarian conspiracy mount higher every day, as one nation after another, by internal more often than external means, finds its freedom under attack."

What does the "$50 a year" have to do with it?

Coolly Received

As delivered, the address was more than 6,000 words in length. Anything that runs forty-four minutes tends to tire the audience, and it was apparent that many members of Congress received the speech in a rather indifferent mood—judging by the relatively few manifestations of applause in comparison with the numerous outbursts when Mr. Kennedy appeared last time before a joint session.

It was most unfortunate that the President decided to cover so much ground in a single message. For it would have been far more effective if he had devoted a separate message or communication on different days to each of the important topics that he discussed. Thus, the problem of outer space and the importance of research, including the prospective trip to the moon by some American astronaut, would have made more of an impression on Congress if it had been the subject of a single message.

Before Going Away

As it was, Mr. Kennedy tried to cover too much ground, and perhaps the reason was that he is going to Europe soon and sought to get off his mind and into the minds of members of Congress the point of view of the Administration on many things. Or perhaps it was the desire for publicity through television that caused the President's advisers to persuade him to deliver an omnibus message. The orderly conduct of the government's business and the need for a thorough presentation of current issues to the Congress should, it would seem, outweigh the passion for television exposures.

There is really little new in the President's address. He asks for more Federal appropriations. He hopes that the budget will not be too far out of balance. He is pleased that economic recovery is on the way. He is right also in asking for the small amount of money needed for the United States Information Agency broadcasts to other countries.

General Terms

As for the major recommendations about military reorganization and defense programs, these were presented by Mr. Kennedy in very general terms. The program he recommends for man-power development and training, to give several hundred thousands of workers new occupational skills, is a step in the right direction.

With respect to the coming meetings with Premier Khrushchev, Mr. Kennedy insisted in his message that "no formal agenda is planned and no negotiations will be undertaken" but that there is to be a "personal exchange of views." He added:

"Yet it is important to know that our patience at the bargaining table is nearly inexhaustible, though our credulity is limited—that our hopes for peace are unfailing, while our determination to protect our security is resolute."

These are generalities—more words added to the thousands that have been uttered in recent weeks in the hope of impressing Khrushchev.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Jimmy Reston, the statesman-reporter of the New York Times Washington office, writes that reporters ought to be "discreet" when President Kennedy is engaged in an underground war all over the world.

What is the guy talking about, anyway?

This is a whiff of the same gas that his boss, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, used to bloviate in orations at Columbia University advocating "objective" journalism out of one ear and "interpretive" stuff from the other. When you tell the truth you are objective. When you slant it according to your bigotries or politics, you are interpreting.

But a reporter always should just get the facts, write them and let the publishers decide how much the public intelligence can cope with. We should not concern ourselves, we inkstained wretches, whether something we write will be news to Moscow, or something the Kremlin got from the State Department weeks ago. I feel justified in assuming that with all the spies there have been in our government since Roosevelt moved in in 1933, the odds are that Moscow had it long before I got it. This is intended to seem a little flippant and worldly, but I hope you will detect a faint note of sorrow. Because it is no laughing matter that Kennedy is doing buck-jumps over leakage of information to Cuba and that the chief Times fellow in the Washington Bureau is perhaps giving us the nix out of the same office which drenched us with all that Matthews copy about the noble, democratic nature of Fidel Castro.

On Aug. 30, 1960, Earl E. T. Smith, who had lately been our ambassador in Havana, testified before a subcommittee of the judiciary that when he was appointed in 1957 he went to the State Department and got his "briefing" from Herbert Matthews of the New York Times, who eulogized Castro as a Robin Hood. Smith agreed that Batista ran a crooked government but remarked that 1957,, under Batista, was the best economic year in Cuba's history, yet "various agencies" of the United States directly and indirectly helped to overthrow Batista and raise Castro to power. Smith said the State Department obviously would like to have the support of the New York Times."

"Three front page articles in the New York Times in early 1957 by Herbert Matthews served to inflate Castro to world stature and recognition. Until then, Castro had been just another bandit in the mountains with a handful of followers who terrorized the peasants. After the Matthews articles which likened Castro to Lincoln he was able to get followers and funds in Cuba and the United States and much of the American press pictured him as Robin Hood."

After all that, last November, Lester Markel, the Sunday editor of the Times, wrote a circular letter to a lot of newspaper publishers on behalf of a committee of editors trying to raise a kitty to bring about "better relations in the world" by improving the flow of news between nations. Currently, Markel wrote, there were distortions and the United States was badly represented in the Comunist areas, in the uncommitted areas and "even among our allies."

As lately as last December, Matthews, in a lecture at Yale, abused the United States for an unfriendly attitude toward Castro and insisted still that Castro was not a Communist.

Well, the place to look for danger is not in the hearts of great heroic patriots like Major General Edwin A. Walker, who was relieved of his command of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany for approving some principles of the John Birch Society. The place to look is in the Pentagon where Major Peress was promoted notwithstanding Senator Joe McCarthy's expose and the general who promoted him was himself promoted by Ike's connivance after Ike had joined a whole pack of broadcasters, journalists and miscellany in abusing Joe.

President Kennedy was no novice when, to propitiate Eleanor Roosevelt in his 1960 campaign, he repudiated McCarthy, long in his grave, who had been good enough to help elect him to the Senate in 1952.

Would Kennedy be better off, or worse, if he had disowned Mrs. Roosevelt instead?

To me, the Birch Society is a pro-American league of angry individuals who well may be compared to the early Fascisti. One of these days a club of patriots may at last lay it down and make it stick that a patriot is not a scoundrel for parading his hatred of those who exert themselves as much to abuse Robert Stripling as to excuse Alger Hiss.

West Gets Bombarded With Damaging Hail

By CHARLES R. DOUGLAS
(Freeman Staff Writer)

This is the third in a series of articles on Weather Modification experiments as conducted in the Hudson Valley and elsewhere in the nation.

Northeastern Colorado, say the experts, experiences the heaviest bombardments of damaging hail, but as we all probably know, they happen about everywhere and mostly without the slightest warning except that given by storms which set out with ordinary portent.

Scientists have been keeping trained eyes on Colorado where it has been reported that 94 per cent of some "600 individual thunderstorm cells" have been known to contain hail.

Research there, headed by Dr. Schleusener, therefore, is important, as are the 1959 findings of the Weather Modification Company.

Optimist About Hail

Dr. Schleusener, in a recent letter to this writer, said, "The data available on the effects of hail suppression efforts do not permit one to draw definite conclusions . . . While it is evident that at the present time a cure for the problem of hail has not been found, I am nevertheless inclined to be an optimist in believing that in the long run it will be possible to modify, at least to some effect, the damaging effects from these storms."

Dr. Schleusener, in a report to the National Science Foundation, said that after a detailed study of the 1959 operation, his attitude had changed from that of "a complete skeptic to that of a cautious optimist." He believed, he said, that the operation "did provide some evidence that cloud seeding can modify favorably—at least on some occasions — hailstorms and rainstorms in a beneficial manner."

A phase of his report, he noted, indicates "that only a small hail suppression effect and/or a precipitation increase is required to give a net economic benefit equal to or greater than the cost of the weather modification program."

Points to Wheat Loss

In citing figures intended only to show "the potential value of success in attempts at weather modification," the report notes a winter wheat loss "in excess of $2,600,000" over a period of 1948 through 1957 in three counties of the western state.

The Weather Modification Company, in its report on the 1959 project conducted for the Northeast Colorado Hail Suppression Association, notes that the latter was "fortunate to have a research group under the able leadership" of Dr. Schlesener to undertake "certain evaluation work completely independent of the cloud-seeding group."

This would be the type study provided for the Hudson Valley Area if Dr. Schaefer's plans develop at the State University College at Albany. Phases of a report by Dr. Schaefer on hailstorms and hailstones on the western great plains will be dealt with here later.

Project Lasts 124 Days

In citing the report by the Colorado State University Research group, the Weather Modification Company, in its conclusion, notes that "Of particular implication are the remarks concerning the possible economic benefit that would be associated with a possible hail suppression effect or precipitation increase. Here it is indicated that benefits derived from 2.5 per cent increase in precipitation over the target would equal the cost of the weather modification program undertaken in 1959."

The Colorado project lasted 124 days, of which 52 were listed as "seeding days." Five airplanes were used on the project and they completed 219 flights. Used also for seeding were 135 ground generators.

The full report on the Colorado project is an extensive one and another of much detail covers the Blue Ridge Hail Supression Project conducted in 1959 for the Blue Ridge Weather Modification Association, Martinsburg, West Virginia, phases of which will be given in this series.

Man Accidentally Shot in Car Dies

Charles Becker, 22, Central Islip, L. I., died at Greene County Memorial Hospital Thursday from wounds he suffered on Sunday, May 21, when he was accidentally shot.

Becker was a rear seat passenger in a car operated by Francis McCarthy, 37, of Central Islip. As the car rounded a curve on Route 26, Town of Greenville, a loaded rifle in the front seat shifted toward the driver.

John Dederick, 16, Oak Hill, Greene County, reached for the gun. It fired and the bullet passed through the car seat and struck Becker.

Attempted Burglary Reported at Saugerties

The second attempt to burglarize the Empire Super Market, West Bridge Street, Saugerties early this morning was apparently thwarted by Saugerties Village police. Entry was not gained and nothing was reported missing by the store manager.

Village Patrolman Gordon Keeley on car patrol noticed a wooden ladder standing against the back wall of the market which was burglarized early in December. He radioed to Sgt. J. Keely at headquarters and both checked the premises.

Patrolman Keeley said the door showed evidence of tampering.

Richard McNulty, the store manager was called and after a thorough check said nothing was missing. The manager said he did not recognize the ladder and that it did not belong to the store.

On December 2, the Empire market was forcibly entered, the safe damaged and only cigarettes, candy and food taken. At that time the dial was knocked off the safe and the burglars made their exit through the back door.

About 100 others were reported ill. No other details were given.

Panel Discusses

camp inspections, was also present.

Glen W. Bennett, Albany District supervisor for Division of Industrial Relations of New York State Department of Labor, explained the necessity of labor camps and crew leader registrations.

New legislation requires either the grower or the crew leader, whichever is responsible for the payroll, to keep records instead of both as was formerly requested.

Work done on piece-rate basis is shown on payroll as total number pieces and rate per piece, hours spent on this basis are not required. Of course, any work paid for on hourly basis is so reported.

Cite New Regulations

After January 1, 1962, he stated, all growers who recruit and employ five or more workers will be required to apply for a Migrant Labor Camp registration. At present the law reads "recruit and house 10 or more workers." He, too, commented that applications from this area were more complete and easier to process than most areas.

George Johnson, director of the local office of Social Security, called attention to new regulation of crew leader registration with Social Security Administration. He cautioned growers to ask crew leaders for their identification cards and to record their numbers on reports to that office. Reports from this county, he said, although not complete were much better than on a national level.

Manuel Collazo, field representative of Migration Division of Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, explained the advantages of hiring workers from the island under contract. This contract requires worker to carry an insurance and employer to carry Workmen's Compensation to cover medical and hospital expenses in case of injury or death while in the states. This fact also relieves the burden of the local Welfare Department which is often called when the worker is not under contract.

William N. Palmer, Ulster County agricultural agent, stated the services of his office were available for providing any information concerning new orders and regulations.

The good relationship of the growers and the representatives of the various agencies is proven by the cooperative spirit shown by both in meeting the problems involved in the use of seasonal farm help.

Others from the New York State Employment Service attending were Anthony C. Hart, manager of Kingston Local Office, and Harrison B. Slocum, Farm Employment representative, Newburgh Local Office.

Served as Moderator

Henry Smith, farm employment representative for New York State Employment Service in Kingston, who served as moderator for the panel pointed out that the function of his office is to supply information to employers on availability of domestic labor.

There are four sources of such labor including the local supply. Other sources are the employment offices in nearby counties and New York City, Southern migrants, and contract workers from Puerto Rico.

In 1960, he said, an estimated peak of 3,200 workers were in the county about September 15 during apple harvest. He further stated that the employment service was instrumental in recruiting some 1,500 workers for the area during that year. Nearly half of these workers were southern migrants.

Treasury Notes Available In Very Wide Assortment

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "A friend suggested that I look into Treasury bonds or notes. I lean toward the latter because I don't want to tie up my funds for more than a few years. What are they yielding now, and can I redeem them before maturity without loss of accumulated interest?"—J. C.

A) In some types of securities, your choice is pretty limited. However, Treasury notes are a different story.

They come in almost every coupon imaginable, from 1½ per cent notes due in October, 1961, to 5 per cent notes due in August, 1964. They mature on various dates, ranging from one issue coming due this August to another maturing in April, 1966.

The Government sells Treasury notes with maturities and coupons which are set to take advantage of the money situation existing at the time of the offering. Some of the lower coupons, such as the 1½'s of April, 1965, sell at a substantial discount to yield around 2.9 per cent. The 5's of 1964 have been trading at a premium, yielding about 3.1 per cent.

Treasury notes cannot be redeemed prior to maturity, but you can sell them in the open market. They are sold "plus accrued interest," which means that the buyer pays you the interest which has accumulated since the last coupon was paid.

Q) "I am interested in a stock called Macke Vending. Can you tell me about the company, its location and your rating of the stock for growth?" — K. L.

A) Macke Vending (ASE) is the largest vending machine operator in the Washington, D. C. area and also operates along the Middle Atlantic seaboard. Growth has been quite rapid. You must understand that in buying this stock, you are paying a high premium for growth and that there is an element of market risk which you must assume. If you can afford to do this, I think Macke is a good choice in its field.

State Will Join With Ontario in Drive on Crime

TORONTO (AP)—Ontario Premier Leslie Frost announced today that New York State has agreed to join in a U. S.-Canadian conference to combat crime rings operating across the border.

Frost said Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson of New York, in a telephone conversation, "offered complete cooperation on the law-enforcement front, and I promised the same on behalf of Ontario."

The premier said the conference, opening in Toronto Wednesday, will be attended by representatipes of the U. S. Bureaus of Narcotics and Customs, Internal Revenue Service and Treasury; the Canadian mounted police, and the Ontario provincial police, Canadian customs and Toronto police, and the New York representatives.

The conference will try to establish the extent of crime connection between Ontario and neighboring New York, probe for weaknesses in law - enforcement measures and study ways of correcting them.

Frost said the arrest in Ontario this week of three men indicted in New York in connection with a large heroin smuggling operation indicates the clos ecooperation prevailing among Canadian, Ontario and New York police.

Hungarian Bares Eichmann's Role In Boy's Killing

By THOMAS A. REEDY

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — A Hungarian Jew pressed into slave labor testified today that he saw Adolf Eichmann take part in the murder of a Jewish boy accused of stealing cherries from the Gestapo chief's garden.

The eyewitness account had the impact of a thunderclap on the packed courtroom, where in the six weeks since the trial started Eichmann has been accused mainly of high-level direction of the Nazi slaughter of six million Jews.

Avraham Gordon, 35, now a guard at a copper processing plant in Israel, was a boy of 16 to 17 when he worked on tank traps and gun emplacements in the gardens of the villa Eichmann conscripted for his Budapest headquarters in 1944.

"It was the first murder I ever saw," Gordon said. "Later I saw many."

The witness said Eichmann and his bodyguard, Slavek, beat a Jewish boy of 16 or 17, named Shalomon, to death for stealing cherries from the orchard nearby.

"We never believed he did steal any," Gordon said.

Cross-examined by defense counsel Robert Servatius, Gordon refused to budge from his story.

Gordon's story drew the prosecution case against Eichmann in Hungary near a close—the climax point for both the state and the defense—because it was in Hungary that the Gestapo bureaucrat took personal command in the field of "Jewish affairs". While Eichmann was there in the summer of 1944, Hungary's 600,000 Jews, the last big group left in Europe, were deported to the death camps.

1960 Term Was Most Active of Unit's History

Robert J. Heaney of 5 Guyton Street, retiring commandant of Ulster Detachment Marine Corps League, was honored at a recent dinner a Hoppey's Restaurant as the leader "for what turned out to be the most active year of the detachment's history."

The largest single project of the year and also of the entire 15-year activity of the organization was the 1960 Marine Corps League state convention which was held in Kingston.

Commandant Heaney had the responsibility of coordinating and planning the entire sessions with help from his convention committee.

He also conducted the annual Marine League ball which also went down into annals of the organization as an outstanding success.

In addition to these activities, Ulster Detachment during 1960 engaged in many public functions and increased its Marine scholarship program.

Heaney, who served in the Korean conflict, expressed his appreciation for the testimonial when he said "This honor is appreciated more than mere words can state." He added that he would continue his efforts and dedication to the organization to help it prosper and grow.

Heaney, who is employed by the Kingston IBM plant, is married to the former Miss Florence DeCicco. They are the parents of a daughter, Linda, age 5.

Abducted and Killed

Socialites Found Slain in Jersey; Police Hold Pair

By ALAN LEVIN

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP)—The partly disrobed bodies of two socialites were found early today with the white Cadillac in which they had been abducted. One woman was strangled and the second was run over by the big car as she apparently tried to flee.

Several hours later police arrested two young Negroes and held them on suspicion of murder. Detective Daniel Hennessy said both denied any part in the crime but the officer said "They've both implicated themselves so far that they can't get out of it."

The dead were identified as Mrs. Elliot C. Ewell, 49, Westfield, the wife of the executive vice president of the Mack Truck Co. here, and Mrs. Robert Tyson, 50, Plainfield, whose husband is a New York stockbroker and also an executive with Mack.

The suspects are Lorelle Parks, 22, Plainfield, and Joseph Maxey, 23, Dunellen. Both are employes of Dom's Auto Sales in Plainfield.

Hennessy said the keys to the Cadillac as well as a wallet belonging to one of the woman were found in Parks' pocket. He said both men came here recently from the South.

Capt. Arthur Phillips tabbed the two as "definitely the men" sought in the double slaying.

Mrs. Ewell was found crumpled under the right front wheel of the car. Detectives said she must have been run down several times. Mrs. Tyson's body was on the floor in the back seat of the car. Articles of clothing were found in a field nearby.

Dr. Bernard Ehrenberg, Union County physician, called it "the most vicious crime I have ever seen." He said the women will be examined to determine if they had been assaulted sexually.

Two patrolmen discovered the car with the bodies in a small wooded lane in a Negro neighborhood. The lane deadends into a creek. Police were called by a cab driver, Wilbur Morris, who witnessed the abduction shortly after 1 a.m.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABONS PARK, Mass., May 26. Properly located acreage should be the best hedge against inflation, owing to its limited amount and the growth in population. I spent two months last fall studying land in Europe (I am making no report now on the Latin and South American countries or Canada.) As there was little interest in tourist travel in Europe during the winter. I have held these notes until now.

Owing to Great Britain's desire to break up all unproductive estates of available acreage, I know of no bargains in acreage in England—although raw acreage can be purchased in Scotland and Wales. However, I have traveled 900 miles by automobile in Ireland. There are few industries in Ireland due to the lack of natural resources. The people are healthy, happy, and willing to work. The youth of Ireland—outside of the few large cities—are happy living on farms which they expect to inherit from their parents. As a result, very little of the good farming land is for sale in Ireland, even at high prices. Land which sells in Kansas for $100 per acre cannot be bought in Ireland for less than $400 per acre.

The mountain land in the western portion, which is good only for grazing sheep, can be bought $10 or so per acre, depending upon its accessibility. Lakes and rivers abound in Ireland, which makes it good for pasturing. In fact, the acreage in Ireland may be divided into three groups. (1) Good farm land in the Golden Midlands;" (2) pasture land with good green grass but with not much depth of soil, which sells for about $150 per acre; and (3) rocky mountain land only for sure-footed sheep and cattle, but preferably in the southern part near the ocean.

France, Italy, and Other Countries

The above comments as to prices regarding Ireland apply also to France, Switzerland and Italy. No good acreage is available in Belgium, Holland or West Germany. Not only is the fertile land there in production, but the farmers control the politics, tariffs, and even prices. Italy, however, is fast becoming an industrial nation with waterpower and other natural resources. U. S. manufacturers should watch Italy and Switzerland (and also Japan), although these countries now have much unemployment.

Europe has natural resources, including navigable rivers, iron, coal, chemicals and waterpower. It also has a climate which encourages people to work. Wages are fairly low and there is no scarcity of labor in most localities. This explains why so many American manufacturers are buying or building plants in Europe. Labor unions exist, but with the exception of those in France, are not now much of a handicap.

My comments regarding the three classes of land in Ireland also apply to Spain. Spain has waterpower, both developed and undeveloped. It has coal, oil, and chemicals. Wages are low and the cost of living is reasonable. Industries are springing up in Spain and the climate is fair, for both workers and tourists. Perhaps as a foreign hedge against inflation I would advise the purchase of well-located land in Spain, especially in the suburbs of Madrid, Toledo, Barcelona, and Valencia. The big real estate profits in Spain will take place in "Suburbia" — which is now just starting.

Of course, no one should invest in any foreign country without spending a month therein and seeing the land personally. Spain has several different kinds of terrain and climate — dry and wet, mountainous and fertile, cold and warm. Most of what I say about Spain also applies to Portugal. I advise the southern coastal portion of Spain. The west coastal country is warm in winter and may be compared to our Florida. Southwest of Barcelona toward Gibraltar there are several very attractive places. Given the same altitude, the temperature should grow warmer as one travels southwest from Barcelona or Madrid. Malaga is supposed to have the best all-round climate of any city in Spain.

Let me describe in some detail the area from Barcelona eastward to the French border where one approaches the French Riviera. One can reach Barcelona by steamship, or plane, or railroad train. From Barcelona to the French border is about 75 miles. One can make the trip in 3 hours by automobile or in one hour by electric train. The first town which interested me was San Pedro. This is about 20 miles east of Barcelona and has a good beach with medium-priced hotels. The next was Plana on the Sea, which is rapidly developing somewhat like our New York Coney Island. The next point of interest is Lloret de Mar. These places are old towns with very narrow streets, while the sandy beaches for sunning and bathing are superb. All these places have numerous hotels at all prices.

A fourth place of interest is Tossa by the Sea. This place is more expensive than the others and now appeals only to gay young people who want to bathe or lie in the sun all day and dance all night! Furthermore, the highway between Lloret and Tossa is very winding, with over 20 dangerous hairpin turns. Those going from Barcelona to Tossa or beyond should take the electric railway and avoid these hairpin curves with great high cliffs on one side and 1000-foot drops on the other.

What Land to Buy

Now for the final and most important reason why I think good money could be made east of Barcelona by those who are willing to go there and live for a month and look carefully about. Here are three simple rules to follows: (1) Buy well-drained farm land between the highway and the ocean even if it is bisected by the electric railway. Insist that your land go down to the ocean. (2) Buy land now cultivated so that the rent which some reliable farmer will pay you will take care of the taxes. (3) Be sure your title is good, which means buy it through some reliable local banker or real estate agent. These rules apply to buying land for speculation in all of the above countries.

You will soon realize that situations exist for profit which I have not found in the suburbs of any large city in the world. From the time you leave San Pedro you will find small farms located all along the line adjoining good residences. I cannot give you prices per acre because equally good producing soil appears to sell at entirely different prices. You must check up on a large number of such farm plots and then buy the cheapest; but insist on the above three conditions and, of course, get your land in a good neighborhood with good neighbors. This you can do only by living for one month between San Pedro and Lloret by the Sea.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Close-Up," the ABC public affairs program, has concentrated largely on the big, international picture to date—communism in Cuba, nationalism among new nations. Next week, however, its sights will focus on something close to home: our citizens who are physically soft.

The program, next Tuesday night (10-10:30 Eastern Daylight Time) is called "The Flabby American," and the principal viewer-with-alarm will be a small brunette woman of 47 with a stunning figure which is decidedly unflabby. Her name is Bonnie Prudden and her profession is physical fitness.

"The problem," said Miss Prudden, mother of two, "is largely caused today by women with children. They protect their young so carefully that children today never really get a chance to develop their muscles."

Miss Prudden says today's crop of youngsters is in much worse physical shape than their parents and grand parents.

"People who are 40 or older once were active. And muscles, even when long out of use, have memories. Right now I can get a man or woman over 40 back into good physical shape in six weeks; and it takes me two years to do the same thing for children 14 to 16."

Modern conveniences, she says, help produce flabby muscles.

"House work today is from the elbow—unfortunately there is no longer much need for bending and reaching," she said. "Aging, after all, is merely moving in a narrower circumference and that is what these aids are permitting us to do."

Former presidential press secretary James Hagerty will turn newscaster—temporarily — as a member of the ABC team covering President Kennedy's European trip. Polly Bergen is so busy with motion picture and night-club engagements she won't be back on the "To Tell the Truth" panel until fall.

Recommended tonight: "Way Out," CBS, 9:30-10:30 (Eastern Daylight Time) — "False Face," with Alfred Ryder, a chiller evoking the ghost of the Hunchback of Notre Dame.

No Clinic Monday

The routine chest X-ray clinic regularly scheduled at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital will not be held Monday morning, May 29, due to the holiday. The next regular clinic will be held on Wednesday, May 31.

Leaders Prepare To Curb Public Hearings on CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders today were poised for quick action to curb plans for public hearings on U.S. intelligence activities.

The leaders w[illegible] taken by surprise Thursday [illegible] the House Rules Committee named a five-man subcommittee to determine if a full scale investigation should be made of the Central Intelligence Agency and similar top secret agencies in the Defense and State departments.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., Rules Committee chairman, gave the subcommittee authority to conduct public hearings and summon witnesses.

The action came without fanfare and was approved without objection by any Rules Committee member.

House leaders said they would try to persuade Rep. Ray J. Madden, D-Ind., the subcommittee chairman, not to conduct public hearings with non-congressional witnesses.

A few hours before the committee action, President Kennedy, in a special address to a joint session of Congress, had said, "Our whole intelligence effort must be reviewed, and its coordination with other elements of policy assured. This is not a matter on which public discussion is useful."

Shortly after the Cuban invasion fiasco last month, the President named a special task force headed by retired Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former Army chief of staff, to study possible changes in the U.S. intelligence program.

OUR ANCESTORS by Quincy

"What—sell on the installment plan? Are you trying to ruin this establishment?"

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

This is the first time I ever owned or handled a "stampless cover." These are sheets of paper, which are folded like envelopes, and stamped by hand before stamps were used in this country. During the Civil War, when paper was scarce anything which could be folded flat and written on and sent was used. Often wallpaper was used. This one I just acquired for 10 cents at the Stamp Exhibition at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Saturday and Sunday, May 13 and 14 by the Stamptrotters Society and Upstate New York Precancel Society.

This is a Mobile shipping and commercial list, dated "Mobile, Saturday morning, Nov. 21, 1835." It has two pages, eight and a half by 11, like a typewriting sheet, first sheet printed, second a handwritten business letter. Here are some news in 1835 from Mobile: "During the past week, business has improved. The rivers have risen some, and in consequence boats arrive more frequently, and more activity prevails in the market. . . . Cotton: Out accounts last week, closed with the anticipation that in consequence of the very unfavorable advice from England, no extensive operations would take place in the cotton market without considerable reduction in price. . . . They were then selling some 2,000 bales going for around 15 cents for "middling to good qualities." If England cried then, when in the midst of our Civil War, cotton went nearly double that, and threw many Britishers out of work, then they realized how important this little new country of United States was, to their well being and commerce. Cotton was really king during the Civil War years.

According to this very careful report our United States was selling cotton back in 1835 to Britain, of course, also to France, to northern Europe, to many other countries and of course to our own northern states, all are listed here, too numerous to mention.

In case anyone would like a list of "Vessels in the Port of Mobile," dated Nov. 21, 1835, it is all here. There are some 22 ships, giving their destination, if any; some printed "uncertain" and the consignees. Four are listed as "Barques" and I think the name of the captain, like "Ceylon, Hamilton, tons, 281, Uncertain, Toulmin H & Co." There are 24 listed under "Brigs." There are also some 20 schooners. If anyone thinks that perhaps his relatives sailed any of these I will gladly try and find the name.

Here are some of the "imports" Mobile, our southern port was receiving. From Havana on the Brig Neptune, there was 50 boxes of sugar; 181 bags of coffee; 63 M segars; 65 bunches bananas. From Cincinnati on the steamboat Ophelia came 251 pieces baggings; 203 coils rope; 44 bbls. whiskey; 358 do apples. Here are some of the items from the wholesale prices current, Nov. 21, 1835: Bale rope, bacon, butter, coffee, candles, flour, hay, lumber, lard, mackerel, potatoes, pork, rice, raisins, sugar, salt and whiskey. For instance under salt: No "sale by the quantity. It is selling from the stores at $1.62 up to $1.75 per sack. Received this week 1200 sacks." They received 1200 boxes of fresh bloom raisins direct from Malaga, selling for 95 cents for quarter boxes. That was some 25 years before the Civil War, enough of everything for everyone, who desired to work for it.

THE PRESIDENT'S ITINERARY—Newsmap traces the path of President Kennedy's second trip out of this country. His journey will extend from the night of May 30 to the night of June 5. In addition to the meetings with heads of state, the President and Mrs. Kennedy will attend the christening of the First Lady's niece in London and also dine with Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip.

Jury Indicts 3 NYC Men in Scrap Theft

The men are William J. Doran, 65, of Cheektowaga; George W. Lain, 60, Amherst; and Reginald H. Eyre, 55, of Buffalo.

FBI agents charged the men with the theft of at least 10 tons of brass from the car May 12. The car had been switched onto a siding at a salvage yard, where approximately $8,000 worth of brass was removed, the agents said.

The first winter weather observations were made on Mt. Washington, N. H., in 1870.

JFK Not Too Specific on His Bold Dash Plea

Many Questions Left Unanswered By President's Talk to Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy — while walking a cautious military path — acknowledged in his talk to Congress the need for a bold dash down the social and economic road around the world.

But he still has to show by performance how far and how fast he intends to go.

His caution on the military side shows up in instances such as these: When Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson returned from Southeast Asia he said in Kennedy's name, he had promised the backward nations there this country would make "any sacrifices" in the fight against communism.

No Plan for Troops

But—he said there are no plans to send U.S. troops.

Kennedy could have sent troops into Laos to try to stop the Communist push there, but he didn't. If he had, the Red Chinese undoubtedly would have moved in, thus creating another Korea.

American-backed South Viet Nam is plagued by Communist guerrillas. The United States will help the Vietnamese with military supplies and training and with economic aid. But there has been no public promise American troops will be sent in.

In short: Although Kennedy talked Thursday of increasing and streamlining America's non-nuclear fighting forces, he mentioned no specific place where he intended using them.

His whole talk was anti-Communist. It was also non-belligerent, which is perhaps a requirement if his meeting with Premier Khrushchev in Vienna in June is to have any success.

But Kennedy sounded more active, imaginative and determined when he spoke of filling the needs of the masses in the backward countries in order to make communism unnecessary or unattractive.

There has been—so far as this writer knows—no concentrated effort, as a policy, to compel the leaders of the backward nations receiving American help to make sure the masses receive the benefits.

In a number of places receiving such help there has been corruption while the gap between the very rich and the very poor was intense and deep.

Effort to Help Masses

You might read into Kennedy's words that a continuing effort will be made in the future to see that the needs of the masses are filled. But he didn't say that in so many words.

He did express awareness of the need for such a policy by saying of the worldwide revolution by people seeking independence and a good life.

"They seek an end to injustice, tyranny and exploitation. They seek a beginning—a jungle road to bring a doctor when a child is ill—a schoolhouse to unlock the mysteries of knowledge—seed and fertilizer, jobs and food, a chance to live and be more than just alive. Those are the aims of their revolution."

Then the President did a remarkable thing when it is remembered the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sought to make the expense of foreign aid palatable to Americans by saying it was being given in "enlightened self-interest."

Kennedy — at least verbally — cast out that philosophy by saying:

The revolutions of the backward peoples in search of a fuller life is one "which we would support regardless of the cold war, and regardless of which political or economic route they choose to freedom."

Since he considers communism the negation of freedom, it can be assumed he meant a country choosing communism would be excluded from his wide-ranging promise of help.

But he left the door open for American aid to a variety of social and political systems, democratic socialistic, capitalistic, or even strongman governments.

He added: "Too often we have put ourselves appear as friends of the status quo, and the status quo may be $40 a year."

But what is he going to do so that America will no longer be the friend of such a status quo?

For instance: Will he insist the cash in a Latin-American country getting U.S. aid must divest themselves of enormous land holdings so more of the poor people can own their own land? He didn't say.

This new program of Kennedy's—if he tries to make it a reality in the years ahead—will have to take many forms and need a lot of explaining. He didn't explain it in his talk to Congress.

We The Women

Woman's Handbag Totes Her Beauty and Business

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Now that some man has come out boldly in defense of the cluttered desk, perhaps a woman can get by with a defense of the feminine equivalent, the cluttered handbag.

In answer to any man who has ever tried to be funny at the expense of what goes into a woman's handbag — here's our defense:

A handbag is a combination portable desk and dressing table. Its contents can be roughly divided into two categories: beauty and business.

On the business side the essentials are something like this: A billfold and coin purse, a checkbook and fountain pen, bills to be paid and sales slips for articles to be returned, a driver's license, an address book and keys.

On the beauty side are compact, lipstick, rouge, nail file, comb, and maybe a small jar of cleansing cream and a few tissues for a quick facial. Also, if it's a rainy day, there may even be a change of nylons in case those worn get splashed or watermarked. Of course, there may also be some extra bobby pins and a bottle of nail polish for touch-up work.

Dump all that into even the roomiest handbag, and it's bound to look cluttered to anybody except another woman.

And that cluttered bag is as comforting to her as a cluttered desk is to a man. Both figure that if they look long enough they're sure to find anything they want or need.

Installation Meeting Held by Hadassah; Reports, Agenda Told

Mrs. Arthur H. London, 300 Pearl Street, was installed Monday night as president of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah.

Members of the local group, which numbers more than 350 area women, held their final meeting of the year at the Governor Clinton Hotel to install new officers, hear reports of the year's projects and view a musical comedy skit on Hadassah's program. Mrs. Jay Melton, retiring president, presided.

The new president, long active in the Kingston chapter, has served for the past two years as vice president in charge of program.

David Kline, president of the local B'nai B'rith chapter, installed the new slate, including Mrs. Arthur Landesman, first vice president; Mrs. Sidney Treinkman, second vice president; Mrs. Jay Melton, treasurer; Mrs. Philip Rosdol, financial secretary; Mrs. William Buchbinder, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Paul Johnson, secretary to the board; Mrs. Arthur Kaufman, recording secretary; and Mrs. Jerome Strugatz, secretary to the president.

In accepting the presidency, Mrs. London described Hadassah's function as "hoping, helping and healing" and asked members' support in the year ahead. A life membership in Hadassah was presented to the new president by Mrs. Oscar London, her mother-in-law and a former president of the local group.

Mrs. Melton, outgoing president, spoke of her pride in Hadassah's outstanding program of service and thanked the board and members for their assistance over the past two years.

A Past President's pin and a gift from the membership was presented to Mrs. Melton.

In opening the meeting, those attending observed silent prayer in memory of the late Mrs. Morris Kaplan, a long-time member of the Kingston Chapter.

Miss Ruby Markson was honored with a Hadassah Service Award certificate for her devoted work. Miss Markson has served as treasurer of the chapter for 11 years and prior to holding that office, was corresponding secretary four years.

The outgoing treasurer reported on funds raised and quotas filled throughout the year.

Mrs. Sidney Treinkman reported on the recent Eye Bank Day campaign; Mrs. Herbert Gertner served as co-chairman.

Mrs. Robert Davis, donor dinner chairman, announced that reservations are now being taken for the annual event, slated for Sunday, June 11, at the Neville, Ellenville.

Those attending may use the resort's facilities for golfing and swimming during the day. A cocktail hour, dinner and an evening of entertainment and dancing will follow.

Mrs. Melton announced the May 24 meeting of B'nai B'rith Women and a Jewish Music Festival, sponsored by the Jewish Community Center, Saturday, June 3.

Mrs. Robert S. Yallum reported on the Hadassah Medical Organization page published in The Kingston Daily Freeman and thanked those who aided in the project. A special service award was presented to Mrs. Carl Pauker for her outstanding work on the HMO project.

Mrs. Evelyn Gile accompanied the group, while Mrs. Herbert Kletske served as rehearsal accompanist.

Mrs. Nathaniel B. Gross, Mrs. David Kline and Mrs. Oscar London assisted with installation and program arrangements.

May Girl Refuse to Dance?

Q: When at a dance, and a man comes over and asks a girl to dance with him, is it bad manners to refuse? I have heard that it is very rude to turn down anyone who asks you to dance. Also, if one does refuse, must she then sit that dance out or may she dance with someone else? I would appreciate your answering these questions for me.

A: If the man is someone she knows, or the dance a private one where the roof of one's host or hostess is considered an introduction, it would be very rude to refuse to dance except for a very serious reason, such as his being intoxicated. To refuse to dance with one man and then dance immediately with another would be the ultimate in rudeness. At a public dance, she would be right to refuse to dance with a stranger.

Gifts of Money

Q: I was invited to a wedding anniversary reception last week. After all the guests were received, the wife opened the presents and announced the name of each giver. Several of the guests brought money instead of presents and when she opened these envelopes she announced the name of the giver and also the amount each gave. I thought this was in very bad taste. Will you please give me your opinion?

A: I agree with you. She should have said, "A very generous sum of money (or check) from Uncle John."

Ordering Cocktail for Himself

Q: If I should invite a friend, who does not drink alcoholic beverages, to lunch, or dine with me, would it be proper for me to order a cocktail for myself, or would it be rude to have my guest sit with nothing before him (or her) while I have a cocktail?

A: It is quite proper for you to order a cocktail for yourself if when doing so you ask your friend if he (or she) would like a tomato juice or any other non-alcoholic cocktail.

She Has the Legs, Dresses Are Right

NEW YORK (AP)—Italian actress Sophia Loren says Mrs. John F. Kennedy has "marvelous legs" and that her dresses are not too short.

Miss Loren, who arrived here by plane from Rome Thursday, took issue with Italian couturier Emilio Schuberth's contention that Mrs. Kennedy "should wear longer skirts."

Said Miss Loren: "She has a wonderful posture and she is so beautiful and wears her clothes so modestly. I can't see how you can say her dresses are too short."

Felt Sorry for Poor People

Bank Porter Gives Away $164 of Cash Box Funds

NEW YORK (AP) — It came from a bank's petty cash box, but it was big money to the bums on the Bowery and Tappan Park, Staten Island.

Staten Island police first got word of what was going on when someone called the St. George station house Wednesday night and said:

"There is a jerk handing out money in Tappan Park. Thought you'd like to know."

Officers found nobody playing Good Samaritan at the park. But across the street from the park is the Staten Island Savings Bank.

The bank's doors were wide open. Guns in hand, detectives entered. All they found was a pail, a mop, and a forced-open cash box.

The last known occupant of the bank had been John A. Johnson, 46, the porter. Police called on Johnson at his Staten Island home.

He still had $362 of $526.50 which had been in the cash box.

Here's Johnson's story, as related by police:

Before going to work he "had a few." At the bank, he found the cash box, forced it open, pocketed the money, and took a ferryboat to Manhattan.

He headed for the Bowery and entered several taverns. In each place he ordered "drinks for the house." Then he meandered along skid row handing out money.

Why did he do it? Because, mumbled Johnny, "I felt sorry for the poor people."

Crash Kills Seven In Arizona, Six On Way to Dance

SAFFORD, Ariz. (AP)—A splintering two-car crash on a desert highway killed seven persons and injured one Thursday night—including six teen-agers going to a high school graduation dance.

The tragedy stunned this southeastern Arizona town of about 4,500.

A crowd of about 200 gathered at the Safford Hospital—where the injured and dying were brought—and later at funeral homes.

The Arizona Highway Patrol said the youngsters—seven in a car—pulled out from a dirt road onto U.S. Highway 666 about 10:30 p.m., and were hit by Wayne Wamsley, 33, Pima, Ariz. Wamsley, a farm equipment operator, was killed.

Highway patrolman Everett Hall estimated Wamsley's car was traveling at about 70 m.p.h., the other car was going at low speed. He said he could not determine whether the youngsters' car had stopped before turning onto the highway.

The youngsters had just attended the Safford High School graduation of schoolmate Jerry Goodman, 17, son of Graham County assessor Bob Goodman.

They were driving to an Elks' Club dance in Jerry's sedan when they collided with Wamsley's car.

The other dead were Wade West, Ivan Bryce Allen, Joan Robinson, Berta Bigler and Kay Fyffe. All were 17—but Jerry Goodman was the only graduate in the group.

The only survivor in the teenagers' car, Johnny Johns, 17, was hospitalized with minor injuries.

3,370-MPH

Walker Eclipses X-15 Speed Mark

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Technical delays had begun to bother test pilot Joe Walker. Then finally, on his seventh flight in the X15, he flew the rocket ship to a winged record of 3,370 miles per hour.

"I almost had a phobia about it," Walker, 40, told his wife later.

Grace Walker said her husband was referring to long periods of waiting in the cockpit of the stubby-winged craft, sometimes only to have the flight called off at the last moment.

But the test came off as planned Thursday. Walker's new mark is 296 m.p.h. faster than an X15 flight last April 2 1by Air Force Maj. Bob White.

Only space men Yuri Gagarin and Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. have traveled at greater speeds.

Walker, veteran of fighter pilot service with the 15th Air Force in World War II, was dropped from a B52 mother ship at 45,000 feet Thursday. For 73 seconds he held the X15's throttle wide open.

His peak speed—nearly a mile a second—came during a steep climb at 90,000 feet. Then he switched off the powerful engine and coasted to 110,000 feet before nosing over and gliding back to base.

By comparison, Gagarin hit 17,000 m.p.h. during his orbit around the earth April 12 and Shepard sped 5,100 m.p.h. during his 115-mile rocket climb May 5.

Walker, who earned the Distinguished Flying Cross during his wartime service in Europe, now works for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He's a native of Washington.

Women of Hurley Grange Lauded For Cancer Work

Mrs. Arthur Freeman, volunteer county director of the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society, was guest speaker at the annual spring luncheon sponsored by the Hurley Grange, Tuesday at the Hurley Firehouse, where they meet every week to make cancer dressings, working from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Mrs. Frank Kruetzfeldt, chairman, reported that 1,020 dozen dressings, 35 bed pads, 189 johnny coats, 166 comfort pillows, 32 bibs and four laundry bags had been made during the past year for the American Cancer Society. She said that 2,637 hours had been donated for this service. These women are not only active with their hands but have also participated in the Cancer Prevention Study, have assisted with transporting patients to the Tumor Clinic, and canvassed for white goods so that this worthwhile project could be carried on.

Mrs. Freeman, in thanking them on behalf of the American Cancer Society, said that they are not only the backbone of their community in giving of their time and service to this vital cause, but also are part of the vast army of volunteers that make up the American Cancer Society. She commended the ladies for their symbol of the American way of life by working together in harmony for the benefit of their fellow-man.

Navy Tries to Find Why Missile Fails

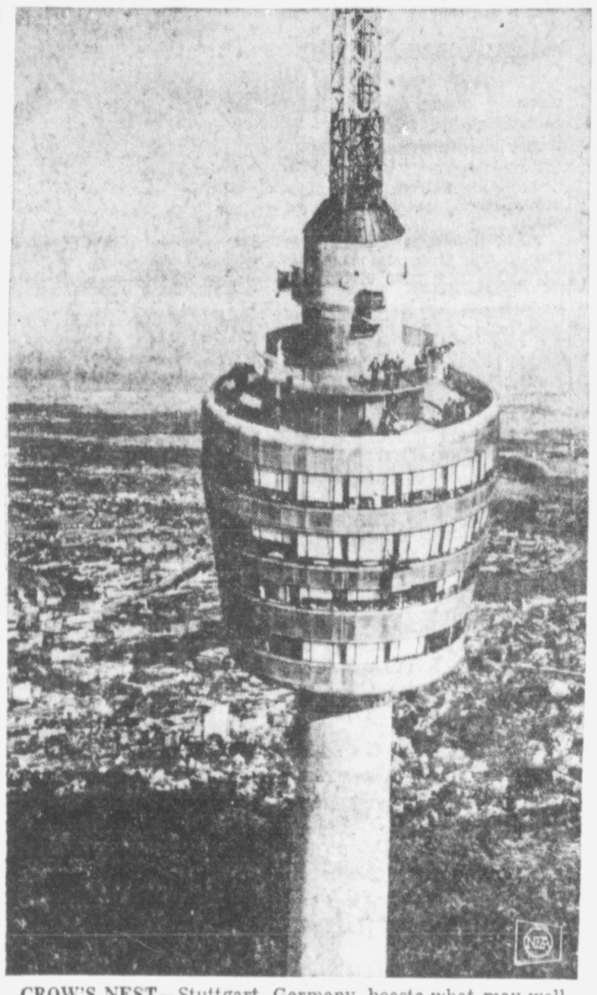
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy today sought to learn why a Polaris missile failed to follow its intended path, causing its deliberate destruction 10 seconds after it was launched from a ship.

The missile was blown apart by the range safety officer Thursday after it had been successfully ejected from the USS Observation Island.

The rocket, a longer-range A2 model, was programmed for a more than 1,600-mile test flight. It was only the third failure in 11 launchings of the A2.



CROW'S NEST—Stuttgart, Germany, boasts what may well be the world's most unique restaurant. It's a three-floor affair located in a television tower high above the city. Breath-taking is the view from the 492-foot high restaurant, reached by elevator. Above it are transmitting room and observation balcony. Antenna mast itself is 692 feet tall.

Don't Pay 'High Dollar' On Your Vacation Jaunt

You'll get the most mileage out of your vacation dollar if you plan early. Seek to cut costs in two areas: transportation and accommodations.

If you are off to your vacation spot by air, explore the chances of joining a charter flight. Subject to Civil Aeronautics Board approval and rate setting, these flights are sponsored by a host of organizations. In most cases you will not be eligible, however, unless you have belonged to the sponsoring group for a specified period.

Before you decide on such a trip you should know that generally older, slower equipment is used and that what you plan to save in fare could be cut if any in your group cancel out. The cost is prorated among the number of passengers on each flight.

You can save money on air travel too, if you book your trip from start to farthest point. You are then allowed stop-overs free of charge.

If you plan to travel by rail, check into the discounts offered to those willing to travel midweek. There also are concessions made for round-trip travel couples and families.

If you are traveling abroad with a certain amount of leisure, investigate the "Eurailpass" which provides a month of unlimited travel on the European continent for $110. You pay only $23 for 1,000 miles of travel on British and Irish railroads. These passes must be bought before you leave the U.S., are available at no extra cost from travel agencies.

New on the job with only a few days off? Or are you really budget-minded? If you have a yen to sightsee, bus companies offer some exciting trips in the U. S. at around $50 for a four-day jaunt.

Eager to take to the seas? If time is no problem, the tramp steamer can really cut costs. For those who yearn for sea breezes on their two-weeks-with-pay, look into inland waterway trips. It is estimated (by the American Express Company) that 100,000 people will choose this type of vacation this year.

Cheapest transportation of all might be your own car. Here is how you might budget for a family of four:

Expect to spend 21 cents out of each dollar on operating your car; 28 cents for food (which could total $20 a day at restaurants), 23 cents for lodging. This leaves 28 cents for tips, tolls, sightseeing expenses, souvenirs and sodas.

How you can save on accommodations?

Hit resorts in off seasons. At Palm Springs, Calif., a $24-a-day room for two is $12 in summer; in Miami Beach a $22-a-day double room can be had for $9 during July and August. Similar reductions are available in the Caribbean and elsewhere. In early spring and late fall, summer resorts cut their rates and so do European hotels.

Settle for the less fancy. You can see as much, have as much fun if you stay at guest houses, lodges and motels. Many of the new travel books offer fine descriptions of these.

Give camping a whirl. Check the U. S. Forest Service in your area for up-to-the-minute information on campsites. Your biggest expense here could be camping equipment. Perhaps you could rent or borrow this. The William Frederick Press at 55 East 86th St., New York 28, N. Y., has a booklet available (for 25 cents) called "Try Camping This Summer." It is filled with details on needed equipment and costs. Rand McNally has just published "Campground Guide" ($1.95), a family camping directory which lists private and public camp sites in all states but Hawaii.

Say Cooley Sane When Wife Was Murdered

Suzi Jurgensen, Larson Twins Score in Show

Suzi Jurgensen of Woodstock captured the Reserve Western Stock Horse championship and the Larson twins — Kathy and Karen—also scored notable successes in the recent Pleasant Valley horse show.

Miss Jurgensen, a recent finalist in the Page One Queen contest in Kingston, captured the Reserve Western Stock Horse championship. Riding on Little Girl, she took first in the Junior Western Horsemanship, first in the Senior Clover Leaf barrel race; second in West Pleasure horse for enough points to take home the reserve championship.

Twelve year old Kathy Larson on Spider, in the first class in which she ever rode him, took second in the Maiden Hunt Seat Equitation.

The significance of Miss Larson's victory is appreciated when it is considered that this was a class of 17 or 18 entries in the heart of the hunt country and that most entries were riding thoroughbreds. To show that her victory was no fluke, she followed this up with a fifth in the Open Hunt Seat Equitation.

Sister Also Scores

Meanwhile, her twin sister Karen, on Sister Quickly, took fourth in the Maiden Hunt Seat over fences and fourth in English Trail Horse. In English Pleasure, Karen took fifth and Kathy sixth.

These were the only Woodstock riders that showed at Pleasant Valley. Although many Woodstock riders travel far afield, seldom do many of them appear at the same show in foreign territory, Donald Twine, public relations director of the Woodstock Riding Club, announces.

The Woodstock Riding Club, meanwhile, is readying for first big show of the season—known as the Woodstock Dollar Championship — on Sunday at the Ohayo Mountain ring.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Defense

The Ulster County Civilian Defense Director, Major Edgar Timmerman, in an informative talk this week acquainted members of the Rotary Club with the mechanics of civil defense.

The members were impressed by the tremendous amount of work which has already been accomplishd by the Civilian Defense Command." Rotarians got the comforting assurance that the military is well established throughout the world and is ever on the alert in the event of a nuclear war attempt by the enemy.

Major Timmerman told Rotarians that in an atomic fallout, in all probability, there would be a warning period of an hour or two. The cellar would be the safest area, he said, and persons should be very deliberate in taking all necessities that might be needed in the following 96 hours.

The speaker emphasized the point that it would be most prudent for the Board of Education to appropriate money for shelters when any new schools are built.

Since the subject is so timely, Major Timmerman expressed the hope that people will show greater interest in Civil Defense and make every effort to aid the command.

Planning Topic Of New Column

The Planning Board of Woodstock is today inaugurating a weekly question and answer column on planning and zoning. So many questions have been raised on these subjects that it is felt the residents of Woodstock will welcome this opportunity for discussion on the printed page.

Many questions are similar in nature so the Planning Board feels that this method of answering them will be of real service in informing the residents on matters affecting their welfare.

The column is headed PB-AQ, which stands for Planning Board —Questions and Answers.

Question Box On Planning

In this column the Planning Board (PB) of Woodstock will answer guestions (QA) on planning and zoning in the Town of Woodstock. All Woodstockers are invited to send their questions to the Planning Board, P. O. Box 42, Woodstock.

The first in a series of questions and answers follows:

Q—What is a "Growth Plan"?

A—A Growth Plan is a program for guiding the growth of a community in a direction which will be of the greatest benefit to the present and future residents. Such a plan involves the preparation of maps. These maps are referred to in the Town Law as a Master Plan. (Art. 16, Para. 272-a). Such a Master Plan provides "for the improvement of the town and its future growth, protection, and development, and will afford adequate facilities for the public housing, transportation, distributon, comfort, convenience, public health, safety and general welfare of its population."

Such a plan is prepared by a professional planning expert under the direction of the Planning Board. Such plans, when completed, are filed with the Town Clerk, the Town Highway Superintendent, and are open to public inspecton. Such a master plan has no legal status but contains recommendations of the Planning Board. To give it, or any part of it, legal status requires action by the Town Board.

The Master Plan will be used as a guide by the Planning Board when considering the approval of plats (subdivisions).

Q—What is Zoning?

A—Zoning is a method of controlling the use of land. The town is laid out in various districts for various uses, such as residential, commercial, industrial and a proposed zoning ordinance is prepared by a Zoning Commission (not the Planning Board, although the planning board is frequently appointed as a zoning commission). During the preparation, public hearings are held. The Town Board, after a further public hearing, then adopts a zoning ordinance which becomes law.

Q—Does zoning affect existing land uses?

A—No. In general. Ordinarily Zoning regulations are not retroactive. A business located in a residential zone continues undisturbed. It is called a "non conforming use." If you own or operate a store in a residential zone, you may continue to do so. You can sell it to another, provided he continues the same type of business you have been conducting.

Q—Why does the Planning Board need to employ a professional planning expert?

A—Planning and Zoning are highly technical matters requiring the services of a well-trained and experienced expert. His relationship to the Planning Board is similar to that of architect to home builder. The Planning Board outlines what the town wants. The planning expert shows how to get it. We would not build a bridge without having an engineer design it. We would not promulgate a growth plan that was not designed by a town planner.

Collection Center Open on Saturday

The collection center for the Woodstock Democratic Club's annual rummage sale will be open at the Simpkins Building on Saturday from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.

That will be the last day the center will be opened. After Wednesday, May 31, the articles may be left at the Woodstock Palyhouse where the sale will be held on Saturday, June 3, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

This popular sale, always one of the highlights of the season is expected to attract a large gathering of smart buy shoppers. The principal award will be a beautiful stone cocktail table designed by Tomas Penning, prominent Woodstock sculptor.

East Springs Spade Trap

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

With 12 high card points and strength in all suits East could well have afforded to redouble North's take out double.

Acting on the principle that all trappers don't wear fur hats, East passed to see if something pleasant would not materialize for him.

It sure did. South responded in his four card spade suit and West passed. At this point North made a bad bid. He did have a 15 point double, but he had two diamonds and only three spades and had no reason to invite game by raising his partner. However, North went to two spades and East sprung his trap.

West opened the six of spades. He knew that East could stand a trump lead. South struggled away manfully, but the best he could do was to salvage North's ace-king of spades and ace of hearts from the wreckage. Down five tricks for a loss of 900 points.

Let's see what would have happened if East had redoubled. South would pass and leave it to North to get out of his own mess. North would have done so by bidding one heart.

East would probably have doubled that bid, but playing at one heart North would not be hurt too badly. The most he could be set would be three tricks and any slip by the defense would give him a chance to escape with a mere 300 point loss.

State's Highest Court Rules That Book Not Obscene

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Pictures of nude women and account of "sexual arousal" were not obscene in the magazine "Gent" and the publication therefore may be sold legally in New York, the state's highest court holds.

The Court of Appeals split 4-3 in the major decision Thursday.

Dissenting judges said sale of the magazine was "nothing more than a distribution of smut—dirt for dirt's sake."

They said that, as a result of the decision, distributors would be "at liberty to flood the newsstands and candy stores in every ... community with material the average person would condemn as obscene and lewd."

"Gent," the court said, was one of several publications on newsstands whose cover photographs "loudly proclaim their dedication to coarse, sexual titillation."

Lower courts dismissed an obscene literature charge on the basis of a newly evolved legal principle that a dealer may not be held liable for selling obscene literature if he did not know its contents.

The Court of Appeals said it acted for a different reason — it said outright that the magazine was not obscene under state law.

In one of two majority opinions, Associate Judge Stanley Fuld said magazine could be barred only if they offered "hard-core pornography."

The judge said obscenity "is to be differentiated from the bawdy and the ribald."

He acknowledged that "Gent" featured "numerous pictures and cartoons of nude or semi-nude women and numerous descriptions and depictions of sexual arousal and satisfaction" but the publication contained nothing "which smacks of sick and blatantly perverse sexuality."

Associate Judge Charles W. Froessel, in the dissenting opinion, said sale of the magazine was "nothing more than a distribution of smut—dirt for dirt's sake—by a wholesale distributor to local stores and stands for the sole purpose of selfish commercial exploitation."

In the other majority opinion, Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond said of the magazine:

"Virtuous adults will reject it. Adolescents may be hurt by it. But our prepossessions are not the law and the reactions of children are not valid tastes."

Says New Roads Bring Business At Dedication

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — "New highways attract new industry," Gov. Rockefeller said today in marking the opening of a 10-mile section of the Alany-Canada Northway.

These new industries, he said, create new job opportunities in the areas served by the roads.

The governor's comments were in a speech prepared for delivery today at the dedication of the section, which bypasses Glens Falls.

The $9.5-million section brings to 34 the total mileage completed on the Northway, which will stretch 175 miles through the Adirondacks when completed.

Rockefeller said that cities once viewed bypasses with alarm, fearing they would drain off business. Experience, he said, had shown that bypasses facilitate local business by relieving traffic congestion.

Rockefeller noted in a speech prepared for delivery later today in Plattsburgh at a dedication of the first state-aided, low-rent housing for the aged:

"This project, symbolizes a concern shared by family and by government that our steadily growing population of senior citizens shall enjoy the opportunities, the dignity and the comfort to which their contributions to society, and honor and respect, entitle them."

State Word Is Awaited on Milk Price for Area

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dairymen and milk dealers in the Buffalo-Rochester areas today awaited the state agriculture commissioner's decision on whether the milk price paid to producers there should be $6.40 or $6 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts).

Commissioner Don J. Wickham had proposed a 40-cent cut from the present $6.40 for Class I fluid milk but producers at a hearing Thursday asked him to reconsider.

Milk dealers backed the reduction. They said there was a milk surplus in the Buffalo and Rochester markets, which are regulated by state marketing orders.

Producer representatives said the 4,083 dairymen affected by the orders would lose $2.16 million a year in income if the price were reduced.

St. Lawrence Plans Larger Enrollment

CANTON, N.Y. (AP)—St. Lawrence University plans to increase its enrollment from 1,300 to 1,500 by 1970 largely through an $11.5-million development program.

Also included in the program are plans for new buildings and increased faculty and scholarship endowments.

Guiding the program will be the university's Second Century Council, headed by Barry T. Leithead, president of Cluett, Peabody Inc., New York City.

Work is expected to begin this summer on the $1.25-million Edward John Noble University Center, a gift of the Noble Foundation of New York City. Plans also call for raising $5.2 million for new buildings, for science, humanities and social sciences, administration and gymnasium facilities including a swimming pool, and renovation of existing buildings.

Another $5 million will go toward endowments for increased faculty salaries and scholarships for exceptional students. The program is expected to be financed partly through additional tuition from increased enrollment and increased alumni contributions.

The university expects its budget to rise from a present $2.7 million to $4 million by 1970.

Central Is Still For Three Roads In Rail Merger

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The president of the New York Central Railroad says a "friendly gesture on our part has been used to minimize our opposition" to piecemeal railroad mergers.

President Alfred E. Perlman made it clear Thursday that the Central continued to oppose a merger of the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroads.

The Central wants to be included in a merger, but the C&O has resisted Perlman's bid for a three-way affair.

The "friendly gesture," Perlman told the annual meeting of Central stockholders, stemmed from an invitation to meet with the president of the C & O May 12.

He said he agreed, at the request of C & O President Walter J. Tuohy, to three-way, limited studies of areas in which the roads might cooperate to save expenses.

The agreement, Perlman claimed, was "used to minimize our opposition and to confuse our friends and the Interstate Commerce Commission."

In fighting what Perlman called piecemeal mergers, the Central has gathered support from state and local governments and the Justice Department in its bid for consolidated hearings on pending merger plans of Eastern railroads. The C&O's efforts to unite with the B&O is among these.

Perlman said he knew of no change in the Central's stand in the merger situation as a result of Allan P. Kirby's overthrow Tuesday as chairman of the Alleghany Corp., the Central's parent. Forces led by Texas millionaire John D. Murchison wrested control from Kirby in a proxy fight.

The C&O has acquired about 61 per cent of the outstanding B&O stock.

The Central and Alleghany together have built up a 20 per cent stock interest in the B&O through direct purchases.

Federal Intervention Debated

Stock Exchanges Guard Integrity With Government SEC as Watchdog

EDITOR'S NOTE — Many laws and regulations were adopted after the 1929 stock market crash to ensure honesty in Wall Street. This is the last of four articles on a federal investigation aimed at determining whether added safeguards are needed. Frank Cormier, Associated Press financial reporter in Washington and author of the series, explored that ground in a study of the stock manipulation case that set off the inquiry.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 13 stock exchanges have the primary responsibility for keeping themselves honest. Uncle Sam usually stays on the sidelines, keeping his shotgun in the closet.

Whether the closet door might best be opened wide is a question now being debated in the light of the activities of Jerry and Gerard Re, two members of the American Stock Exchange expelled May 4 by order of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Rigged Market

The SEC ruled that the Res, father and son, rigged market prices, sold huge blocks of stock illegally and otherwise flouted the rules of the game between 1954 and 1960.

In the sake of this, the agency announced last week it will make a separate investigation of the American Exchange, the second largest in the land. It wants to find out if the exchange is doing a proper police job, and if investors need added protection.

The exchange says it has adopted substantial reforms which will effectively prevent another case of the Re type, billed as the largest market manipulation since the depression.

SEC officials got a hint of wrongdoing in 1957 and obtained a federal injunction prohibiting the Res from making illegal stock sales. This stricture was ignored by the Res, who were market specialists for the exchange conducting daily trading in about 20 stocks.

SEC Collects Evidence

The SEC collected further evidence of misdeeds by the Res in a 1958 case. Still, it did not take direct action against them.

It was the exchange which had first responsibility for keeping the Res in line. While the SEC has authority to make rules governing market specialists, the power has not been used. Rather, the agency has accepted assurances from the exchanges that they can do the job themselves.

This SEC policy will be reviewed in the course of the current inquiry.

Admittedly, it isn't always easy to track down stock market wrongdoing. The Res—who did not contest the SEC charges—seem to have proved this. Still, the record of the Re case has raised some questions about the American Exchange's regulatory mechanisms.

Ignored Requirements

For instance:

For many years the Res ignored requirements that they file a number of different reports with the exchange.

The Res at one time had no brokerage license and notified the exchange that they did no business with the general public. Even so, they conducted an active public business during this period and even executed two transactions, late in 1954, for Edward T. McCormick, the president of the exchange.

Julius R. Van Raalte, board chairman of Thompson-Starrett Co. Inc., said he once wanted the exchange to drop Jerry Re as the specialist for the company's stock. He testified: "I inquired from friends of mine that were on the floor, and they said, 'Jay off. That guy owns this joint.'"

Samuel Edelman, a real estate investor, testified he got advance word that Jerry Re was going to push up the price of Thompson-Starrett stock in January 1959 and decided to capitalize on the situation by unloading his shares. When his broker tried to sell at successively lower prices, however, he was told by Jerry Re that another order had priority.

Price Dropped

By lunchtime, the price had dropped from $2.75 a share to $2.12 and Edelman had managed to sell only 1,500 of 10,000 shares he offered.

The SEC brief in the case said it simply was a case of Re refusing to let an outsider take advantage of a rigged market.

One policy of the exchange allows a specialist to handle a company's stock if he can induce the company to list its shares for trading. The Res continually added to their stable of stocks in this fashion and developed close ties with corporation managements as a result. The SEC believes these ties were altogether too close in many cases.

BIG BIT, BIG BITE—Looking ominously like the business end of an ultramodern engine of war, a 7½-foot-wide Hugh Williams drill bit dwarfs Jack Patton, toolpusher for Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc. The 90-inch bit was used to sink a 710-foot-deep mine vent shaft near Grants, N.M.

Census Figures, Not Hearings, to Tell Districts

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Census figures, rather than individual wishes, will guide the Legislature in realigning the state's congressional districts, Sen. Robert C. McEwen, R-Ogdensburg, maintains.

McEwen, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Reapportionment, Thursday ruled out public hearings on the matter. He said hearings would be of no value.

Democratic Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady, whose seat is threatened by the realignment, has made the only demand for hearings, McEwen said.

The Republican senator said merging Stratton's district and that of Democratic Rep. Leo O'Brien of Albany "is not the most outlandish plan of all."

Republicans reportedly favor merging the districts of the two Upstate Democrats. This would force Stratton and O'Brien into a primary fight.

The Republican-controlled Legislature faces the task, in a special session this fall, of reducing from 43 to 41 the number of seats New Yorkers hold in the House. The change is required because the state's population growth lagged behind that of some others. The determination is based on 1960 Census figures.

Marbletown Post Lists Memorial Day Arrangements

Final arrangements for the Memorial Day parade to be held in Stone Ridge Tuesday, have been announced by the parade committee.

The parade will start at Cottekill Road, Stone Ridge and will proceed to the Town Garage where it will disband. All organizations desiring to take part in the memorial services at the Honor Roll at the Legion Hall will proceed there immediately upon completion of parade route. Assembling time for all participating will be 10 a. m.

NEW YORK (AP)—Inflation has as many lives as a cat. And although it was officially buried some time back, this perennial threat to the purchasing power of your dollar is today once more in the news.

Item. The deficit in the federal budget for the fiscal year starting five weeks from now may go to $5 billion instead of $4 billion as formerly predicted. Treasury deficits are the traditional breeding ground of monetary inflation.

Steel Prices May Rise

Item. Steel executives are warning that their prices may rise by fall when new wage scales go into effect. Steel prices are a basic cost in countless goods and services you buy and use.

Item. Congress is setting up or expanding many government services that will cost more year by year. If tax revenues don't rise to cover this, future federal deficits are in the making.

Item. The fear of inflation isn't without practical effects right now. Look at the stock market. Prices have risen for a number of reasons. But one is a wide spread belief that further inflation—that is, a decline in the value of the dollar—is shaping up. In such cases common stocks tend to rise in price, along with everything else you may want to, or have to, buy.

Inflation Overplayed

But a number of economists think the new talk of further inflation is overplayed. They cite these reasons.

1. In many industries overcapacity to produce and keen competition will limit or bar price rises. They note that these factors helped prevent any general steel price hike when wages went up late last year. They question whether the recently increased steel demand is vigorous enough yet to support a price rise.

2. Administration spokesmen insist the federal deficits are temporary, that new spending plans will foster an economic growth, bringing with it increased tax revenues.

3. Gold prices overseas have held close to par for some time after last fall's flurry, and apparently overseas confidence in the stability of the dollar has been restored.

And there is a school that holds that a little inflation—such as the slow rise of the cost of living in recent years—isn't really a bad thing after all, but is inevitable in any economy that is growing, however slowly.

Bob Dunn Picks Up Relief Win With Good Stint

Sickler Paces Attack With Four Safeties Including a Homer

Slugging the horsehide for a total of 17 hits, Kingston High School's baseball team bounced back from an 8-4 fourth frame deficit and toppled Port Jervis, 12-8, in an eight inning thriller at Glennette Field in Port Jervis yesterday.

Though it appeared as if pitching had very little to do with the final decision, it was a nifty relief job by Bob Dunn of the locals which aided the triumph. Dunn came in to hurl in the fourth frame and he set down the home side for the next five innings, permitting only two batters to reach base and they were both on walks.

Early Slugging

The Raiders had teed off on starter Terry Confer and reliever Jerry Howard and had accumulated eight markers by the end of the fourth inning. The locals had pecked away at Don Hinkley and trailed, 8-4, with three frames left.

Richie Sickler led off the fifth with a home run over the left field fence. He had four hits for the afternoon and this was the longest. Ronnie Secreto followed with a double and John Hetsco singled in the third baseman. This trimmed the margin to 8-6.

There were two outs in the sixth frame when Mike Ferraro stroked a single and Sickler followed with a booming double to slice another run off the Port bulge.

Frank Allen led off the seventh with a double and Coach Al Gruner sent in Jerry Hawkins to run. After Hetsco had hit into a force out, Dunn and Smedes walked and then Paul Natale singled home the tying run.

The Winning Rally

Gibby Romaine came in to hurl the eighth inning for the Porters but he was creamed. Ferraro and Sickler stroked singles to start the winning rally. After Secreto fanned, Hawkins drew a walk to clog the sacks. A fielders choice netted one run and Dunn singled for two more. A double by Smedes fetched home the last tally.

Hawkins made a spectacular catch against the left field fence in the last of the eighth for the final out of the game.

The Maroon players have a 6-4 mark to date and are 3-3 in the DUSO circuit. They play at Saugerties on Monday, at Lourdes on Thursday, at Poughkeepsie on Friday and at Middletown on Monday, June 5.

Trips Skidding In Eastern Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnstown and Lancaster suddenly have snapped their losing streaks but Williamsport is skidding fast in the Eastern League.

The Red Sox broke a three-game losing streak Thursday night by dumping Binghamton 10-4 with a 15-hit attack.

Lancaster, which had dropped four in a row, defeated league-leading Springfield 10-6.

Skip Fenn after allowing Binghamton three runs in the second and another in the fourth, settled down to check the Trips the rest of the way. He pitched a five-hitter and allowed only two hits from the fourth until the ninth inning. Bill Moniak, with a two-run homer and sacrifice fly, and Archie Skeen, with two singles, each drove in three runs for Johnstown. Larry De' Margo (3-3) was the loser.

Stock Cars and Midget Stars Slated at Onteora Speedway

Midget Champion Dick Brown in Field

It will be a weekend of spectacular auto racing and midget racing at Onteora Speedway Park in Olive Bridge.

The regular Sunday auto racing is expected to bring the strongest field of the season to the beautiful Catskill Mountain oval.

On Memorial Day (Tuesday), Dick Brown, the 1960 champion, leads a troupe of crack Northeastern Midget Association drivers to Onteora for the first midget spectacular of the season.

Brown is also a former Australian champion, having swept all honors Down Under a few years ago. Hank Williams, a four-time winner of the NEMA honors, is another standout as some 40 Offys and Non-Offys vie in the holiday program.

Onteora patrons will see some of the very finest drivers in the midget ranks. Besides Brown and Williams, there will be Al Givens of Poughkeepsie; Bob Harkey, Joe Csikis, Gibby Parmenti, Len Thrall and Ronnie Evans, who will drive a speedy Mordenti V-8.

Racing directors Larry Shurter and Ed Ryan also expect to have a couple of powerful Falcon-motored jobs that recently turned in sensational performances at the Langhorne Speedway.

Three Stars Return

Following last Sunday's sensational feature, the auto racing fans are looking forward to another slashing duel in the 25-lap feature.

Three feature winners — Don Avery, Johnny Flaach and Rebel Harris — will return along with a star studded field.

Flaach, the South Westerlo veteran, was the first day winner and Harris, of Poughkeepsie, took second day honors. After finishing second two times running, Avery, the 1960 points champion, slammed through to his first victory last week. All three are expected to wind up in the finals and their personal duel is worth the admission price alone.

The Sunday auto racing and Memorial Day midget programs will have three heats, a consolation and 25-lap feature.

Sunday's racing, as usual, starts, at 2:30 p. m., with the midgets going on at 3 p. m.

Braves Send Corwin Against Poughkeepsie in Opener

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ... by MURRAY

Harry Wismer, the owner of the New York Titans, has become such a controversial figure in the American Football League that the other owners are going to investigate the possibility of getting him to sell his franchise . . . when they convene in Dallas in June. . . .

And isn't the AFL running into sponsor trouble for the vital television money that helps keep them in business? . . .

Del Miller, the most influential man in harness racing, finally got betting on trotters and pacers legalized in his home area, Washington County in western Pennsylvania . . . and is forming a company to build a track on which mile races can be run so he can bid for the classics of the sport, like the Hambletonian. . . .

Gentile, the hitting phenomenon of the young Birds, had just one major league homer to show for his eight years as the National League chattel of the Dodgers . . . that came in 1957 off the favorite patsy of homer hitters, Robin Roberts. . . . Speaking of Roberts, the hottest Phillies in spring training were Tony Curry (now in the minors) and Roberts (who couldn't win a game while dropping five the first month and a half of the new season) . . . which is for the grapefruit. . . .

Dizzy Dean, now calling the pitches weekends as a Game-of-the-Week telecaster, races down to Mississippi weekdays to be on his 639 acres of pine timber and cattle grazing land recently purchased near Wiggins. . . .

Shotputter Bill Nieder's crashing flop as a heavyweight against a second-rater in Philadelphia reminds us of the pro tackle out of Villanova who came to us a few years ago wanting to become a boxer—a fine 235-pound specimen who'd already gotten some practice beating up a couple of college mates. . . . He trimmed down to a fighting 205, showed an impressive straight left and was put in the ring at Stillman's Gymnasium in New York. . . . A couple of left jabs in the early sparring brought blood from the nose of the football giant. . . . He rushed across the ring like an enraged bull, the trial horse sidestepped, the gridder plunged through the ropes and over the apron of the ring . . . so embarrassed his career ended right there. . . .

Giulio Rinaldi, the Italian pretender to the light-heavyweight crown, went to church at his training quarters in Haines Falls, N. Y. . . . and Giulio, a devout Catholic who can't speak English, found himself in the midst of a Protestant congregation. . . .

It's dangerous to be a player representative for the Baltimore Orioles . . . who've worked through three in less than a year—Gene Woodling (snapped up by Washington), Jerry Walker (traded to Kansas City) and Walt Dropo (released). . . . The Orioles are extremely unhappy with Jackie Brandt, their flighty young outfielder who was benched a couple of weeks with a pulled hand muscle—diagnosed by a medic as less severe than the injury which kept Jim Gentile inactive only four games. . . .

Serious consideration is being given by the National Basketball Association to raising the hoops to 12 feet and eliminating dunk shots by Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain and company . . . with strong opposition expected, naturally, from Chamberlain's Philadelphia club. . . .

Between you'n'me, when pole vault champ George Davies was a high school kid in Phoenix, no one was interested in him . . . all the offers were for Jim Brewer, a 15-foot vaulter then who went to Southern Cal and got worse . . . Davies migrated to Oklahoma State and new heights. . . .

League Opener Slated Tonight At Riverview

Al Corwin, a former New York Giant pitcher, goes for the Kingston Braves in their 1961 New York-New Jersey League opener against the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls tonight at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie.

The Hoe-Bowls are expected to counter with an ex-major league hurler of their own—Tom Acker, who had a brief fling with fame as a Cincinnati Redleg relief specialist.

Game time is 8 p. m. and there is no admission charge at the Poughkeepsie ball park. The Pacers Drum and Bugle Corps will entertain the fans starting at 7:30 p. m.

Field manager John Pullie of the Braves will have three other front line flingers backing up Corwin if he falters. They are Larry De Vita, a ranking southpaw in the league for several years; Frank Horan, veteran West Haverstraw pitcher and reliefer Norm Fahey.

Kingston's 1961 lineup will feature several former minor league and college stars, according to General Manager Fred Davi.

The tentative infield quartet includes Ron Parente at first base; Hal Lewis, second; Dave Musco at third and John Giampolo, a flashy fielder, at shortstop.

The outfield trio includes Richie Demuro of the University of Bridgeport, Bill Ouaska in right and Ray Carligelo in left. Doug Holmquist will catch in the absence of Wally Widholme, the hard hitting receiver who will miss the opener.

Committee Meets

Demuro, Holmquist and Glampola are former University of Bridgeport stars, while Carligelo and Musco hail from the University of Connecticut. Lewis, Parante and Ousaka are former minor league stars.

Meanwhile, the Braves Booster committee headed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Addison Jones are making elaborate plans for the home opener on June 10 against Poughkeepsie.

A large turnout of enthusiastic Braves supporters attended Tuesday night's meeting in the mayor's office. Plans were formed for the parade on opening night. A Miss Baseball of 1961 will be chosen and other events will be announced. Alderman-at-Large Harold Kaye presided at the meeting.

The Kingston lineup tonight:
Hal Lewis, second base
Ron Parante, first base
Ray Carligelo, left field
Doug Holmquist, catcher
John Giampola, shortstop
Dave Musco, third base
Al Corwin, pitcher
Larry De Vita, pitcher

Lavorante Earns Fighter of Month Award From Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Alejandro Lavorante, the promising Argentine heavyweight, had two more reasons to celebrate his recent knockout of Zora Folley today.

The decisive victory over the former top contender from Chandler, Ariz., earned Lavorante Ring Magazine's "fighter of the month" award and a place among ring's top 10 in the heavyweight class.

New monthly ratings released today put Lavorante in sixth place in a shake-up that also jumped Cleveland Williams of Houston to eight after his knockout of the veteran Alex Miteff of Argentina.

Folley dropped from third to seventh and Miteff fell out of the top 10. So did Mike Dejohn of Syracuse, in a revised listing that now has Sonny Liston, Eddie Machen, Henry Cooper, Ingemar Johansson, George Chuvalo, Lavorante, Folley, Williams, Tom McNeeley and Canada's Bob Cleroux listed in order behind champion Floyd Patterson.

Adios Butler Heavy Favorite In Debut at Roosevelt Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Adios Butler makes his seasonal debut tonight at Roosevelt Raceway amid two big questions.

Can the mile champion start the season off in top form? Just how good is New Zealand's False Step at the standard American distance?

Butler holds the world mile record of 1:54 3-5 set last October in a time trial over the Lexington, Ky., mile oval. False Step is the Down Under champion of the 1½-mile route and victor in the Championship Pace at 1½ miles at Yonkers a week ago.

Roosevelt has a half-mile track. Bye Bye Byrd set the mile record for a double-oval of 1:57 4-5 in a race here in 1959. Bye Bye also will be in tonight's feature—the $25,000 New Frontier Pace.

False Step drew the pole position and Adios Butler is right alongside. Bye Bye starts from the No. 4 spot.

At Vernon Downs last night, Scotch Abbe won the $3,000 Inaugural Pace as the Central New York track opened its 1961 season. He toured the mile in 2:01 and paid $8.50. Roselawn Boy was second and Royal Deluxe third.

The night's handle of $297,799 set an opening night record.

One of the largest daily doubles of the season—$463.90—was paid at Roosevelt last night.

Also at Roosevelt Milford Hanover easily won the featured Class AA Handicap Pace in 2:02 4-5 and returned $5.30. Silyer's Dream was second and Forrester was third.

At Buffalo Raceway, Niagara Rhythm returned $3.90 in taking the $1,100 feature in 2:08 4-5. Take Command finished second and David Pride was third.

Houston Keglers Are ABC Champs With 3134 Series

Meyerland Builders of Houston, Texas officially were crowned champion of the 1961 American Bowling Congress tournament, as the 58th annual classic ended its 79-day run this week in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

Low to cash in each event was: team event, 2730; doubles, 1090; singles, 555; all events, 1706; Booster, 2644.

Brentwood Bowl of San Francisco previously had been declared official winner of the new Classic division, which matched 80 of the nation's best teams. The Californians combined series of 2996 and 2987 for 5983, as anchorman Joe Jacques rolled 3 crossover strikes in the final frame. Bentwood bowled on April 29 and 30.

Two 300 games, the first such pair since the 1940 ABC in Detroit, were the individual highlight. The first, on April 4, was spilled in the Classic doubles by Bob DeGraff of Grand Rapids, Mich. Al (Bud) Horn Jr. of Los Angeles rolled the second on May 7. It was the first 300 in the 11 year history of the ABC Masters tournament.

Adjust-A-Grip of Toledo won the regular team all events with a 9062 total bowled on March 27-28. Jim Schroeder was high for the six games with 1900.

Other Classic winners were Joe Kristof, Chicago, and Don Ellis, Houston, 1331 in doubles; Earl Johnson, Chicago, 733, singles; Bob Brayman, Detroit, 1963, all events.

Regular champions were Joe Macaluso and Eugene Hering, Irvington, N. J., 1342, doubles; Lyle Spooner, St. Cloud, Minn., 726, singles; Luke Karen, Detroit, 1960, all events.

An Ottawa, Ohio team, Sylvania Electric, saw the 2812 score it rolled on April 2 stand up for the Booster championship.

Meyerland's 3134 series, rolled on May 2, was paced by Ken Starnes' 667.

Approximately 32,000 bowlers competed for a prize fund of nearly $469,000.

Rolls 203 Game

Harvey Herron led the Frontier Summer Classic with 203-560; team results: Pines 2, Maples 1; Elms 3, Oaks 0; Hickories 0, Sycamores 3.

Koufax And Davis Nip Cards

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The three-hit pitching of Sandy Koufax and a seventh-inning home run by Tommy Davis gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 1-0 victory over St. Louis Thursday night in the only National League game played. Cleveland trimmed Detroit's American League lead to 3½ games by beating the Los Angeles Angels 12-5 while Minnesota dropped the Tigers 7-6 in 11 innings.

Southpaw Whitey Ford won his sixth in a row as third place New York beat Boston 6-4, Baltimore rapped the Chicago White Sox 6-4 and Kansas City defeated Washington 4-3, for winless Dick Donovan's fifth one-run defeat, in the other AL games.

Only two other games were scheduled in the National—Pittsburgh at Chicago and Philadelphia at Milwaukee—and both were rained out.

Koufax, now 5-2, struck out eight, walked but three and allowed nothing but singles. Bob Gibson (2-1) was the loser.

The Yankees took a 5-0 lead in two innings against Billy Muffett as Johnny Blanchard and Tony Kubek belted two-run homers. Whitey Ford gave up only five hits, but needed relief help from Luis Arroyo.

Orioles Score Early

The Orioles got all six runs in the first two innings off loser Herb Score (1-2) and relievers Juan Pizarro and Frank Bauman. Steve Barber (6-2) was the winner, but needed reliever Hoyt Wilhelm to nail it.

Johnny Romano, Woody Held, Willie Kirkland and Bubba Phillips rapped homers for the Indians, who had 17 hits against loser Ron Moeller (0-4) and five relievers. Mudcat Grant (4-0) won it with relief from Barry Latman.

A double by Lennie Green and a single by Jim Lemon won it for the Twins and beat Tiger reliever Jim Donohue (3-1). Detroit scored five in the first on homers by Al Kaline and Norm Cash and got the other run in the 10th on Billy Bruton's homer. Reliever Paul Giel won his first for the Twins.

Al Pilarcik's two-run single sewed it up for the A's in a three-run fifth off Donovan. Willie Tasby and Gene Green homered for the Senators' runs off Joe Nuxhall (2-1). Leo Posada of the A's was struck in the face by a Donovan pitch and was taken to a hospital for examination.

The Nimrod's Corner

By Old Doc

From time to time, this column intends to wander from the field of outdoor recreation and dwell on some of the phenomena of nature that present themselves during the changing seasons.

Early in the week when eagerly heading toward a hoped for good evening rise of trout, (it didn't materialize), my attention was attracted to the large number of tent caterpillars that had almost completely defoliated the trees along the highway. There are two species of this crawling insect, the eastern tent caterpillar and his cousin, the forest tent variety. What was witnessed from my car window, was the eastern type since they had spun their distinctive silky home in the crotches of wild cherry trees. It is in such trees and other fruit bearers, that they raise havoc by eating the leaves of their host. Only when there is a shortage of preferred foods, will they establish themselves in forest and shade trees.

GREATER THAN NORMAL:

Judging by the denuded trees, it seems that the eastern tent caterpillar is with us in greater than normal profusion this year. The New York State Conservation Department does not have a project for the control of this pest because most of the damage is to trees other than the forest type. On the encouraging side however, the insect has many natural enemies including parasitic insects, birds and toads, a bacterial disease known as "wilt," at times destroys enormous numbers of caterpillars; in some years, adverse weather conditions aid in the control of these pests; and finally heavy infestations are known to be of short duration in terms of years.

The forest tent caterpillar like its close relative, is a native of these United States. Unlike the conspicuous tent of the eastern species, the forest variety constructs only a small inconspicuous mat-like tent on the trunk or the branch of the tree. Its preference for the foliage of poplar, sugar maple, birch, oak and ash, make it the more feared of the caterpillar and the Bureau of Forest Pest Control in Albany is constantly on the lookout for unusually large concentrations. To date, there have been no such reports this year in the Catskills.

Many will remember back in 1937 or 1938 when the "up train" on the Ulster and Delaware couldn't make the grade at Pine Hill and was stalled for a considerable period of time while the caterpillar greased rails were sanded to secure traction.

In 1953, approximately seven and one-half million acres of our northern and eastern forested lands were partially or wholly defoliated by the caterpillars.

NO CYCLE SIGNIFICANCE:

Records show that the periodic outbreaks do not develop in any definite cycle as many erroneously believe. Usually, the denuding of trees does little permanent damage although repeated years of attack by these pests, may cause extensive damage to sugar bush by checking tree growth, limiting sap production and if continued, may result in death of trees. The effect upon recreation is more immediate; people just don't like to go into an infested area.

For those considering ways of destroying the caterpillar, spraying now with two per cent DDT will accomplish the purpose. Most successful campaigns have been accomplished through collection of egg masses and their destruction. This is usually done during winter months when the destruction of ten egg masses means 1,500-2,000 caterpillars less the next spring.

Bloomington, Glynn's Annex Rec League Tilts

Ken Smith of Bloomington Inn turned back the 35 Club on two hits to gain a 9-4 victory in the Recreation Softball League Thursday.

In the other game, Rich Hoffman of Glynn Shoes unfurled a 5-hitter, as his team whipped the White Eagles, 7 to 2.

Bloomington made only five hits off Ken Sickler of 35 Club but were aided by nine walks and errors. George Smith slammed a home run. Max Wunderlick had a single and double and Bill Chase hit a double. Tom Davitt and Don Koeppen had the 35 Club safeties.

Hoffman struck out six and had one of the five Glynn hits off Tony Turck. John Parete slammed a home run for the winners and J. Bruck doubled for the losers.

Yastrzemski and Schilling Brighten Picture for Boston

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — For a decade or more it appeared as though the Red Sox were suffering from blind scouts.

Although Thomas Austin Yawkey tossed bonuses around as though money was going out of style only one youngster worth much more than his car-fare showed up at Fenway Park. He is Frank Malzone and ironically the bowlegged third baseman was plucked out of the Bronx for the equivalent of green trading stamps.

But there was a wider smile than usual on Mike Higgins' expansive Irish pan as the Boston club checked in for its first 1961 series at Yankee Stadium.

"Things are much brighter," testified Manager Mike, holding pre-game court in the Bosox dugout. "The pitching has been unexpectedly good.

"And the addition of youngsters like Carl Yastrzemski, Chuck Schilling and Jim Pagliaroni has to have a manager looking up."

Owner Yawkey's record bonuses finally paid off as his foxy foragers regained their sight rather belatedly. Yastrzemski collected $100,000 as a Notre Dame sophomore. Schilling and Pagliaroni also got premiums.

"Yastrzemski is going to be a tremendous hitter and already is an accomplished outfielder," said Michael Franklin Higgins. "Like all kids (21, 5-11, 175) who swing too hard, he went after bad pitches and was a left-hand hitter who had a little trouble with left-hand pitching.

"Yas was overswinging, but Ted Williams' advice was to leave him alone. 'He has a good swing,' said Ted, 'and will learn to cut it down.'

"This he is doing and he has belted left-hand pitchers of late. He has remarkable wrists. He has extraordinary speed. His swing and hustle are remindful of old Country Slaughter. His hitting is reminiscent of Charley Keller, also a line drive hitter who didn't pull the ball."

Like Yastrzemski, Schilling (23, 5-11, 170) is crashing the majors in his third year of professional ball. Both are Long Islanders. Yas, a handsome Polish lad, is from Bridgehampton. Schilling, who attended Manhattan College, is out of New Hyde Park.

Schilling thus far has filled the yawning chasm at second base that has plagued the Back Bay Millionaires for several campaigns, or since the redoubtable Bobby Doerr called it a career.

"Schilling is smart, has a wide range, is a wizard at completing the double play and gives us an exceptionally swift leadoff man who quickly learned the strike zone," Pinky Higgins went on. "He has Charley Gehringer's grace in the field.

"Pagliaroni gives us a right-hand hitting catcher to alternate with Russ Nixon."

Yastrzemski, Schilling and Pagliaroni.

California Relays Start Saturday Night

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

MODESTO, Calif. (AP)—World records ranging from the 100-yard dash to the four-mile relay go under fire Saturday night in the California Relays.

Dennis Johnson of San Jose State and Stone Johnson of Grambling hold the top hopes of lowering the 100-yard dash record shared by many at 9.3 seconds. Both have run wind-aided 9.2's already this year.

The hard clay track at the Modesto Junior College stadium, site of the relays, is rated one of the fastest in the nation, and it was here two years ago that Oregon's Rescoe Cook ran his 9.3.

Cook and his teammate, Canadian Harry Jerome, are expected to challenge the Johnsons in the century run.

Oregon's mile quartet of Dyrol Burleson, Keith Forman, Vice Reeve and George Larson goes after the world record in the four-mile relay.

Western Michigan furnishes competition along with the Southern California Striders.

America's track queen, Wilma Rudolph, makes her first Northern California appearance. The triple Olympic gold medal winner from Tennessee A&I competes in two special races, women's 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Her classmate, Ralph Boston, the world broad jump record holder, will compete both in that event and the low hurdles.

The pole vault field includes both Olympic champion Don Bragg and Oklahoma State sophomore George Davies who last week cleared 15-10¼ to break Bragg's world record.

Several Innovations Set Before Saratoga Opening

SARATOGA SPRINGS — Installation of a 5,000 square foot awning above ramp level at Saratoga Raceway, one of several grandstand innovations slated for completion prior to opening night on June 8, has created a double-deck appearance to the harness raceway grandstand.

This addition brings the total area covered by canvas to more than 37,000 square feet, and according to officials of the Gloversville firm which is responsible for manufacturing and installing the awnings, "the raceway presents the largest awning covered area in the world."

The ramp level deck is expected to relieve congestion under the grandstand during inclement weather, and will also enable fans to follow the progress of races on such evenings from a point much closer to action than was formerly possible.

Strips of fire resistant duck, which if placed end to end would stretch nearly four miles, are used to create the bright tangerine and green awnings for which Saratoga Raceway has become famous. More than six miles of braided rope, fifteen miles of heavy duty nylon thread, and one hundred pounds of brass grommets also go into creating the canvas tops.

Other improvements to Saratoga Raceway grandstand facilities include installation of overhead heaters, and additions to the mainline wagering facilities.
